examines the circumstances under which aid can contribute to the management and transformation of intra state conflicts How and when do insurgents govern How does the presence of aid and social services influence how insurgents govern Under what circumstances can aid contribute to the management and transformation of civil wars The established literature in this area argues that aid exacerbates civil wars where resources are scarce as greedy rebels steal resources for themselves This book however argues that under certain conditions such greed can be good Drawing on primary research from three very different conflicts Northern Ireland 1969 1998 southern Sudan 1983 2005 and Tajikistan 1992 1997 and more than 10 years experience working in and researching humanitarian crises this study breaks new ground through its wide ranging comparison of conflicts The book argues that insurgent efforts to reap rewards from aid and social services have in turn facilitated organizational changes and that these changes while they may have had conflict enhancing effects in the short term have also contributed to conflict transformation over the long term This book will be of much interest to students of insurgencies civil wars comparative politics conflict management humanitarian emergencies public health and IR Security Studies in general

Refugees and Forced Displacement in Northern Ireland's Troubles Niall

Gilmartin, Brendan Ciarán Browne, 2022-10-15 Though forced displacement constituted a central and pervasive feature of the Northern Ireland Troubles effecting tens of thousands of citizens remarkably it has been afforded little more than a footnote or fleeting reference in most accounts of the conflict This book seeks to end the silence surrounding this neglected and ubiquitous aspect of the conflict Based on 88 in depth qualitative interviews with victims and survivors and extensive secondary research this fascinating study provides the first comprehensive examination of forced displacement in Northern Ireland The analysis presented captures the unique perspectives of those forcibly uprooted over the course of the 30 year conflict and places on historical record their stories and experiences This thought provoking work challenges and broadens prevailing understandings of conflict related violence harm and loss in Northern Ireland to demonstrate the centrality of forced movement territory and demographics to the roots and subsequent trajectory of the Troubles In doing so it shows that to fully understand the eruption and outplaying of the Troubles and its elusive peace engagement with and understanding of the legacy of forced displacement is crucial

Springvale Educational Village Project Great Britain. Northern Ireland Audit Office, Northern Ireland: Northern Ireland Audit Office, 2006-11-30 The project to build a higher education campus at Springvale in Belfast was first proposed in 1993 and in 1997 the University of Ulster and the Belfast Institute for Further and Higher Education submitted a joint proposal to the Department of Education in Northern Ireland to build three educational facilities on the site including a campus for 3 000 students covering higher and future education courses This project was designed to develop partnerships between educational providers and local communities to address the particular educational cultural and social needs of West and North Belfast as well as benefiting Northern Ireland in general It was also intended to promote regeneration in an area marked by significant economic and social deprivation and educational underachievement

However in October 2002 the University announced its withdrawal from the project due to financial concerns over its affordability At this point over nine million pounds had been spent on the project with one of the three planned facilities a community outreach centre built and functional This NIAO report examines the development and management of the project to identify lessons to be drawn for the future and overall it concludes that given the length of time spent developing this project and the major public and private funding commitments involved it should have been handled much better particularly in terms of risk management Key lessons highlighted include the need for an agreed and clear strategic vision from the outset a single independent body established to oversee project management where two or more institutions are involved and better communication with local communities on the risks involved to promote realistic community expectations

Where Grieving Begins Patrick Magee,2021-02-20 An enduring peace is only possible through a genuine understanding of the past To understand the Troubles is to set them in the context of the historical root causes of the conflict in order to grapple with its pain and its horrors to grieve and then perhaps to heal This is the memoir of Patrick Magee the man who planted the 1984 Brighton bomb an attempt by the Provisional IRA to kill the British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and her cabinet In an unflinching reckoning with the past Magee recounts the events of his life He chronicles the profound experience of meeting Jo Berry whose father was one of five people killed in the bombing and the extraordinary work they have done together A chasm of misunderstanding endures around the Troubles and the history of British rule in Ireland This memoir builds a bridge to a common understanding It is written in the belief that anything is possible when there is honesty inclusion and dialogue
