Teaching Literature with Artificial Intelligence Eric D. Abrams,2025-09-15 Teaching Literature with Artificial Intelligence explores the use of chatbots as participants in the teaching and learning of literature in high school and college classrooms while highlighting potentially outmoded norms and expectations of ELA instruction Artificial intelligence programs have profoundly altered the daily realities of teachers and students inspiring concern and opportunity alike Thought provoking theoretically grounded and full of replicable autoethnographic experiments this book offers real world examples of generative chatbot technologies in ELA classrooms positioning their accessibility and ubiquity as an incentive for critiquing and enriching traditional teaching and learning approaches Graduate students teaching faculty and scholars of teacher education English and literature education digital literacies and learning design will come away with a sharp critique of the purported affordances of chatbots as well as an incisive demonstration of AI as a classroom tool that supports rather than diminishes the meaningful learning critical thinking and agentic development of young people today Producing and Managing Restricted Activities Fabienne H.G. Chevalier,John Moore,2015-03-27 This book examines the kinds of talk that service providers working in various settings e g doctors healthcare providers helpline call takers tourist officers seek to avoid in their interactions with clients when such talk may be expected or due in some way The studies utilise Conversation Analysis to demonstrate how participants use the interactional practices of avoidance and withholding to construct specific activities as restricted The various authors also show how in contributing to the restricted character of certain activities withholding and avoidance in turn contribute to both the accomplishment of the particular work of the specific organisations and to the construction of the specific institutional identities of the professionals Overall the collection offers an authoritative account of restriction and avoidance in workplace interaction Learning to Teach English in the Secondary School Jon Davison,Jane Dowson,1998 This forward looking book combines theory and practice to present a broad introduction to the opportunities and challenges of teaching English in secondary school classrooms Each chapter explains the background to current debates about teaching the subject and provides tasks teaching ideas and further reading to explore issues and ideas in relation to school experience With reference to new legislation the chapters suggest a range of approaches to the teaching of reading writing speaking and listening drama media study information technology language study grammar poetry Shakespeare GNVQ and A Level English Language and Literature Learning to Teach English in the Secondary School offers principles and practical examples of teaching and learning in the context of the end of the twentieth century when new notions of literacy compete with the demands of national assessment Taking as its starting point the changing ideologies of English as a subject the text addresses questions about the nature of teacher education It raises issues concerning competence based courses working with a mentor in school and monitoring the development of a student teacher
