Reading Womens Lives Second Edition:

Helpmates, Harlots, and Heroes, Second Edition Alice Ogden Bellis, 2007-07-03 This best selling book now revised and updated shares the work of many feminist biblical scholars who have examined women's stories for several years. These stories are powerful accounts of women in the Old Testament stories that have profoundly affected how women understand themselves as well as men's perception of them. Here Alice Bellis shares the research of feminist biblical scholarship during a quarter of a century which renders a vast amount of refreshing, exciting, sometimes disturbing material. Academic Reading - Second Edition Janet Giltrow, 2002-03-21 This reader has been designed to accompany Giltrow's Academic Writing, one of the key principles of which is that there is a close connection between the processes of reading and of writing academic prose. Each reading is preceded by introductory commentary, questions and suggestions for discussion, and the book also includes a brief general introduction. As with Giltrow's Academic Writing, her Academic Reading is a challenging text. At its core are examples of actual academic writing of the sort that students must learn to deal with daily and to write themselves. As newcomers to the scholarly community, students can find that community's ways of reading and writing mysterious, unpredictable, and intimidating. Academic Reading demystifies the scholarly genres, shedding light on their discursive conventions. Throughout Academic Reading, respects the student writer, it engages the reader's interest without ever condescending, and it avoids entirely the arbitrary and the dogmatic. The second edition is expanded to include twenty-one selections, nineteen of which come from scholarly publications and more than half of which are new to this edition.

Reading Autobiography Sidonie Smith, Julia Watson, 2010-07-02 With the memoir boom, life storytelling has become ubiquitous and emerged as a distinct field of study. Reading Autobiography, originally published in 2001, was the first comprehensive critical introduction to life writing in all its forms. Widely adopted for undergraduate and graduate level courses, it is an essential guide for students and scholars reading and interpreting autobiographical texts and methods across the humanities, social sciences, and visual and performing arts. Thoroughly updated, the second edition of Reading Autobiography is the most complete assessment of life narrative in its myriad forms. It lays out a sophisticated theoretical approach to life writing and the components of autobiographical acts, including memory, experience, identity, embodiment, space, and agency. Sidonie Smith and Julia Watson explore these components, review the history of life writing, and the foundations of autobiographical subjectivity, and provide a toolkit for working with twenty-three key concepts. Their survey of innovative forms of life writing, such as autographics and installation self-portraiture, charts recent shifts in autobiographical practice. Especially useful for courses are the appendices, a glossary covering dozens of distinct genres of life writing, proposals for group and classroom projects, and an extensive bibliography. Staging Women's Lives in Academia Michelle A. Massé, Nan Bauer-Maglin, 2017-01-12 Staging Women's Lives in Academia demonstrates how ostensibly personal decisions are shaped by institutions and advocates for ways that workplaces, not women, must be changed. Addressing life stages ranging from graduate school through retirement these essays represent a gamut of institutions and women who draw upon both personal experience and scholarly expertise The contributors contemplate the slipperiness of the very categories we construct to explain the stages of life and ask key questions such as what does it mean to be a graduate student at fifty Or a full professor at thirty five The book explores the ways women in all stages of academia feel that they are always too young or too old too attentive to work or too overly focused on family By including the voices of those who leave as well as those who stay this collection signals the need to rebuild the house of academia so that women can have not only classrooms of their own but also lives of their own

Reading the Bible outside the Church David G. Ford, 2018-07-12 In many places in the Western world churchgoing is in decline and it cannot be assumed that people have a good grasp of the Bible's content In this evolving situation how would the person on the street read the Bible Reading the Bible Outside the Church begins to answer this question David Ford spent ten months at a chemical industrial plant providing non churchgoing men with the opportunity to read and respond to five different biblical texts Using an in depth qualitative methodology he charts how their prior experiences of religion sense of non religious identity attitudes towards the Bible and beliefs about the Bible all shaped the readings that occurred

On Reading Prophetic Texts Dijkstra, Bob Prof. Dr. Becking, 2021-09-06 The articles in this volume have been written in memory of the feminist biblical scholar Fokkeli van Dijk Hemmes who died at the early age of 50 The authors endeavour to continue and advance the dialogue with her by evaluating and interacting with her scholarly legacy Their concern is with various aspects of her work on the Hebrew Bible and they respond in particular to the feminist hermeneutics she developed for reading biblical texts Several articles test her method in application to specific prophetic texts Other contributions focus on aspects of the role of women in the cults of
