institutional arrangements have led to a transformed agricultural sector effectively contributing to poverty alleviation and addressing malnutrition The great majority of national policymakers within and outside the Asia Pacific region are keen to understand the causes of agricultural development and transformation in successful countries in Asia A large number of studies have been conducted and some of them link specific public policies and interventions to successful agricultural transformation However there seems to be lack of focus on the policy legislative and institutional environments that have enabled or impeded agricultural transformation in Asia National policymakers are likely to benefit significantly from adequate and convincing information on successful and relevant experiences in successful transformation Countries are interested in what their neighbours and peers have done and why some have achieved impressive results The main purpose of this study is to take stock of public sector experiences in facilitating and enabling agricultural transformation in selected countries in Asia The study focuses on key public sector interventions in particular policies legislation and institutional innovations because these areas have so far not been adequately researched

Orri Stefánsson,2021-09-09 The main aim of this Element is to introduce the topic of limited awareness and changes in awareness to those interested in the philosophy of decision making and uncertain reasoning While it has long been of interest to economists and computer scientists this topic has only recently been subject to philosophical investigation Indeed at first sight limited awareness seems to evade any systematic treatment it is beyond the uncertainty that can be managed On the one hand an agent has no control over what contingencies she is and is not aware of at a given time and any awareness growth takes her by surprise On the other hand agents apparently learn to identify the situations in which they are more and less likely to experience limited awareness and subsequent awareness growth How can these two sides be reconciled That is the puzzle we confront in this Element      Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications ,1998-07
