School Learning:

Perspectives on School Learning L. W. Anderson, 2014-01-09 First Published in 1985 This volume offers a collection of John B Carroll's works on the mastery of learning and related topics Including discussions and information around his Model of School Learning and a biographical background Culture in School Learning Etta R. Hollins, 2008-04-18 In this text Etta Hollins presents a powerful process for developing a teaching perspective that embraces the centrality of culture in school learning The six part process covers objectifying culture personalizing culture inquiring about students cultures and communities applying knowledge about culture to teaching formulating theory or a conceptual framework linking culture and school learning and transforming professional practice to better meet the needs of students from different cultural and experiential backgrounds All aspects of the process are interrelated and interdependent Two basic procedures are employed in this process constructing an operational definition of culture that reveals its deep meaning in cognition and learning and applying the reflective interpretive inquiry RIQ approach to making linkages between students cultural and experiential backgrounds and classroom instruction Discussion within chapters is not intended to provide complete and final answers to the questions posed but rather to generate discussion critical thinking and further investigation Pedagogical Features Focus Questions at the beginning of each chapter assist the reader in identifying complex issues to be examined Chapter Summaries provide a quick review of the main topics presented Suggested Learning Experiences have been selected for their value in expanding preservice teachers understanding of specific questions and issues raised in the chapter Critical Readings lists extend the text to treat important issues in greater depth New in the Second Edition New emphasis is placed on the power of social ideology in framing teachers thinking and school practices The relationship of core values and other important social values common in the United States to school practices is explicitly discussed Discussion of racism includes an explanation of the relationship between institutionalized racism and personal beliefs and actions Approaches to understanding and evaluating curriculum have been expanded to include different genres and dimensions of multicultural education A framework for understanding cultural diversity in the classroom is presented New emphasis is placed on participating in a community of practice This book is primarily designed for preservice teachers in courses on multicultural education social foundations of education principles of education and introduction to teaching Inservice teachers and graduate students will find it equally useful Time and School Learning (1984) Lorin Anderson, 2018-02-06 This book was first published in 1984 The role of time in school learning has long been a topic of interest to educationalists So much so that in the United States Carnegie Units purely time based entities are used to certify high school graduates and credit hours are the basic unit of college certification In this book contributors explore the role of time in school learning In particular American research has demonstrated that learning is a function of two time variables the time actually spent learning and the time needed to learn The book presents an integrated synthesis of the developments in the understanding of time in school learning and shows how this can have a dramatic impact on the process of schooling Families, Schools, and Primary-school Learning: Evidence for Argentina and Columbia in an International Perspective , Changing the School Learning Environment Jack Rimmel Frymier, Ronald Joekel, 2004 The No Child Left Behind Legislation by the federal government led to another round of emphasis on public schools resulting in a focus on school renewal or as often termed school reform The National Association of Secondary School Principals in the 1960s initiated a concept for school renewal called The Model Schools Project 1969 1974 The MSP was the culmination of much of the seminal thinking on school renewal of that era The project was directed by Dr J Lloyd Trump NASSP secretary for research and development and Dr William D Georgiades professor of Education at the University of Southern California After the MSP formally ended Georgiades continued to provide leadership for school renewal as president of a follow up consortium of schools and districts the Learning Environments Consortium International In Changing the School Learning Environment Jack Frymier and Ronald Joekel take a look at the key concepts of the Model Schools Project and what has transpired during the past 30 plus years Has it survived as initially conceived evolved into something meaningful for contemporary schools or failed as so many other innovations have done A survey of best educational practices stemming from the Model Schools Project that promote school renewal and how they are being utilized today are also presented and discussed Should appeal to educators and secondary school administrators Repositioning Out-of-School Learning Jo Rose, Tim Jay, Janet Goodall, Laura Mazzoli Smith, Liz Todd, 2022-01-21 The need for time flexibility and agility in research within out of school learning is highlighted throughout this multi disciplinary edited volume as each author reflects on how to make sense of the unknown and varied contexts in which out of school learning takes place Equitable and Inclusive School Education Bharti Kaushik, 2024-12-31 This book highlights the strategies and approaches to the practice of equitable and inclusive school education elaborating the role of various stakeholders such as teachers special educators parents peers teacher educators educational administrators and Ed tech firms The aim of this book is to create an understanding of equitable and inclusive school education which is not restricted to children with disabilities but also includes children with different learning needs as well as those from socially and economically disadvantaged sections of society The focus is on presenting practical strategies that are grounded in theory and supported with research The significance of screening at the classroom level development of need based accessible learning teaching materials customizing the pedagogy practices for inclusive classrooms need based examination accommodations leveraging the potential of Information and Communication Technology ICT to elicit the participation of all and collaborative efforts toward realizing the optimum potential of each learner are a few basic ideas illustrated in the book with examples The volume also discusses recent national and international policies for equitable and inclusive education recommending courses of action for effective implementation of the existing provisions by teachers and educators The book will be useful to students researchers teacher educators special educators special education teacher educators pre service

Attracting Science and Mathematics Ph.D.s to Secondary School Education Center for Education, Office of Scientific and Engineering Personnel Advisory Committee, Committee on Attracting Science and Mathematics Ph.D.s to Secondary School Teaching, 2000-08-16 The National Research Council conducted a study to identify a set of incentives that state governments and local school districts can use to attract Ph.D. scientists and mathematicians to secondary school teaching positions This project investigated the career ambitions of Ph.D.s in the physical and life sciences through focus groups and a national survey to determine the kinds of work conditions and compensation packages that would induce them to take positions teaching physics chemistry biology and various electives in public high schools or positions developing secondary school science and mathematics curricula The study conducted interviews with Ph D s who are already teaching in secondary schools to ascertain information from their experiences with local school district administrators to assess what they are realistically willing to offer Ph D scientists to attract them and with higher education administrators to explore programmatic changes they would need to institute to provide Ph D s with skills tailored to secondary school teaching These investigations led to this report which describes the incentives local school districts could use in establishing pilot programs in this area

Leadership in Diverse Learning Contexts Greer Johnson,Neil Dempster,2016-04-29 This book presents the outcomes of research and practical endeavour in some of the diverse contexts in which learning takes place classrooms schools professional development settings community projects and service sector agencies It invites the reader to engage with two related questions of contemporary concern in the leadership field What can we learn about the important influence of different contexts on leadership practice and how are people brought together as collective human agents in different patterns of distributive leadership In doing so this collection emphasises three of the critical concepts at play when leadership is viewed not as position but as activity The three concepts are purpose context and human agency When this view of leadership is understood it is always about achieving shared goals with people power no matter the circumstances in which they are gathered together

Language, Literacy, and Learning in Educational Practice Barry Stierer,Janet Maybin,1994 Language and literacy are highly contested areas of the curriculum Questions of what should be taught how it should be taught and who should control such decisions are increasingly subjected to public scrutiny debate and challenge in a manner which is often more reflection of competing social and political values than of theory and research evidence In recent years there has been a rapid development of new conceptual frameworks for understanding language literacy and learning from such diverse fields as anthropology cultural studies social psychology and critical linguistics The papers in this collection have been chosen because they will help readers to consider ways in which these new developments in theory and research may be applied to everyday practice
