Ethical Relativism and Universalism Saral Jhingran, 2001-01-01 The present work addresses itself to one of the most hotly debated issues in contemporary ethics relativism Relativism has become a formidable argument in Western socio moral thought under the impact of postmodern writings The author presents a detailed critique of various relativist and postmodernist theses without rejecting some of their empirically justified observations She underscores the fact that the intercultural communication which has been going on since time immemorial puts a question mark to the postmodernist theories of indeterminacy of translation incommensurability of various conceptual frameworks etc The author supports cognitivism in ethics according to which the moral properties of the object of moral judgement do in some way determine or cause that judgment This view is not to be confused with any realist ontological commitment She asserts that universalizability is the necessary condition of all rational judgments including the moral ones The author also discusses the relationship between self and others and in this context she draws upon the insights of ancient Indian thinkers She proposes that minimum moral principles and maxims can be agreed upon through reasoning and intercultural discourse

Literature and Moral Theory Nora Hämäläinen, 2017-05-18 Literature and Moral Theory investigates how literature in the past 30 years has been used as a means for transforming the Anglo American moral philosophical landscape which until recently was dominated by certain ways of doing theory. It illuminates the unity of the overall agenda of the ethics literature discussion in Anglo American moral philosophy today, the affinities and differences between the separate strands discernible in the discussion, and the relationship of the ethics literature discussion to other complexly overlapping trends in late 20th century Anglo American moral philosophy: neo Aristotelianism, post Wittgensteinian ethics, particularism, and anti theory. It shows why contemporary philosophers have felt the need for literature, how they have come to use it for their own philosophically radical purposes of understanding and argument, and thus how this turn toward literature can be used for the benefit of a moral philosophy which is alive to the varieties of lived morality.
