China's Way to Carbon Emissions

Reduction Ying Shen, 2015-08-18 Now that the most recent scientific estimates have shown that China has become the world's largest source of greenhouse gas emissions China's influence on the world's environment and sustainable development highlights the importance of tailoring Chinese climate change law to conform with the requirements of international conventions and agreements on climate change This thorough analysis based on an examination of climate status legal background and current regulatory systems in China examines the potential role of different policy instruments in reducing carbon emissions in order to find an appropriate choice for China and recommends approaches to key issues for relevant authorities The author conducts a comprehensive and in depth study on the three mainstream environmental policy instruments used to control carbon emissions the cap and trade system the carbon tax and command and control regulations in a Chinese context She reviews China's current policies and elucidates how the issues of climate change and global warming call for social environmental economic and legal reforms in China especially in the areas of administrative law and property rights law Among the issues and topics covered are the following key issues on designing and implementing each of the three policy instruments the choice of regulatory instruments for carbon emissions reduction in a socialist market economy based on the discussion of market failure and government failure theories legal challenges from China's current administrative legislation and the definition of carbon emissions entitlements practical effect of China's climate change policy at the national provincial and local levels effectiveness of China's implementation of its international obligations lessons learned from schemes implemented in the United States and Australia comparison of China's seven regional pilot emissions trading scheme ETS programmes with the well established EU ETS linkage between China's ETS and other ETSs from a global perspective and future direction of an emerging carbon market in China The analysis assesses the critical costs and benefits of each approach in the context of selected case studies taking legal literature in the field fully into account Given that the Chinese government is taking steps to reduce emissions by altering energy production and usage and is signalling a willingness to make similar commitments in a multilateral treaty it is very timely and important for lawmakers and scholars within and outside China to think about new and appropriate regulatory measures to respond to the crisis and plan for a sustainable future This study provides not only a useful benchmark for both China and other countries in formulating initiatives on enhancing climate protection but also details the global implications for governments and for international organizations concerned with the understanding between China and the rest of the world in the context of climate change mitigation

The Routledge Handbook of Environmental Economics in Asia Shunsuke Managi, 2015-02-11 Problems of climate change biodiversity and air pollution are clearly growing globally but more particularly in Asia because of its economic importance and richness in nature The increasing interest in environmental and resource economics applied in regions of Asia will make this book an outstanding resource to the existing literature particularly in the fields of environmental and resource economics and the integration of applied content in traditional and agricultural development At present there is no single handbook or text on the state of current knowledge in environmental economics in Asia or one which offers a comprehensive guide to students and academics on the subjects of environmental economics research This book will help to fill the gap in the existing literature States and Markets in Hydrocarbon Sectors Andrei V. Belyi, Kim Talus, 2015-01-20 Research on the role of states and markets in the hydrocarbon sector is highly topical in contemporary International Political Economy This edited collection will approach this subject from a broader perspective investigating the very essence of the interaction between the state and the market and how this varies on a regional basis Government Reformed Jenny Fleming, 2017-11-22 This title was first published in 2003 This insightful work examines institutional formation and change as evidence of the major re shaping of government internationally over the last two decades It is based on a series of case studies of institutional reform and ranges across institutions in countries including the UK China Australia and the USA Each case study considers questions concerning the establishment of institutions such as what have been the objectives of institutional changes What are the principles and values on which new institutions are founded In addition to looking at broad hypotheses regarding the state and new institutions the book also draws together practical lessons regarding institutional reform Thus the cases are analysed as a group to throw light on a number of issues are there patterns discernible in the formation of new political institutions What do the cases reveal about what works and what does not work in forming new institutions What predictions can be made about the relationship between values and governance structures

Electricity market reform Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Energy and Climate Change Committee, 2011-05-16 Over one hundred billion pounds of investment is needed by 2020 to replace the UK's ageing power stations cut carbon emissions and maintain energy security Government proposals for Electricity Market Reform EMR are supposed to encourage power companies to deliver clean affordable energy But the Energy and Climate Change Committee is concerned that the current proposals are over complex and could fail to attract the 110 billion investment needed in electricity generation alone by 2020 It is calling on the Government to simplify its package of reforms to provide a more certain framework for investors The starting point for EMR should be a clearly defined objective to reduce the carbon intensity of electricity generation in the UK to 50g of CO<sub>2</sub> per kilowatt hour KWh by 2030 The wholesale market should be fundamentally reformed to break up the dominance of the Big Six energy companies in order to allow new entrants to invest in the UK and improve the liquidity of the market The long term contracts designed to encourage low carbon energy sources known as Feed in Tariffs with Contracts for Difference will work for nuclear but different types of contract are needed for renewables and other clean technologies The Carbon Price Support is a necessary short term solution to weaknesses in the EU Emission Trading System but will increase costs for consumers and could provide a windfall for nuclear and renewables generators The MPs also call on the Government to be clear about the effect that reforms will have on energy bills      The Supply-side Revolution with Chinese Characteristics Fang Fuqian,2023-02-24 Focusing on the supply side structural reform in China this book investigates the impetus implementation strategy initial results and theoretical underpinnings of the revolution assessing its significance in perfecting China s socialist market economic system The supply side structural reform launched in China in 2015 aims to thoroughly resolve the cyclical excess capacity and the habitual imbalance of economic structure and form a long term mechanism for economic stability different from the supply side policies under the Reagan Administration in the 1980s Based on the analysis framework of aggregate demand and supply combined with institutional and structural analysis the title elucidates the reason theory measures and results that ground the reform It explicates the three step strategy to ensure the successful outcome countermeasures against current supply side problems upgrading the economic structure and most importantly the institutional reform and innovation The author emphasizes the importance of reforming both market and government and advances a double effect model combining the effective market and government This title will appeal to scholars students and policymakers interested in economics macroeconomic control and the Chinese economy and economic system reform      Governmental Power Market-Ing in the VU-CHAOS World Wongmahesak, Kittisak,Gohwong, Srirath,Pavapanunkul, Shayut,Mahittichatkul, Nasaran,2023-09-29 Governmental Power Market Ing in the VU CHAOS World is a thought provoking book that explores the blended concepts of state governance marketing and management This book offers a comprehensive examination of the dynamics and implications of governmental power in a rapidly changing world Delve into this text to investigate the concept of government and its significance as well as the rise of gerontocracy where the elders exert influence over the state game both in theory and practice Further chapters explore topics such as the hidden agenda behind the development of government in governmental power marketing theory the sources and status of government strategies and behavior of governments as buyers The influences that shape governmental buying behavior and the implications for controlling governmental power are also examined Readers will gain insights into future trends in government theory and practice including strategic approaches for stateless players and net states Case studies and comparative applications offer real world examples and practical implications Governmental Power Market Ing in the VU CHAOS World is an essential resource for academics researchers policymakers and anyone interested in understanding the complex interplay between governmental power and market dynamics in today s evolving global landscape

Power Market Structure Maria Vagliasindi,John Besant-Jones,2013-03-28 This study proposes a novel analytical approach for modeling market structures of the power sector presenting evidence from statistical analysis and a sample of twenty case studies      Interactions Between China's National Emissions Trading Scheme and Electricity Market:

Practices and Policies Tsun Se Cheong,Xunpeng (Roc) Shi,Yongping Sun,Jian Yu,Xin Yao,2023-11-03 China s national carbon market the world s largest emissions trading scheme ETS kicked off its first online trade recently This can be called a milestone for the country towards the nation's goals of having CO<sub>2</sub> emissions peak before 2030 and achieving carbon neutrality by 2060. China's national ETS initially covers the power sector before being expanded to a much broader set of energy intensive industries. On one hand the electricity sector the largest carbon emitting industry is responsible for about 40% of China's emissions and it has great significance to response to global climate change. On the other hand the effectiveness of China's ETS will rest on how well it is coordinated with power market regulations and policies. In this regard the deepening of reform as well as the advanced technology and its applications in the electricity market will add new challenges and opportunities to electricity trade which in turn influences national ETS. Therefore this brings urgency to accurately capture the dynamic interactions between national ETS and electricity market to transform carbon trading into a practical and effective way to decarbonize the power sector.

Energy Abstracts for Policy Analysis, 1988      Principles of Microeconomics N. Gregory Mankiw, 1998      Electricity Infrastructures in the Global Marketplace Thomas Hammons, 2011-06-08. This book discusses trends in the energy industries of emerging economies in all continents. It provides the forum for dissemination and exchange of scientific and engineering information on the theoretical generic and applied areas of scientific and engineering knowledge relating to electrical power infrastructure in the global marketplace. It is a timely reference to modern deregulated energy infrastructure challenges of restructuring electricity markets in emerging economies. The topics deal with nuclear and hydropower worldwide biomass energy potential of the oceans geothermal energy reliability wind power integrating renewable and dispersed electricity into the grid electricity markets in Africa Asia China Europe India Russia and in South America. In addition the merits of GHG programs and markets on the electrical power industry market mechanisms and supply adequacy in hydro dominated countries in Latin America energy issues under deregulated environments including insurance issues and the African Union and new partnerships for Africa's development is considered.

Competitive Change in the Electric Power Industry United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Energy and Natural Resources, 1997      Institutional Logics and Practice of the Evolution of Urban-Rural Relationships Xiaoye Zhe, Yun Ai, 2020-12-18. This book mainly analyzes the major issues at all phases of the transition of urban rural relation as well as measures adopted by the transition launcher in face of such issues including not only the system and policy design of the national and local government but the countermeasures of basic level units at urban and rural areas and the people. Through reference of the social structure and social behavior it proposes opportunity structures interactive mechanism and behavior strategies for different periods which to some degree promotes the transition of urban rural relation and brings in new more complicated issues for the development. It is under the impact of such new and existing issues that big problem follows when the urban rural relation steps onto a new stage showing several paths and practices different from the general urbanization and modernization theories.
