Reading Woman A Journal:

Reading Women Jennifer Phegley, Janet Badia, 2005-01-01 Literary and popular culture has often focused its attention on women readers particularly since early Victorian times In Reading Women an esteemed group of new and established scholars provide a close study of the evolution of the woman reader by examining a wide range of nineteenth and twentieth century media including Antebellum scientific treatises Victorian paintings and Oprah Winfrey s televised book club as well as the writings of Charlotte Bront Harriet Beecher Stowe and Zora Neale Hurston Attending especially to what how and why women read Reading Women brings together a rich array of subjects that sheds light on the defining role the woman reader has played in the formation not only of literary history but of British and American culture The contributors break new ground by focusing on the impact representations of women readers have had on understandings of literacy and certain reading practices the development of books and print culture and the categorization of texts into high and low cultural forms

The English Woman's Journal , Women and the Periodical Press in China's Long Twentieth Century Michel Hockx, Joan Judge, Barbara Mittler, 2018-05-24 In this major new collection an international team of scholars examine the relationship between the Chinese women s periodical press and global modernity in the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries The essays in this richly illustrated volume probe the ramifications for women of two monumental developments in this period the intensification of China s encounters with foreign powers and a media transformation comparable in its impact to the current internet age The book offers a distinctive methodology for studying the periodical press which is supported by the development of a bilingual database of early Chinese periodicals Throughout the study essays on China are punctuated by transdisciplinary reflections from scholars working on periodicals outside of the Chinese context encouraging readers to rethink common stereotypes about lived womanhood in modern China and to reconsider the nature of Chinese modernity in a global context

Figurations of the Feminine in the Early French Women's Press, 1758-1848 Siobhán McIlvanney, 2019 In this highly original thought provoking study Siobhán McIlvanney provides critical insight into the origins of the French women s press As the first work in English to examine the diverse range of publications which makes up this significant medium Figurations of the Feminine traces the evolving figurations of womanhood which appear over the first ninety years of women s journals in France It argues that early French women s journals are often characterised by a remarkable degree of feminist content and that this potential political interpellation of their contemporary readership is one which undermines the general conception of the women s press as an idealised hyper femininised space inhabited by the intellectually idle whether in the form of readers or writers seeking at best escapism at worst a benign reinforcement of the values of their quotidien Through its analysis of different generic subsections whether the literary journal the fashion magazine the domestic press or more explicitly politicised outputs Figurations of the Feminine challenges the critical commonplaces which have surrounded the women s press since its genesis both in France and elsewhere It demonstrates the political richness of this medium and the privileged perspectives it gives us on the everyday lives of French women from across the class spectrum during this key historical period      Resources in Women's Educational Equity ,1980
