Road Traffic 2006:

Global Status Report on Road Safety 2015 World Health Organization, 2015-12-17 The Global status report on road safety 2015 reflecting information from 180 countries indicates that worldwide the total number of road traffic deaths has plateaued at 1.25 million per year with the highest road traffic fatality rates in low income countries. In the last three years 17 countries have aligned at least one of their laws with best practice on seat belts, drink driving, speed, motorcycle helmets or child restraints. While there has been progress towards improving road safety legislation and in making vehicles safer, the report shows that the pace of change is too slow. Urgent action is needed to achieve the ambitious target for road safety reflected in the newly adopted 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development: halving the global number of deaths and injuries from road traffic crashes by 2020. Made possible through funding from Bloomberg Philanthropies, this report is the third in the series and provides a snapshot of the road safety situation globally, highlighting the gaps and the measures needed to best drive progress. Publisher's description: European Status Report on Road Safety Francesco Zambon, Dinesh Sethi, Francesca Racioppi, 2009 This report presents the status of road safety in the WHO European Region and provides a baseline assessment of how far 49 countries have come in implementing the recommendations of the World Report on Road Traffic Injury Prevention. In the Region, road crashes result annually in 120,000 deaths, 2.4 million injuries and a great economic burden which may be up to 3% of a country's gross domestic product. Road traffic injuries are the leading cause of death among people 5-29 years old. Vulnerable road users such as pedestrians, cyclists and users of motorized two wheelers constitute 39% of all road traffic injury fatalities, with pedestrians being more at risk in the eastern part of the Region. Countries differ greatly in mortality rates for road traffic injuries: the average in low and middle income countries is twice that in high income countries. Countries' policy responses in providing road safety for their citizens have differed. This report proposes the following areas of action: narrow the gap between countries with the lowest and highest mortality rates; provide better protection for vulnerable road users; develop a well resourced multisectoral road safety strategy in each country; design and enforce comprehensive legislation and develop and implement healthier transport policies. In addition, country profiles on the current status of road safety are presented for the 49 participating countries. Criminal Litigation Maura Butler, 2012 The manual covers each step of the criminal litigation process from the initial investigation of a crime through to the conclusion of a case, looking at the practice and procedure in the District and Superior Courts from both a prosecution and defence perspective. It provides succinct practical advice to trainee solicitors and practitioners. Urban Transport in the Developing World Harry T. Dimitriou, Ralph Gakenheimer, 2011-01-01 Policy making for urban transport and planning of economies in the developing world present major challenges for countries facing rapid urbanisation and rampant motorisation alongside growing commitments to sustainability. These challenges include coping with financial deficits, providing for the poor, dealing meaningfully with global warming and energy shortages, addressing traffic congestion and related land use issues adopting green technologies and adjusting equitably to the impacts of globalisation This book presents a contemporary analysis of these challenges and new workable responses to the urban transport problems they spawn

Red Tape Robin Ellison, 2018-06-14 Red Tape tells the sometimes astonishing story of the making of laws both good and bad the recent explosion in rule making and the failure of repeated attempts to rationalise the statute books even governments themselves are concerned about the increasing number and complexity of our laws Society requires the rule of law but the rule of too much law means that the general public faces frustrating excesses created by overzealous regulators and lawmakers Robin Ellison reveals the failure of repeated attempts to limit the number and complexity of new laws and the expansion of regulators He challenges the legislature to introduce fewer yet better laws and regulators by encouraging lawmakers to adopt practices which improve the efficiency of the law and the lives of everyone Too much law leads to frustration for all Red Tape is a long overdue expos of our legal system for practitioners and consumers alike

Transport Policy and Planning in Great Britain Peter Headicar, 2009-04-08 A critical overview of the nature evolution and contemporary challenges of transport policy and planning at the national and local scale while expanding on procedural mechanisms and forging much needed links with the related discipline of spatial planning

World Report on Child Injury Prevention M. M. Peden, 2008 Child injuries are largely absent from child survival initiatives presently on the global agenda Through this report the World Health Organization the United Nations Children s Fund and many partners have set out to elevate child injury to a priority for the global public health and development communities It should be seen as a complement to the UN Secretary General s study on violence against children released in late 2006 that report addressed violence related or intentional injuries Both reports suggest that child injury and violence prevention programs need to be integrated into child survival and other broad strategies focused on improving the lives of children Evidence demonstrates the dramatic successes in child injury prevention in countries which have made a concerted effort These results make a case for increasing investments in human resources and institutional capacities Implementing proven interventions could save more than a thousand children s lives a day p vii
