Scattering Of Salts Poems:

A Scattering of Salts James Merrill, 1995 In this his first new book of poems in seven years Merrill is at the top of his form His unrivalled poetic use of the private life is brilliantly evident The stuff of autobiography is transfigured becoming a medium for the profoundest truth couched in a language that draws on both rueful wit and elegant slang From Nine Lives an Athenian fable through Volcanic Holiday with its euphoric helicopter ride to Family Week at Oracle Ranch set in a New Age rehab center his vivid glimpses of the real world widen into surprising and meditative visions that touch us all A

Scattering of Salts James Ingram Merrill, 1997-11-25 The tragic death of James Merrill in February 1995 coincided with the publication in hardcover of this his last book of poems In these last poems lucid deft fond shrewd faithful Merrill once again reveals himself as our most visual poet combining a superb eye with an unfailing ear Peter Davison Boston Globe From the Trade Paperback edition Selected Poems of James Merrill James Merrill, 2008-10-28 This volume brings together the best of Merrill and dazzles at every turn This balanced and compact selection will be an ideal introduction to his work for both students and general readers and an instant favorite among his familiars James Merrill himself once called his body of work chronicles of love and loss and in twenty books written over four decades he used the details of his own life comic and haunting exotic and domestic to shape a portrait that in turn mirrored the image of our world and our moment Includes poems from the domestic rupture of The Broken Home to the universal connections of Lost in Translation from the American storyteller of The Summer People to the ecologically motivated satirist of Self Portrait in a Tyvek™ Windbreaker Log Then when the flame forked like a sudden path I gasped and stumbled and was less Density pulsing upward gauze of ash Dear light along the way to nothingness What could be made of you but light and this Collected Novels and Plays of James Merrill James Merrill, 2005-10-18 Following the widely celebrated Collected Poems this second volume in the series of James Merrill's works brings us Merrill as novelist and playwright Just as in his poems we come upon prose pieces dramatic dialogue and even a short play in verse in his novels and plays we find the rhythms of his poetry reflected and given new form Merrill's first novel The Seraglio is a daring roman clef derived in large part from his early life as the cosmopolitan son of Charles Merrill one of America's most famous twentieth century financiers Written in a highly refined prose that owes something to Henry James the book is a compelling portrait of the luxury and treachery swirling around the Southampton beach house of an irrepressible family patriarch with his many mistresses and ex mistresses in attendance told from the point of view of his lively but troubled son At the other end of the narrative spectrum we find The Diblos Notebook an experimental novel in which a young American's adventures on a Greek island are deconstructed and assembled into a tentative fiction before our eyes Merrill's plays including the one act comedy of manners The Bait and the Chekhovian The Immortal Husband a reinvention of the myth of Tithonus who was granted eternal life but not eternal youth are also fresh turns on his characteristic themes home and travel reality and artifice simplicity and complication And for the first time in print here is

Merrill's short play The Birthday a fledgling effort written in 1947 and a fascinating window onto the concern with spiritual communication and the otherworldly that would later blossom into his great epic The Changing Light at Sandover

James Merrill Reena Sastri, 2013-01-11 James Merrill Knowing Innocence reevaluates the achievement of this important poet by showing how he takes up an old paradigm innocence and reinvents it in response to new historical scientific and cultural developments including the bomb contemporary cosmology and the question of agency The book covers Merrill's full career emphasizing the late poetry on which there remains little commentary Illuminating both Merrill's relation to a tradition of literary innocence from Milton to Blake and Wordsworth to Emerson and Stevens and his relevance to contemporary cultural debates the rubric of knowing innocence helps us to understand his achievement Merrill undertakes a career long effort to know innocence and develops a thematic and stylistic attitude that is both innocent and knowing combining attitudes of wonder and hope with reflexive wit intellectual breadth and an unflinching gaze at mortality He ultimately imagines innocence as creative agency a capacity for imagination invention and ethical responsibility The book demonstrates how addressing questions of sexual identity childhood and memory atomic science the big bang and black holes environmental degradation AIDS and the notion of the death of history while honoring poetry's essential qualities of freedom and play his poems perform cultural work crucial to his time and ours

A Whole World James Merrill, 2021-04-06 A NEW YORK TIMES NOTABLE BOOK OF THE YEAR The selected correspondence of the brilliant poet one of the twentieth century's last great letter writers I don't keep a journal not after the first week James Merrill asserted in a letter while on a trip around the world Letters have got to bear all the burden A vivacious correspondent whether abroad where avid curiosity and fond memory frequently took him or at home he wrote eagerly and often to family and lifelong friends American and Greek lovers confidants in literature and art about everything that mattered aesthetics opera and painting housekeeping and cooking the comedy of social life the mysteries of the Ouija board and the spirit world and psychological and moral dilemmas in funny dashing unrevised missives composed to entertain himself as well as his recipients On a personal nemesis the ambivalence I live with It worries me less and less It becomes the very stuff of my art on a lunch for Wallace Stevens given by Blanche Knopf It had been decided by one and all that nothing but small talk would be allowed on romance in his late fifties I must stop acting like an orphan gobbling cookies in fear of the plate's being taken away on great books they burn us like radium with their decisiveness their terrible understanding of what happens Merrill's daily chronicle of love and loss is unfettered self critical full of good gossip and attuned to the wicked irony the poignant detail a natural extension of the great poet's voice

Last Looks, Last Books Helen Vendler, 2010-03-01 Modern American poets writing in the face of death In Last Looks Last Books the eminent critic Helen Vendler examines the ways in which five great modern American poets writing their final books try to find a style that does justice to life and death alike With traditional religious consolations no longer available to them these poets must invent new ways to express the crisis of death as well as the paradoxical coexistence of a declining body and an undiminished consciousness In The Rock Wallace Stevens writes simultaneous narratives of winter and spring in Ariel Sylvia Plath sustains melodrama in cool formality and in Day by Day Robert Lowell subtracts from plenitude In Geography III Elizabeth Bishop is both caught and freed while James Merrill in A Scattering of Salts creates a series of self portraits as he dies representing himself by such things as a Christmas tree human tissue on a laboratory slide and the evening morning star The solution for one poet will not serve for another each must invent a bridge from an old style to a new one Casting a last look at life as they contemplate death these modern writers enrich the resources of lyric poetry
