

Practice reading- Lesson 2

I'm Mike. I'm nine.

I have got a nice black cat.

It can jump and run.

But I haven't got a dog, and I'm sad.

This is Ron. He is three.

He has got a little red fish.

The fish is nice.

It can swim. Ron is happy.

This is Jill. She has got five little kittens.

Jill is happy, too.

Equipping Students with 21st Century Technology Skills Donny Wise, 2015-03-03 A revolutionary method for introducing technology into the K-12 classroom. Cover Improving Reading and Reading Engagement in the 21st Century Clarence Ng, Brendan Bartlett, 2017-05-31 This book presents cutting-edge research findings in areas critical to advancing reading research in the 21st-century context, including new literacies, reading motivation, strategy instruction, and reading intervention studies. While students' reading performance is currently receiving unprecedented attention, there is a lack of research that adopts an international perspective and draws on research expertise from different parts of the world to present a concerted effort discussing key research models and findings on how to improve reading education. Addressing this gap in the literature, the book also responds to the challenge of promoting higher levels of literacy and supporting and developing readers who can enjoy and critique texts of every genre.

The Space and Practice of Reading Chin Ee Loh, 2017-02-10 Mirroring worldwide debates on social class, literacy rates, and social change, this study explores the intersection between reading and social class in Singapore, one of the top scorers on the Programme for International Assessment (PISA) tests, and questions the rhetoric of social change that does not take into account local spaces and practices. This comparative study of reading practices in an elite school and a government school in Singapore draws on practice and spatial perspectives to provide critical insight into how taken-for-granted practices and spaces of reading can be, in fact, unacknowledged spaces of inequity.

Acknowledging the role of social class in shaping reading education is a start to reconfiguring current practices and spaces for more effective and equitable reading practices This book shows how using localized contextualized approaches sensitive to the home school national and global contexts can lead to more targeted policy and practice transformation in the area of reading instruction and intervention Chapters in the book include Becoming a Reader Home School Connections Singaporean Boys Constructing Global Literate Selves School Nation Connections Levelling the Reading Gap Socio Spatial Perspectives The book will be relevant to literacy scholars and educators library science researchers and sociologists interested in the intersection of class and literacy practices in the 21st century Literacy for the 21st Century Gail Tompkins,Rod Campbell,David Green,Carol Smith,2014-08-01 Literacy for the 21st Century 2e gives students the strategies and ability to teach literacy effectively in Australian classrooms Linking the theory and research to classroom practice and with a greater emphasis on the use of digital literacies students will gain a practical understanding of teaching reading and writing

Book Banning in 21st-Century America Emily J. M. Knox,2015-01-16 Requests for the removal relocation and restriction of books also known as challenges occur with some frequency in the United States Book Banning in 21st Century American Libraries based on thirteen contemporary book challenge cases in schools and public libraries across the United States argues that understanding contemporary reading practices especially interpretive strategies is vital to understanding why people attempt to censor books in schools and public libraries Previous research on censorship tends to focus on legal frameworks centered on Supreme Court cases historical case studies and bibliographies of texts that are targeted for removal or relocation and is often concerned with how censorship occurs The current project on the other hand is focused on the why of censorship and posits that many censorship behaviors and practices such as challenging books are intimately tied to the how one understands the practice of reading and its effects on character development and behavior It discusses reading as a social practice that has changed over time and encompasses different physical modalities and interpretive strategies In order to understand why people challenge books it presents a model of how the practice of reading is understood by challengers including what it means to read a text and especially how one constructs the idea of appropriate reading materials The book is based on three different kinds sources The first consists of documents including requests for reconsideration and letters obtained via Freedom of Information Act requests to governing bodies produced in the course of challenge cases Recordings of book challenge public hearings constitute the second source of data Finally the third source of data is interviews with challengers themselves The book offers a model of the reading practices of challengers It demonstrates that challengers are particularly influenced by what might be called a literal common sense orientation to text wherein there is little room for polysemic interpretation multiple meanings for text That is the meaning of texts is always clear and there is only one avenue for interpretation This common sense interpretive strategy is coupled with what Cathy Davidson calls undisciplined imagination wherein the reader is unable to maintain distance between the events in a text and his or her own response These reading practices broaden our understanding of why people attempt to censor books in public institutions

Teaching in the 21st Century Joanne Pauley, 1995 Among the issues facing teachers as the 21st century approaches are the prevalence of violence growing racial and socioeconomic divisions in society and lack of parental involvement Activities gathered from articles in educational journals are suggested to help children voice their experiences thoughts and concerns about violence Some of these activities are inviting a police representative to visit the classroom having children become aware of violence on a favorite television program and then rewriting the show without violence and helping children feel safe by assisting them in writing the names of people and places to which they can go when feeling scared Teachers must be aware of not passing on cultural stereotypes while elementary school children are not able to conceptualize socioeconomic differences in terms of profession and status in the current consumer oriented world the advantages of wealth and disadvantages of poverty soon become evident to them Also teachers should learn as much as possible about the dynamics of their communities and recognize the messages that children are absorbing in their daily experience Suggestions for promoting parental involvement include recruiting a volunteer to become a liaison between teacher and parents showing respect for parents by treating them as co workers rather than as free help asking for parents input and thanking them for their participation ND Ideas for 21st Century Education Ade Gafar Abdullah, Ida Hamidah, Siti Aisyah, Ari Arifin
