Animal Architects James L Gould, Carol Grant Gould, 2012-03-06 Animal behavior has long been a battleground between the competing claims of nature and nurture with the possible role of cognition in behavior as a recent addition to this debate There is an untapped trove of behavioral data that can tell us a great deal about how the animals draw from these neural strategies The structures animals build provide a superb window on the workings of the animal mind Animal Architects examines animal architecture across a range of species from those whose blueprints are largely innate such as spiders and their webs to those whose challenging structures seem to require intellectual insight planning and even aesthetics such as bowerbirds nests or beavers dams Beginning with instinct and the simple homes of solitary insects James and Carol Gould move on to conditioning the cognitive map and how it evolved and the role of planning and insight Finally they reflect on what animal building tells us about the nature of human intelligence showing why humans unlike many animals need to build castles in the air

Human Learning Jeanne Ellis Ormrod, 2008 Human Learning fifth edition is the leading text on learning theories applied to education It covers a broad range of learning theories including behaviorist social cognitive cognitive and developmental Complex learning and cognition including metacognition transfer and social processes in knowledge construction are also covered as is motivation Coverage demonstrates through the author s extremely lucid and engaging prose how different concepts relate to one another The book provides dozens of proven examples and emphasizes meaningful learning that makes the fundamentals of these theories comprehensible to students with little or no prior coursework in psychology Key revisions to this book include a thoroughly updated section on behaviorism a new separate
