

Reading Strategies

Before Reading

Predict—Check out the headings, bold fonts, and any diagrams in a chapter. Skim it and guess what the chapter may be about.

During Reading

Question—Raise questions as you read. Write down words you don't know and look them up in the dictionary. Be skeptical about an author's claims; think of yourself as an investigator. Did the author prove what he or she said? How? Did the author write something you don't understand? Can you guess what he or she meant based on the context?

Visualize—Slowly read any parts where there are phrases with sensory details, such as sight, sound, touch, smell, and taste. Give yourself a second to imagine them in your own way.

Make Connections—Consider how you relate to the text you are reading. What does it make you think about from your life, work, or other readings, films, or media?

After Reading

Summarize—Write a few sentences on what an article, chapter, or passage was about to help you remember what you read.

React—How do you interpret the material? What is your response to the text? What is left to be desired? What did it show you? What more do you know or want to know about? Do you think the author is right or wrong? Why?

Research in English Language Teaching Mexican Perspectives Teacher research takes different forms and serves a variety of purposes but it is conducted by teachers individually or collaboratively with the basic aim of understanding teaching and learning in context. In Mexico, teacher research is starting to gain momentum and newcomers search for guidance and examples. This book can be used by English language teachers, teacher educators, and student teachers who want to develop their professional expertise by investigating learning and teaching in a systematic and organized way. It is also useful for undergraduate students of EFL teaching and applied linguistics who need to produce a thesis or experienced teachers who want to develop a research project for the first time. Research in English Language Teaching Mexican Perspectives combines basic general knowledge and practical advice with reports of research conducted in Mexican educational contexts. PART ONE offers an overview of research and discussion on the teaching research nexus and different ways to meet the challenges of doing research. PART TWO presents accounts of recent research in the national context written by teacher researchers working for different public higher education institutions. These accounts reflect diverse theoretical approaches, topics, methods of data collection and analysis, and styles of reporting. PART THREE includes basic guidelines to write the most common research genres: thesis, conference paper, and research article. The final section contains a glossary of research terms. Proceedings of the International Conference on Education, Humanities, and Management (ICEHUM 2022) Yaoping Liu, Saichol Chujuarjeen, 2023-04-25. This is an open access book. This event is co-organized by the Institute of Science Innovation and Culture (ISIC) and Research and Development Institute (RDI) Rajamangala University of Technology, Krungthep, Thailand. This year's ICEHUM 2022 was held online and onsite on 26 November 2022. The theme of this conference is Leading and Being Sustainable in the COVID-19 New Normal. This conference aspires to bring to light new standards, models, and reference guides that will help humanity rise above the challenges of COVID-19, leading men and women to embrace the new normal, no longer uncertain but living a sustainable existence.

Memory at Work in the Classroom: Strategies to Help Underachieving Students Francis Bailey, Ken Pransky, 2014-03-04. Why do some students struggle to understand and retain information while other students don't? The answer may well lie in the memory system, which is the root of all learning. In Memory at Work in the Classroom, Francis Bailey and Ken Pransky expertly guide you through the aspects of human memory most relevant to classroom teachers. Real classroom examples help to deepen your understanding of how memory systems play a central role in the learning process, as well as how culture plays a sometimes surprising role in memory formation and use. The memory systems covered in the book are Working Memory, the gateway to learning; Executive Function, the cognitive skills children need to independently orchestrate their memory systems in service to learning; Semantic Memory, the storehouse of a person's knowledge of the world including academic concepts and the part of the memory system most affected by culture Episodic Memory rich multisensory personal memories of specific events Autobiographical Memory one's sense of self tied directly to student motivation Although the techniques described apply to all students the authors concentrate on explaining the source of struggling students' academic challenges and provide effective strategies for helping students become better learners Whether you're a new or a veteran teacher this book will offer fresh insights into your students' learning difficulties and move you to explore classroom practices that align with the functioning of memory and the ways students learn

Thinking Skills and Creativity in Second Language Education Li

Li, 2019-06-26 Across the world, education is being restructured to include greater focus on developing critical and creative skills. In second language education, research suggests that cognition and language development are closely related. Yet despite increasing interest in the teaching of thinking skills, critical thinking has not been widely integrated into language teaching. Thinking Skills and Creativity in Second Language Education presents a range of investigations exploring the relationship between thinking skills and creativity and second language education. Focusing on cognitive, affective, social and emotional perspectives, this book highlights current research and raises questions that will set the direction for future research. Its aims are as follows: Provide an in-depth understanding of the link between second language development and thinking skills. Consider approaches to developing thinking skills in second language instruction. Examine practices in implementing thinking skills in second language learning.
