IN CONGRESS. JULY 4th 1776.

The Declaration of the thirteen united States of America

We the Representatives of the thirteen united States of America, do hereby declare...

IN CONGRESS, 1776

The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America

When in the Course of human Events, it becomes necessary for one People to dissolve the political Bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the Powers of the earth, the separate and equal Station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent Respect to the Opinions of Mankind requires that they should declare the Causes which impel them to the Separation.

We hold these Truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these Rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just Powers from the Consent of the Governed, and that whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its Foundation on such Principles, and organizing its Powers in such Manner, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness.

Prudence, in such a Case, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient Causes; and accordingly all experienced Men of Sense and Goodness have understood that it is necessary that the same should be suffered to stand, until the Malices of the Form which they have adopted have been exhaustively tried. That the present Necessity has compelled the People to alter their first Form of Government, and to institute new Government, for the purpose of securing the Blessings of Liberty under the most equitable and advantageous Form, is the just Claim of the People to the Blessings of Liberty under the most equitable and advantageous Form, is the just Claim of the People to the Blessings of Liberty under the most equitable and advantageous Form.
