

Reader-Response Criticism

- Reader-response theory has been criticized as being overly impressionistic and guilty of the affective fallacy (too focused on the emotional effect of the work). Less tactful critics have plainly said that it is not intellectual.
- These attacks resulted in an adaptation of reader-response criticism called reception theory.

Readings Acts Of Close Reading In Literary Theory:

Readings Julian Wolfreys, 2000 Through a series of short essays Readings traces the consideration given to the act of close reading in literary criticism and theory over the last thirty years Focusing on short passages from a number of critical works including those by Barthes Cixous de Man Derrida Foucault Kristeva Lacan and J Hillis Miller amongst others the essays enact close readings of the trope of reading its movements and performances in each of the passages in question so as to offer a more detailed comprehension of the nature of reading and the ways in which critical thinking has transformed our understanding of what it means to read Readings addresses in a lively and engaging manner the varying rhythms and articulations made possible through the careful tracing of the process of critical reading which literary theory has made available

Close Reading New Media Jan van Looy, Jan Baetens, 2003 Close Reading New Media is the first publication to apply the method of close analysis to new media Since the early nineteen nineties electronic art and literature have continually gained importance in artistic and academic circles Significant critical and theoretical attention has been paid to how new media allow the text to break traditional power relations and boundaries The passive reader becomes an active participant choosing his own path and assembling not just his own interpretation of the text level of the signified but also his own text level of the signifier Texts no longer have a beginning or an ending being a web of interlinked nodes The decentered nature of electronic text empowers and invites the reader to take part in the literary process Poststructuralist theorists predicted a total liberation of textual restrictions imposed by the medium of print However while these are culturally significant claims little attention has been paid to their realization The goal of this volume is twofold Our aim is to shed light on how ideas and theories have been translated into concrete works and we want to comment on the process of close reading and how it can be applied to electronic literature While all contributions deal with particular works their aim is always to provide insight into how electronic fiction and new media can be read This book proposes close readings of work by Mark Amerika Darren Aronofsky M D Coverley Raymond Federman Shelley Jackson Rick Pryll Geoff Ryman and Stephanie Strickland

Elizabeth Bowen and the Writing of Trauma Jessica Gildersleeve, 2014-02-15 Elizabeth Bowen and the Writing of Trauma analyses the treatment of memory and the past in Bowen's writing through the lens of trauma theory It draws on the theories of Jacques Derrida H l ne Cixous Julia Kristeva Sigmund Freud and Cathy Caruth to propose that Bowen's work is best understood through the psychological narratological and linguistic effects of trauma in her fiction Bowen's writing complicates existing deconstructive and psychoanalytic models of trauma and literature and testifies to the responsibility of survival and the ethics of bearing witness

Formalist Criticism and Reader-Response Theory Todd Davis, Kenneth Womack, 2018-03-24 This invaluable guide by Todd F Davis and Kenneth Womack offers an accessible introduction to two important movements in the history of twentieth century literary theory A complementary text to the Palgrave volume Postmodern Narrative Theory by Mark Currie this new title addresses a host of theoretical concerns as well as each field's principal figures and interpretive modes. As with other books in the Transitions series, Formalist Criticism and Reader Response Theory includes readings of a range of widely studied texts including Joseph Conrad's Heart of Darkness, Charlotte Brontë's Jane Eyre and F. Scott Fitzgerald's The Great Gatsby among others. Transitions critically explores movements in literary theory, guiding the reader through the poetics and politics of interpretative paradigms and schools of thought. Transitions helps direct the student's own acts of critical analysis, as well as transforming the critical developments of the past by interpreting them from the perspective of the present day. Each study enacts transitional readings of a number of well-known literary texts.

The Aesthetics of Children's Poetry Katherine Wakely-Mulroney, Louise Joy, 2017-11-01 This collection gives sustained attention to the literary dimensions of children's poetry from the eighteenth century to the present. While reasserting the importance of well-known voices such as those of Isaac Watts, William Blake, Lewis Carroll, Christina Rossetti, A. A. Milne, and Carol Ann Duffy, the contributors also reflect on the aesthetic significance of landmark works by less frequently celebrated figures such as Richard Johnson, Ann and Jane Taylor, Cecil Frances Alexander, and Michael Rosen. Scholarly treatment of children's poetry has tended to focus on its publication history rather than to explore what comprises and why we delight in its idiosyncratic pleasures. And yet arguments about how and why poetic language might appeal to the child are embroiled in the history of children's poetry, whether in Isaac Watts emphasising the didactic efficacy of like sounds, William Blake and the Taylor sisters revelling in the beauty of semantic ambiguity, or the authors of nonsense verse jettisoning sense to thrill their readers with the sheer music of poetry. Alive to the ways in which recent debates both echo and repudiate those conducted in earlier periods, The Aesthetics of Children's Poetry investigates the stylistic and formal means through which children's poetry in theory and in practice negotiates the complicated demands we have made of it through the ages.

Reading in Proust's A la recherche Adam Watt, 2009-06-18 Adam Watt's critical study of Proust's A la recherche du temps perdu focuses on the role of the acts of reading depicted in the seminal novel. Reading is shown to be a formative and often troubling force in the life of the novel's narrator.

Literature as an Art Form - Evolving Intermedial Literary Landscape Asunción López-Varela Azcárate, 2025-07-02 Literature as an Art Form: Evolving Intermedial Literary Landscape brings together sixteen scholarly contributions that explore literature's ongoing transformation across media, cultures, and technologies. This anthology traces the dynamic interplay between literature and visual, sonic, performative, and algorithmic forms, ranging from illuminated manuscripts and oral traditions to digital texts and anime. Rejecting the notion of literature as a fixed verbal art, the chapters highlight its status as a transmedial, evolving practice shaped by and shaping the environments in which it is situated. Each essay examines how literature migrates across modalities, revealing it as a mutable process of technopoiesis. Together, they offer a compelling vision of literature not as an autonomous artefact but as a fluid cultural phenomenon whose conditions of existence are inseparable from intermedial exchange.

The T. S. Eliot Studies Annual John D. Morgenstern, Julia E. Daniel, Frances Dickey, 2023-06-17 The T. S. Eliot Studies Annual is the leading venue for the critical reassessment of Eliot's life and work in light of the ongoing publication of his letters critical volumes of his complete prose the new edition of his complete poems and the forthcoming critical edition of his plays All critical approaches are welcome as are essays pertaining to any aspect of Eliot's work as a poet critic playwright or editor John D Morgenstern General Editor Editorial Advisory Board Ronald Bush University of Oxford David E Chinitz Loyola University Chicago Anthony Cuda University of North Carolina Greensboro Robert Crawford University of St Andrews Frances Dickey University of Missouri John Haffenden University of Sheffield Benjamin G Lockerd Grand Valley State University Gail McDonald Goldsmiths University of London Gabrielle McIntire Queen's University Jahan Ramazani University of Virginia Christopher Ricks Boston University Ronald Schuchard Emory University Vincent Sherry Washington University at St Louis

Writing After Postcolonialism Jane Hiddleston, 2017-09-21 Focusing on francophone writing from North Africa as it has developed since the 1980s Writing After Postcolonialism explores the extent to which the notion of postcolonialism is still resonant for literary writers a generation or more after independence and examines the troubled status of literature in society and politics during this period Whilst analysing the ways in which writers from Algeria Morocco and Tunisia have reacted to political unrest and social dissatisfaction Jane Hiddleston offers a compelling reflection on literature's ability to interrogate the postcolonial nation as well as on its own uncertain role in the current context The book sets out both to situate the recent generation of francophone writers in North Africa in relation to contemporary politics to postcolonial theory and evolving notions of world literature and to probe the ways in which a new and highly sophisticated set of writers reflect on the very notion of the literary during this period of transition

Dynamic Reading Brooke Holmes, W. H. Shearin, 2012-05-08 Dynamic Reading examines the reception history of Epicureanism in the West focusing in particular on the ways in which it has provided conceptual tools for defining how we read and respond to texts art and the world more generally
