Built around a single case study, Creating New Agency Programs clearly illustrates how to effectively plan, implement, and evaluate a small-scale social program. Each step in the planning process is introduced and described in a way that allows the reader to vicariously participate in the evolution of the program. Useful charts, time lines, and resource lists are included and can be easily referenced and utilized. This book's emphasis on planning is important not only because it is a much-used and generally under-taught skill, but because successful planning is the process that can turn the dreams of a community into concrete reality. This book is geared toward designing programs to meet specific social needs and organizing the relevant human resources to implement them. The programs are specific, detailed, and activity-oriented but are designed to support long-range goals which may be handed down by a parent organization or the community in general. The author's strategy of using a case study serves as a creative learning tool that leads readers through each practical step toward successfully creating their own small scale social program Filling the void of literature on designing programs Creating New Agency Programs is ideal for professionals and students in a variety fields social work human services clinical counseling psychology drugs and alcohol psychology nursing and management who are faced with the task of planning designing and evaluating a program
