too sick to press on but Speke did and claimed he found the source in a great lake that he christened Lake Victoria When they returned to England Speke rushed to take credit disparaging Burton Burton disputed his claim and Speke launched another expedition to Africa to prove it The two became venomous enemies with the public siding with the more charismatic Burton to Speke s great envy The day before they were to publicly debate Speke shot himself Yet there was a third man on both expeditions his name obscured by imperial annals whose exploits were even more extraordinary This was Sidi Mubarak Bombay who was enslaved and shipped from his home village in East Africa to India When the man who purchased him died he made his way into the local Sultan s army and eventually traveled back to Africa where he used his resourcefulness linguistic prowess and raw courage to forge a living as a guide Without Bombay and men like him who led carried and protected the expedition neither Englishman would have come close to the headwaters of the Nile or perhaps even survived In River of the Gods Candice Millard has written another peerless story of courage and adventure set against the backdrop of the race to exploit Africa by the colonial powers
