Baumann, 2014-07-31 In 1835 Oberlin became the first institute of higher education to make a cause of racial egalitarianism when it decided to educate students irrespective of color Yet the visionary college's implementation of this admissions policy was uneven In Constructing Black Education at Oberlin College A Documentary History Roland M Baumann presents a comprehensive documentary history of the education of African American students at Oberlin College Following the Reconstruction era Oberlin College mirrored the rest of society as it reduced its commitment to black students by treating them as less than equals of their white counterparts By the middle of the twentieth century black and white student activists partially reclaimed the Oberlin legacy by refusing to be defined by race. Generations of Oberlin students plus a minority of faculty and staff rekindled the college's commitment to racial equality by 1970. In time, black separatism in its many forms replaced the integrationist ethic on campus as African Americans sought to chart their own destiny and advance curricular change. Oberlin's is not a story of unbroken progress but rather of irony of contradictions and integrity of myth and reality and of imperfections. Baumann takes readers directly to the original sources by including thirty complete documents from the Oberlin College Archives. This richly illustrated volume is an important contribution to the college's 175th anniversary celebration of its distinguished history for it convincingly documents how Oberlin wrestled over the meaning of race and the destiny of black people in American society.

Span the World with Friendship Douglas Bourn, Richard Palser, 2025-06-02 Within the histories of progressive educational movements and youth work one organisation that rarely gets a mention is the Woodcraft Folk. Founded in 1925 it has been consistently at the forefront of promoting radical social change through education. It played a role in breaking down the barriers between East and West during the Cold War in promoting a co-educational and cooperative based approach to learning and in encouraging environmental activism at a time when it was unfashionable. The Woodcraft Folk's evolving approach to education for social change is explored in Span the World with Friendship from a range of disciplinary perspectives including political and social theory, cultural history, anthropology, educational theory and youth work theory. Through investigation of published and primary sources including letters, meeting records and oral testimonies contributors bring scholarship to a narrative that has often been uncritical. Beginning with a biography of founder Leslie Paul, chapters study the Folk's relationship to debates in the labour movement, the extent to which the eugenics movement influenced its ideas and practices and how the folk songs and dances used within the organisation reflected wider social and cultural trends. Internationalism is a key theme running through this book which concludes with a focus on how the Woodcraft Folk's progressive nature is moving it increasingly towards being a youth-led movement. The Oxford Handbook of Leadership and Organizations David Day, 2014-05-20 As the leadership field continues to evolve there are many reasons to be optimistic about the various theoretical and empirical contributions in better understanding leadership from a scholarly and scientific perspective. The Oxford Handbook of Leadership and Organizations brings together a collection of comprehensive state-of-the-science reviews and perspectives on the most pressing historical and contemporary leadership issues with a particular focus on theory and research and looks to the future of the field. It provides a broad picture of the leadership field as well as detailed reviews and perspectives within the respective areas. Each chapter, authored by leading international authorities in the various leadership sub-disciplines, explores the history and background of leadership in organizations, examines important research issues in leadership from both quantitative and qualitative perspectives and forges new directions in leadership research, practice and education.
