Reading the Literature Experience:

Reading Black Books Claude Atcho, 2022-05-17 Learning from Black voices means listening to more than snippets It means attending to Black stories Reading Black Books helps Christians hear and learn from enduring Black voices and stories as captured in classic African American literature Pastor and teacher Claude Atcho offers a theological approach to 10 seminal texts of 20th century African American literature Each chapter takes up a theological category for inquiry through a close literary reading and theological reflection on a primary literary text from Ralph Ellison's Invisible Man and Richard Wright's Native Son to Zora Neale Hurston's Moses Man of the Mountain and James Baldwin's Go Tell It on the Mountain The book includes end of chapter discussion questions Reading Black Books helps readers of all backgrounds learn from the contours of Christian faith formed and forged by Black stories and it spurs continued conversations about racial justice in the church It demonstrates that reading about Black experience as shown in the literature of great African American writers can guide us toward sharper theological thinking and more faithful living

A Psychoanalytic Perspective on Reading Literature Merav Roth, 2019-08-14 What are the unconscious processes involved in reading literature How does literature influence our psychological development and existential challenges A Psychoanalytic Perspective on Reading Literature offers a unique glimpse into the unconscious psychic processes and development involved in reading The author listens to the free associations of various literary characters in numerous scenarios where the characters are themselves reading literature thus revealing the mysterious ways in which reading literature helps us and contributes to our development The book offers an introduction both to classic literature Poe Proust Sartre Sempr n Pessoa Agnon and more and to the major psychoanalytic concepts that can be used in reading it all described and widely explained before being used as tools for interpreting the literary illustrations The book thus offers a rich lexical psychoanalytic source alongside its main aim in analysing the reader's psychological mechanisms and development Psychoanalytic interpretation of those literary readers opens three main avenues to the reader's experience the transference relations toward the literary characters the literary work as means to transcend beyond the reader's self identity and existential boundaries and mobilization of internal dialectic tensions towards new integration and psychic equilibrium An Epilogue concludes by emphasising the transformational power embedded in reading literature The fascinating dialogue between literature and psychoanalysis illuminates hitherto concealed aspects of each discipline and contributes to new insights in both fields A Psychoanalytic Perspective on Reading Literature will be of great interest not only to psychoanalytic psychotherapists and literature scholars but also to a wider readership beyond these areas of study

Reading, Literature, and Psychology in Action Philip Davis, Rhiannon Corcoran, Josie Billington, Arthur Frank, 2023-06-23 Psychology in Action is a term coined by the Guest Editors from the Centre for Research into Reading Literature and Society CRILS University of Liverpool in their work in filming recording and analyzing shared reading groups led by The Reader organization It refers both to the work of psychology within literary texts and to the responses of multifarious reader participants to literature read live and aloud in small community groups within a variety of settings In particular psychology in action has meant seeing readers suddenly activated into deep personal thinking responding to situations imaginatively simulated by reading literature in ways that trigger surprised and involuntary emotion autobiographical memory and spontaneous empathy Reading Our Lives William L. Randall, Elizabeth McKim, 2008-06-03 Against the background of Socrates insight that the unexamined life is not worth living Reading Our Lives The Poetics of Growing Old investigates the often overlooked inside dimensions of aging Despite popular portrayals of mid and later life as entailing inevitable decline this book looks at aging as potentially a process of poiesis a creative endeavor of fashioning meaning from the ever accumulating texts memories and reflections that constitute our inner worlds At its center is the conviction that although we are constantly reading our lives to some degree anyway doing so in a mindful matter is critical to our development in the second half of life Drawing on research in numerous disciplines affected by the so called narrative turn including cognitive psychology neuroscience and the psychology of aging authors Randall and McKim articulate a vision of aging that promises to accommodate such time honored concepts as wisdom and spirituality one that understands aging as a matter not merely of getting old but of consciously growing old Why Reading Books Still Matters Martha C. Pennington, Robert P. Waxler, 2017-08-29 Bringing together strands of public discourse about valuing personal achievement at the expense of social values and the impacts of global capitalism mass media and digital culture on the lives of children this book challenges the potential of science and business to solve the world s problems without a complementary emphasis on social values The selection of literary works discussed illustrates the power of literature and human arts to instill such values and foster change The book offers a valuable foundation for the field of literacy education by providing knowledge about the importance of language and literature that educators can use in their own teaching and advocacy work The Digital Reading Condition Maria Engberg, Iben Have, Birgitte Stougaard Pedersen, 2022-12-30 This volume offers a critical overview of digital reading practices and scholarly efforts to analyze and understand reading in the mediatized landscape Building on research about digital reading born digital literature and digital audiobooks The Digital Reading Condition explores reading as part of a broader cultural shift encompassing many forms of media and genres Bringing together research from media and literary studies digital humanities scholarship on reading and learning as well as sensory studies and research on multimodal and multisensory media reception the authors address and challenge print biased conceptions of reading that are still prevalent in research whether the reading medium is print or digital They argue that the act of reading itself is changing and rather than rejecting digital media as unsuitable for sustained or focused reading practices they argue that the complex media landscape challenges us to rethink how to define reading as a mediated practice Presenting a truly interdisciplinary perspective on digital reading practices this volume will appeal to scholars and graduate students in communication media studies new media and technology literature digital humanities literacy studies composition and rhetoric Literatures of the World and the Future of Comparative Literature ,2023-08-14 The 2019 congress of the International Comparative Literature Association attracted many hundreds of scholars from all around the world to Macau This volume contains a modest selection of papers to discuss the four hottest fields of the discipline the future of comparison the position of national and diaspora literature in the context of globalization the importance of translation and the concepts of world literature The contributions cover huge geographical and cultural areas but pay special attention to the connections between Western both American and European and Asian especially Indian and East Asian literatures The literatures of the world might be different but they are also connected Focus on Reading Walch,Walch Publishing,2002 Reading Home Cultures Through Books Kirsti Salmi-Niklander,Marija Dalbello,2022-02-27 This wide ranging comparative and multidisciplinary collection addresses the significance of books in creating the idea of home The chapters present cases that reveal the affective and sensory dimensions of books and reading in the practice of everyday life of individuals in communities and in society The complex relationship of books reading and home is explored through American and European case studies both in bourgeois and middle class homes and in working class and immigrant families and communities with limited possibilities for reading The volume combines the conceptions and representations of domesticity the materiality of reading and library as a place drawing on book history and material culture studies as well as anthropology and sociology of the home Cognitive principles, critical practice: Reading literature at university Susanne Reichl,2009-09-16 This enquiry into the principles and practice of reading literature brings together insights from cognitive studies literary theory empirical literature studies learning and teaching research and higher education research Reading is conceptualised as an active process of meaning making that is determined by subjective as well as contextual factors and guided by a sense of purpose This sense of purpose part of a professional and conscious approach to reading is the central element in the model of reading that this study proposes As well as a conceptual aim this model also has pedagogical power and serves as the basis for a number of critical and creative exercises geared towards developing literary reading strategies and strategic reading competences in general These activities demonstrate how the main tenets of the study can be put into practice within the context of a particular institution of higher education
