Subcommittee on Asian and Pacific Affairs, 1967 Studies on Vietnamese Language and Literature Nguyen Dinh Tham, 2018-05-31 This work contains over 2 500 entries to guide students and scholars interested in the languages and literature of Vietnam The books monographs and journal articles considered are those written in the Western languages especially French and English Meticulously researched and indexed this bibliography is both the first of its kind and an invaluable reference tool APAIS 1991: Australian public affairs information service , China's Seaborne Trade with South and Southeast Asia (1200-1750) Roderich Ptak, 2024-12-11 This second selection of studies by Professor Ptak focuses on Chinese maritime trade in the medieval and early modern periods The first section deals with contacts between China and individual places in particular Timor the Sulu Islands southern India and the islands of the Indian Ocean Chinese geographical and other accounts of these areas and the trade routes leading to them are examined and where possible compared with Arabic and Western works from the colonial period The second part looks at trade in specific commodities such as sandalwood coral horses tortoise shell ebony cloves and tea Relevant Chinese terms the uses of each commodity and the production and distribution are analysed Both qualitative and quantitative information is drawn from the sources and it is demonstrated that many trade items were much more significant in international business than has been thought At the same time these studies highlight the importance of Chinese consumption in driving world commodity flows Stranger Fictions Rebecca C. Johnson, 2021-01-15 Zaynab first published in 1913 is widely cited as the first Arabic novel yet the previous eight decades saw hundreds of novels translated into Arabic from English and French This vast literary corpus influenced generations of Arab writers but has until now been considered a curious footnote in the genre s history Incorporating these works into the history of the Arabic novel Stranger Fictions offers a transformative new account of modern Arabic literature world literature and the novel Rebecca C Johnson rewrites the history of the global circulation of the novel by moving Arabic literature from the margins of comparative literature to its center Considering the wide range of nineteenth and early twentieth century translation practices including bad translation mistranslation and pseudotranslation Johnson argues that Arabic translators did far more than copy European works they authored new versions of them producing sophisticated theorizations of the genre These translations and the reading practices they precipitated form the conceptual and practical foundations of Arab literary modernity necessitating an overhaul of our notions of translation cultural exchange and the global Examining nearly a century of translations published in Beirut Cairo Malta Paris London and New York from Qat R binun Kur z The story of Robinson Crusoe in 1835 to pastiche crime stories in early twentieth century Egyptian magazines Johnson shows how translators theorized the Arab world not as Europe's periphery but as an alternative center in a globalized network Stranger Fictions affirms the central place of mis translation in both the history of the novel in Arabic and the novel as a transnational form itself Reports and Documents United States. Congress,1962 World Internet
