Great North American Stage Directors Volume 7 James Peck, 2024-01-25 This volume focuses on three artists who embrace media and technology as essential elements of their theatrical expression Elizabeth LeCompte Ping Chong and Robert Lepage Diverse in their aesthetic interests they nevertheless share an approach to directing that includes technological media on stage as central to a rigorously crafted production concept Technological elements live alongside and negotiate with the theatre's human players disclosing shaping and even intruding on the dramas they enact The essays in this volume explore how all three directors have provided decisive responses to a question that has dogged the theatre for at least the last century what relationship can theatre an art form grounded in live ephemeral expression have to technology The Great North American Stage Directors series provides an authoritative account of the art of directing in need to be trained What do directors actually do These questions and more are answered in this accessibly written survey of the art of theatre direction Its broad scope ranges across the theatres of both America and Europe looking at practices from Stanislavski up to the present day Intermediality and Spectatorship in the Theatre Work of Robert Lepage Aristita I. Albacan, 2016-09-23 Robert Lepage has imposed himself in the past three decades as a Wunderkind of contemporary theatre with eagerly awaited and widely acclaimed productions at the most prestigious theatre festivals and venues around the world Soon after his international breakthrough with The Dragon's Trilogy 1984 Lepage's work became an object of particular scrutiny for critics and scholars and continues to be subject to media exposure inspiring cultural critique academic study and the admiration of audiences across the world A recurrent fascination with the formal novelty of his theatrical approach imbues most if not all critical considerations However in spite of the wide interest provoked little space has been devoted to the quintessential impact of his work on spectatorship and most importantly to connecting the dots between his creative practice and its substantial impact on audiences Intermediality and Spectatorship in the Theatre Work of Robert Lepage bridges this gap by exploring the notion that intermediality observed both as a mise en scene strategy and a perceptual effect in performance is situated at the core of the director's approach This approach is situated in direct relation to the evolving expectations and medial competencies of spectators demonstrating an in depth understanding of the ways in which different media can be engaged in the creative process in a holistic way in order to alter the regime of spectatorship to enhance its creative and cognitive potential Lepage's work and theatre making process are analysed here from an interdisciplinary perspective that combines theatre media and cultural studies and which is applied to his solo shows namely Vinci 1986 Needles and Opium 1991 Elsinore 1995 Far Side of the Moon 2000 and Project Andersen 2005 In bringing to the forefront interconnecting notions of intermediality and contemporary spectatorship the book highlights the director's preoccupation with an ongoing dialogue with audiences across the world and their particular involvement in the development of one of the most innovative practices of the Western theatre landscape Shakespeare in Succession Michael Saenger, Sergio Costola, 2023-02-15 It may certainly be said that nothing can be assumed about Shakespeare on the one hand the Elizabethan poet seems to be thriving with more editions productions studies and translations appearing every year on the other hand in a time of global crisis and decolonization the question of why Shakespeare is relevant at all is now more pertinent than ever Shakespeare in Succession approaches the question of relevance by positioning Shakespeare as a participant as well as an object of adaptive translation a labour that has always mediated between the foreign and the domestic between the past and the present between the arcane and the urgent The volume situates Shakespeare on a continuum of transfers that can be understood from cultural spatial temporal or linguistic points of view by studying how the text of Shakespeare is transformed into other languages and examining Shakespeare himself as a kind of translator of previous times older stories and prior theatrical and linguistic systems Contending with the poet's contemporary fate Shakespeare in Succession asks how Shakespeare's work can be offered to the multicultural present in which we live and how we might relate our position to that of the iconic writer
