Scenes In The City:

Scenes and Communities in the City Marta Klekotko, 2023-12-04 This open access book addresses the problem of creation and reproduction processes of contemporary urban communities as well as cultural mechanisms and factors of these processes Rejecting both the environmental determinism and cultural reductionism of community studies the book assumes that the postmodern city is a space of diverse urban communities that go far beyond the traditional concept of neighbourhood as well as personal and imagined communities and thus proposes to comprehend urban community as social practice embedded in urban space The book applies the Theory of Social Practice and the Theory of Scenes and develops the concept of socio cultural opportunity structures in order to explain how cultural practices of individuals and symbolic dimensions of territory interact leading to re production of various forms of urban community It is assumed that culture in general and symbolic meanings of territory in particular play a crucial role in the process of re production of urban communities that this process takes place in collective cultural consciousness and is mediated by territorially embedded cultural practices of individuals The book overcomes theoretical gaps in classical community studies and develops a new perspective on urban communal processes based on the analysis of social practices in urban cultural scenes City Scenes

Ordinary in Brighton?: LGBT, Activisms and the City Kath Browne, Leela Bakshi, 2016-05-13 Ordinary in Brighton offers the first large scale examination of the impact of the UK equalities legislation on lesbian gay bi and trans LGBT lives and the effects of these changes on LGBT political activism Using the participatory research project Count Me In Too this book investigates the material issues of social spatial injustice that were pertinent for some but not all LGBT people and explores activisms working in partnership that operated with within the state Ordinary in Brighton explores the unevenly felt consequences of assimilation and inclusion in a city that was compelled to provide a place literally and figuratively for LGBT people Brighton itself is understood to be exceptional and exploring this specific location provides insights into how place operates as constitutive of lives and activisms Despite its placing as the gay capital and its long history as a favoured location of LGBT people there is very little academic or popular literature published about this city This book offers insights into the first decade of the 21st century when sexual and gender dissidents supposedly became ordinary here rather than exceptional and transgressive It argues that geographical imaginings of this city as the gay capital formed activisms that sought positive social change for LGBT people The possibilities of legislative change and urban inclusivities enabled some LGBT people to live ordinary lives but this potential existed in tension with normalisations and exclusions Alongside the necessary critiques Ordinary in Brighton asks for conceptualisations of the creative and co-operative possibilities of ordinariness The book concludes by differentiating the exclusionary ideals of normalisation from the possibilities of ordinariness which has the potential to render a range of people not only in place but commonplace All royalties from this book will be donated to Allsorts Youth Project Brighton Hove LGBT Switchboa Opera and the City Andrea Goldman, 2013-12-10 In late imperial China opera transmitted ideas across the social hierarchy about the self family society and politics Beijing attracted a diverse array of opera genres and audiences and by extension served as a hub for the diffusion of cultural values It is in this context that historian Andrea S Goldman harnesses opera as a lens through which to examine urban cultural history Her meticulous yet playful account takes up the multiplicity of opera types that proliferated at the time exploring them as contested sites through which the Qing court and commercial playhouses negotiated influence and control over the social and moral order Opera performance blurred lines between public and private life and offered a stage on which to act out gender and class transgressions This work illuminates how the state and various urban constituencies manipulated opera to their own ends and sheds light on empire wide transformations underway at the time

Perception of Faces, Objects, and Scenes Mary A. Peterson, Gillian Rhodes, 2003-05-22 From a barrage of photons we readily and effortlessly recognize the faces of our friends and the familiar objects and scenes around us However these tasks cannot be simple for our visual systems faces are all extremely similar as visual patterns and objects look quite different when viewed from different viewpoints How do our visual systems solve these problems The contributors to this volume seek to answer this question by exploring how analytic and holistic processes contribute to our perception of faces objects and scenes The role of parts and wholes in perception has been studied for a century beginning with the debate between Structuralists who championed the role of elements and Gestalt psychologists who argued that the whole was different from the sum of its parts This is the first volume to focus on the current state of the debate on parts versus wholes as it exists in the field of visual perception by bringing together the views of the leading researchers Too frequently researchers work in only one domain so they are unaware of the ways in which holistic and analytic processing are defined in different areas The contributors to this volume ask what analytic and holistic processes are like whether they contribute differently to the perception of faces objects and scenes whether different cognitive and neural mechanisms code holistic and analytic information whether a single universal system can be sufficient for visual information processing and whether our subjective experience of holistic perception might be nothing more than a compelling illusion The result is a snapshot of the current thinking on how the processing of wholes and parts contributes to our remarkable ability to recognize faces objects and scenes and an illustration of the diverse conceptions of analytic and holistic processing that currently coexist and the variety of approaches that have been brought to bear on the issues

The City Symphony Phenomenon Steven Jacobs, Eva Hielscher, Anthony Kinik, 2018-07-20 The 1920s and 1930s saw the rise of the city symphony an experimental film form that presented the city as protagonist instead of mere decor Combining experimental documentary and narrative practices these films were marked by a high level of abstraction reminiscent of high modernist experiments in painting and photography Moreover interwar city symphonies presented a highly fragmented oftentimes kaleidoscopic sense of modern life and they organized their urban industrial images through rhythmic and associative montage that evoke musical structures In this comprehensive volume contributors consider the full 80 film corpus from Manhatta and Berlin Die Sinfonie der Grosstadt to lesser known cinematic explorations

Black City Cinema Paula

Massood,2011-01-19 In Black City Cinema Paula Massood shows how popular films reflected the massive social changes that resulted from the Great Migration of African Americans from the rural South to cities in the North West and Mid West during the first three decades of the twentieth century By the onset of the Depression the Black population had become primarily urban transforming individual lives as well as urban experience and culture Massood probes into the relationship of place and time showing how urban settings became an intrinsic element of African American film as Black people became more firmly rooted in urban spaces and more visible as historical and political subjects Illuminating the intersections of film history politics and urban discourse she considers the chief genres of African American and Hollywood narrative film the black cast musicals of the 1920s and the race films of the early sound era to blaxploitation and hood films as well as the work of Spike Lee toward the end of the century As it examines such a wide range of films over much of the twentieth century this book offers a unique map of Black representations in film Behind the Scenes in Washington. Being a complete and graphic account of the Credit Mobilier Investigation, the congressional rings, political intrigues, working of the lobbies, etc. [With illustrations.] James Dabney McCabe,1873 Bulletin of the Public Library of the City of Boston Boston Public Library,1921
