Robben Island Symbol Of Resistance:

Robben Island Barbara Hutton,2000 The Island Harriet Deacon,1996 Robben Island is a low lying outcrop of rock and sand guarding the entrance to South Africa s Table Bay Although it is just a few kilometres long and a barely swimmable distance from Cape Town it may well be the most significant historical site in South Africa today Emotions Monica Greco,Paul Stenner,2013-10-31 Are emotions becoming more conspicuous in contemporary life Are the social sciences undergoing an an affective turn This Reader gathers influential and contemporary work in the study of emotion and affective life from across the range of the social sciences Drawing on both theoretical and empirical research the collection offers a sense of the diversity of perspectives that have emerged over the last thirty years from a variety of intellectual traditions Its wide span and trans disciplinary character is designed to capture the increasing significance of the study of affect and emotion for the social sciences and to give a sense of how this is played out in the context of specific areas of interest The volume is divided into four main parts universals and particulars of affect embodying affect political economies of affect affect power and justice Each main part comprises three sections dedicated to substantive themes including emotions history and civilization emotions and culture emotions selfhood and identity emotions and the media emotions and politics emotions space and place with a final section dedicated to themes of compassion hate and terror Each of the twelve sections begins with an editorial introduction that contextualizes the readings and highlights points of comparison across the volume Cross national in content the collection provides an introduction to the key debates concepts and modes of approach that have been developed by social scientist for the study of emotion and affective life The Hidden History of South Africa's Book and Reading Cultures Archie L. Dick,2012-01-01 The Hidden History of South Africa s Book and Reading Cultures shows how the common practice of reading can illuminate the social and political history of a culture This ground breaking study reveals resistance strategies in the reading and writing practices of South Africans strategies that have been hidden until now for political reasons relating to the country s liberation struggles By looking to records from a slave lodge women s associations army education units universities courts libraries prison departments and political groups Archie Dick exposes the key works of fiction and non fiction magazines and newspapers that were read and discussed by political activists and prisoners Uncovering the book and library schemes that elites used to regulate reading Dick exposes incidences of intellectual fraud book theft censorship and book burning Through this innovative methodology Dick aptly shows how South African readers used reading and books to resist unjust regimes and build community across South Africa s class and racial barriers The Man Who Killed Apartheid: The Life of Dimitri Tsafendas Harris Dousemetzis,2024-03-04 On 6 September 1966 inside the House of Assembly in Cape Town Dimitri Tsafendas stabbed to death Hendrik Verwoerd South Africa s Prime Minister and so called architect of apartheid Tsafendas was immediately arrested and before he had even been questioned by the authorities they declared him a madman without any political motive for the killing In the Cape Supreme Court Tsafendas was found unfit to stand trial on the grounds that he suffered from schizophrenia and that he had no political motive for killing Verwoerd Tsafendas spent the next 28 years in custody making him the longest serving detainee in South African history For most of his incarnation he was subjected to cruel and inhumane treatment by the prison authorities From 2009 to 2018 Harris Dousemetzis extensively researched the assassination of Verwoerd and the life of Tsafendas For this research he travelled to South Africa Mozambique Greece France and Turkey and interviewed about 150 people who either knew Tsafendas or Verwoerd or were involved with the case of the assassination He discovered about 12 000 pages of documents on the case most of them previously unpublished in archival collections in South Africa Portugal and the UK Dousemetzis collaborated with prominent South African jurists psychiatrists and psychologists and concluded his research by writing the Report to the Minister of Justice in the Matter of Dr Verwoerd s Assassination The report conclusively proved that Tsafendas had assassinated Verwoerd for political reasons and that the apartheid authorities had orchestrated a massive operation to declare him insane and apolitical This ground breaking report and this book corrected the historical record regarding Verwoerd s assassination and Tsafendas The Man Who Killed Apartheid based on Dousemetzis s groundbreaking research chronicles in detail Tsafendas s life and conclusively demonstrates that he was a perfectly sane and deeply political person with a long history of political activism At the same time the book exposes the lie at the heart of apartheid s posture on the assassination of Hendrik Verwoerd and provides a rare picture of how the racist regime operated and what it was like to live and die under apartheid

Commemorating and Forgetting Martin J. Murray, 2013-04-25 When the past is painful as riddled with violence and injustice as it is in postapartheid South Africa remembrance presents a problem at once practical and ethical how much of the past to preserve and recollect and how much to erase and forget if the new nation is to ever unify and move forward The new South Africa s confrontation of this dilemma is Martin J Murray s subject in Commemorating and Forgetting More broadly this book explores how collective memory works how framing events persons and places worthy of recognition and honor entails a selective appropriation of the past not a mastery of history How is the historical past made to appear in the present In addressing these questions Murray reveals how collective memory is stored and disseminated in architecture statuary monuments and memorials literature and art landscapes of remembrance that selectively recall and even fabricate history in the service of nation building He examines such vehicles of memory in postapartheid South Africa and parses the stories they tell stories by turn sanitized distorted embellished and compressed In this analysis Commemorating and Forgetting marks a critical move toward recognizing how the legacies and impositions of white minority rule far from being truly past remain embedded in intertwined with and imprinted on the new nation s here and now

Prison Writing and the Literary World Michelle Kelly, Claire Westall, 2020-10-27 Prison Writing and the Literary World tackles international prison writing and writing about imprisonment in relation to questions of literary representation and formal aesthetics the value or values of literature textual censorship and circulation institutional networks and literary critical methodologies It offers scholarly essays exploring prison writing in relation to wartime internment political imprisonment resistance and independence creation regimes of terror and personal narratives of development and awakening that grapple with race class and gender Cutting across geospatial divides while drawing on nation and region specific expertise it asks readers to connect the questions examples and challenges arising from prison writing and writing about imprisonment within the UK and the USA but also across continental Europe Stalinist Russia the Americas Africa and the Middle East It also includes critical reflection pieces from authors editors educators and theatre practitioners with experience of the fraught testing and potentially inspiring links between prison and the literary world Unsettled History Leslie Witz,Gary Minkley,Ciraj Rassool,2017-02-27 Unsettled History examines South African society and the construction and presentation of its public pasts from Nelson Mandela s release from prison in 1990 to South Africa s hosting of the 2010 FIFA World Cup Conventionally represented as a time of rectifying the silences and distortions of settler history through inclusion and recovery the focus here instead is on the shifts in processes and locations of historicizing and the unsettled state of categories of framing history in post apartheid South Africa This era saw fundamental transformations in the order of knowledge from the academy to the public from popular history to public history from history as lesson to history as forum Leslie Witz Gary Minkley and Ciraj Rassool take the reader to sites of historical production in which complex ideas about pasts are invoked and navigate a path toward understanding the agencies of image making and memory production This volume is the outcome of the authors intensive collaborative research and engagement over twenty five years on questions including the production and performance of apartheid history the cultural politics of social history South Africa s Truth and Reconciliation Commission and practices of orality tourism as an arena of image making and historical construction museums as sites of heritage production for a new South Africa photographs archival meanings and the construction of the social documentary and the centenary commemorations of the South African War and the making of race The authors not only witnessed many of these instances of history making but were also participants in their constitution Robben Island Chinedu Ahaiwe,2014-10-30 It was not a sheer coincidence that the Apartheid regime in South Africa collapsed after the fall of the Berlin Wall The Berlin Wall represented the clear divide between the west and the east and its fall meant a harmonization of both extremes ushering in an environment of genuine peace and development for all humanity It is then unfortunate that some persons want to take humanity through those tortuous paths again as seen in Crimea and Eastern Ukraine The book traces the Journey of Mr Mandela in prison and the suffering of the black community during the Apartheid regimea regime sustained by Western capitalists in their quest to silence a suspected or full blown Communist agenda led by ANC and other freedom fighters Innocent human beings suffered while the war of ideologies lasted and that is why this book is to remind us of the many sufferings humanity went through while the Cold War lasted and would want all to stand up and say no to these new attempts to rekindle that war by the Kremlin Controversies in Tourism Peter M. Burns,2012

Tourism impacts on locations in many ways socially environmentally culturally and economically This book examines some well established controversies in tourism and some newly emerging controversial aspects associated with tourism as an activity and a business Controversies involving clashes between visitors and host communities the rights and wrongs of eco tourism the impacts of mega events the legitimacy of dark tourism and the costs and benefits of medical and wildlife tourism are assessed This book is an interesting and thought provoking work ideal for tourism students research

Worlds Elsewhere Andrew Dickson,2016-04-05 A book about how Shakespeare became fascinated with the world and how the world became fascinated with Shakespeare Ranging ambitiously across four continents and four hundred years Worlds Elsewhere is an eye opening account of how Shakespeare went global Seizing inspiration from the playwright s own fascination with travel foreignness and distant worlds worlds Shakespeare never himself explored Andrew Dickson takes us on an extraordinary journey from Hamlet performed by English actors tramping through the Baltic states in the early sixteen hundreds to the skyscrapers of twenty first century Beijing and Shanghai where Shashibiya survived Mao s Cultural Revolution to become a revered Chinese author En route Dickson traces Nazi Germany s strange love affair with and attempted nationalization of the Bard and delves deep into the history of Bollywood where Shakespearean stories helped give birth to Indian cinema In Johannesburg we discover how Shakespeare was enlisted in the fight to end apartheid In nineteenth century California we encounter shoestring performances of Richard III and Othello in the dusty mining camps and saloon bars of the Gold Rush No other writer s work has been performed translated adapted and altered in such a remarkable variety of cultures and languages Both a cultural history and a literary travelogue Worlds Elsewhere is an attempt to understand how Shakespeare has become the international phenomenon he is and why

Transformation of Archives and Heritage Education in Post-apartheid South Africa Geraldine Frieslaar,Olusegun Morakinyo,2023-06-10 Although there have been significant strides to transform the demographics of archive and museum personnel develop new museums and heritage institutions and heritage training initiatives in post apartheid South Africa the Eurocentric model of the archive museum and heritage sector has largely remained intact Despite the euphoria around the transformation of heritage in the beginnings of post apartheid South Africa it can be argued that the transformation of heritage institutions has been superficial and cosmetic with the ideological foundation of the colonial archive and museum as well as Eurocentric modalities of heritage education remaining solid largely unmoved and under continuing challenge This is the thrust of this book which reflects on the transformation of archives and museum and heritage education in South Africa and argues for meaningful transformation of the sector through a decolonisation from its Eurocentric mooring Remembering the Holocaust in a Racial State Roni Mikel-Arieli,2022-07-18 The lens of apartheid era Jewish commemorations of the Holocaust in South Africa reveals the fascinating transformation of a diasporic community Through the prism of Holocaust memory this book examines South African Jewry and its ambivalent position as a minority within the privileged white minority Grounded in research in over a dozen archives the book provides a rich empirical account of the centrality of Holocaust memorialization to the community's ongoing struggle against global and local antisemitism Most of the chapters focus on white perceptions of the Holocaust and reveals the tensions between the white communities in the country regarding the place of collective memories of suffering in the public arena However the book also moves beyond an insular focus on the South African Jewish community and in very different modality investigates prominent figures in the anti apartheid struggle and the role of Holocaust memory in their fascinating journeys towards freedom The Music in the Ice Stephen Watson,2012-09-27 In this collection of essays Stephen Watson turns to the writers who have endured for him to the places that have formed him and always to the nature of writing and literature itself The range is remarkable he moves from Leonard Cohen to Dante from Albert Camus to Allen Ginsberg not excepting Czeslaw Milosz and T S Eliot Closer to home there are essays on Robben Island and the meaning of the Cedarberg More personally movingly a final section of the book returns to the site of a love affair the birth of a daughter and what it is that defines his native city Cape Town Whatever Watson touches on he gives substance to the line from Pasternak that provides this collection with its title the music in the ice In Watson's hands the essay form itself becomes an instance of that music Here is a book that demonstrates again why Justin Cartwright has called Stephen Watson South Africa's foremost essayist Power on the Inside Mitchel P.
