Making Christians:

Making Christians Denise Kimber Buell, 2020-11-10 How did second century Christians vie with each other in seeking to produce an authoritative discourse of Christian identity In this innovative book Denise Buell argues that many early Christians deployed the metaphors of procreation and kinship in the struggle over claims to represent the truth of Christian interpretation practice and doctrine In particular she examines the intriguing works of the influential theologian Clement of Alexandria ca 150-210 CE for whom cultural assumptions about procreation and kinship played an important role in defining which Christians have the proper authority to teach and which kinds of knowledge are authentic Buell argues that metaphors of procreation and kinship can serve to make power differentials appear natural She shows that early Christian authors recognized this and often turned to such metaphors to mark their own positions as legitimate and marginalize others as false Attention to the functions of this language offers a way out of the trap of reconstructing the development of early Christianity along the axes of heresy and orthodoxy while not denying that early Christians employed this binary Ultimately Buell argues strategic use of kinship language encouraged conformity over diversity and had a long lasting effect both on Christian thought and on the historiography of early Christianity A perceptive and closely argued contribution to early Christian studies Making Christians also branches out to the areas of kinship studies and the social construction of gender

The Making of a Christian Aristocracy Michele Renee Salzman, 2009-06-30 What did it take to cause the Roman aristocracy to turn to Christianity changing centuries old beliefs and religious traditions Salzman takes a fresh approach to this much debated question by focusing on a sampling of individual aristocratic men and women as well as on writings and archeological evidence

Making Christ Present in China Michel Chambon, 2020-10-24 An anthropological theorization of the unity and diversity of Christianity this book focuses on Christian communities in Nanping a small city in China It applies methodological insights from Actor Network Theory to investigate how the Christian God is made part of local social networks The study examines how Christians interact with and re define material objects such as buildings pews offerings and blood in order to identify the kind of networks and non human actors that they collectively design By comparing local Christian traditions with other practices informing the Nanping religious landscape the study points out potential cohesion via the centralizing presence of the Christian God the governing nature of the pastoral clergy and the semi transcendent being of the Church

Making Christian Decisions George M. Newlands, 2008-07-17 The life of faith in God constantly involves thinking for others acting in concern for other people Reflection upon such action involves Christian ethics As individuals we are concerned with personal ethics in our relationships with other individuals As persons in society and members of the Christian community we are concerned with social ethics with relationships in society as a whole and in Christian responsibility towards all human beings The purpose of this thought provoking book is to provide an account of the implications of God's love for our response to a number of highly particular and urgent ethical issues in the modern world In it George Newlands examines the major issues of the Church and the social order peace and war in a nuclear age personal relationships sex and moral values legal and medical ethical issues respect for life and respect for persons and the meaning of justice within the conflicting interests of society What Dr Newlands offers are not authoritative pronouncements on these issues but considered suggestions and he shows how no area of life is excluded from the reality and the opportunity of making Christian decisions

Making Amulets Christian Theodore de Bruyn,2018-01-26 Making Amulets Christian Artefacts Scribes and Contexts examines Greek amulets with Christian elements from late antique Egypt in order to discern the processes whereby a customary practice the writing of incantations on amulets changed in an increasingly Christian context It considers how the formulation of incantations and amulets changed as the Christian church became the prevailing religious institution in Egypt in the last centuries of the Roman empire Theodore de Bruyn investigates what we can learn from incantations and amulets containing Christian elements about the cultural and social location of the people who wrote them He shows how incantations and amulets were indebted to rituals or ritualizing behaviour of Christians This study analyzes different types of amulets and the ways in which they incorporate Christian elements By comparing the formulation and writing of individual amulets that are similar to one another one can observe differences in the culture of the scribes of these materials It argues for conditioned individuality in the production of amulets On the one hand amulets manifest qualities that reflect the training and culture of the individual writer On the other hand amulets reveal that individual writers were shaped whether consciously or inadvertently by the resources they drew upon by what is called tradition in the field of religious studies strong Christian serving God in true Holiness to make Heaven their home Making African Christianity Robert J. Houle, 2011-09-16 In Making African Christianity author Robert J Houle argues that Africans successfully naturalized Christianity This book examines the long history of the faith among colonial Zulu Christians known as amakholwa in what would become South Africa As it has become clear that Africans are not discarding Christianity a number of scholars have taken up the challenge of understanding why this is the case and how we got to this point Where others have focused on the economic and political potential of conversion this book argues that we need to understand what was embedded within the faith that Africans found so appealing Houle argues that translation did not end with the bible but extended to Christian theology which needed to be fully appropriated before the faith was secure on the continent For Zulu the religion was not a good fit until converts filled critical gaps in the faith such as how Christianity could account for the active and everyday presence of the ancestral spirits a problem that was true for African converts across the continent in slightly different ways This book offers fresh insight into the history behind the contemporary success of Christianity on the continent and will be welcomed by African historians those interested in the history of colonialism missions southern African and in particular Christianity Making Christ Real Samuel J. Youngs, 2022-10-27 Kenosis or self emptying poses a fundamental question to any theological discussion about Jesus Christ In becoming human did God empty himself of any divine qualities Many variations on kenotic Christology have emerged over the past 200 years most of them claiming to both preserve and highlight the true humanity and ecclesial significance of Jesus Christ While there is much to commend in these efforts Samuel Youngs contends that nearly all such kenotic attempts have against their best intentions fallen into an echo chamber of abstraction and metaphor rendering their talk about Jesus Christ and analysis of the Gospels fundamentally unreal and lacking in material significance for today's living church Most fundamentally many kenotic accounts pay inadequate attention to Christ's lived accomplishment his current presence and the modes of praxis that he makes real in the world In dialogue with the important movement known as Transformation Theology Youngs unfolds a detailed critique of method and discourse in kenotic christologies Turning then to the vibrant christological thought of Jürgen Moltmann a different outlook on kenosis is articulated and defended one that is relational concrete and praxiological Making Light of Christ and Salvation Richard Baxter, 1848 The Making of a Christian Empire Elizabeth DePalma Digeser, 2000 The Making of a Christian Empire is the first full length book to interpret the Divine Institutes as a historical source Exploring Lactantius's use of theology philosophy and rhetorical techniques Digeser perceives the Divine Institutes as a sophisticated proposal for a monotheistic state that intimately connected the religious policies of Diocletian and Constantine both of whom used religion to fortify and unite the Roman Empire BOOK JACKET Making Light of Christ and Salvation ... ; A Call to the Unconverted ... ; The Last Work of Believer... ; Of the Spreading of God's Love.. Richard Baxter, 1846 Making Light of Christ and Salvation ... Richard BAXTER, 1846 The Difference Christ Makes Charles M. Collier, 2015-01-07 The papers and responses in this volume were delivered fittingly on All Saints Day 2013 as part of a day long event to celebrate the career of Stanley Hauerwas upon the occasion of his retirement from the faculty of Duke Divinity School. The central message of the day was encapsulated in the theme of the whole event The Difference Christ Makes. As the different speakers talked about Stanley's paradigm changing impact on scholarship, one insight came ever more clearly into focus: the deepest theme of Stanley's work, the consistent thread running through all his thought, is his emphasis on the centrality of Jesus Christ. At the end of the day, his work is not defined by the ethics of character or by pacifism or by countercultural communitarian ecclesiology. All these elements play important roles in his writings but they are reflexes or consequences of his more fundamental commitment to think rigorously about the implications of confessing Jesus Christ as Lord. From the foreword by Richard B. Hays: Contents of The Difference Christ Makes: A Homily on All Saints, Stanley Hauerwas; 1. The Difference Christ Makes, Samuel Wells; 2. Truthfulness and Continual Discomfort, Jennifer A. Herdt; Response by Charlie Pinches; 3. Anne and the Difficult Gift of Stanley Hauerwas's Church, Jonathan Tran; Response by Peter Dula; 4. Making Connections: By Way of a Response to Wells, Herdt, and Tran, Stanley Hauerwas; Appendix: Service of Holy Eucharist, the Feast of All Saints, Goodson Chapel, Duke Divinity School.

The Making of a Personal Evangelist: Winning the World for Christ - One By One Christopher Shennan, 2014-03 The Making of a Personal Evangelist, as the title suggests, is more about becoming an evangelist than it is about the method employed. Jesus told us that if we follow Him, He will make us to become fishers of men. He would transform us into evangelists. The Making of a Personal Evangelist is a course that lays out the life principles that, if followed, will transform men and women into evangelists even before they adopt a method. The method subsequently just becomes the tool to get the job done. This is not a book for the casual student. Both teacher and student need to be serious about reaching the lost and about submitting to the process of becoming what they may not initially feel qualified to be. It is about allowing Jesus Christ to make them into fishers of men. For those who are willing to accept the challenge, this book will doubtless be of inestimable value.

Mystery and the Making of a Christian Historical Consciousness T. J. Lang, 2015-10-16 In general theological terms, this study examines the interplay of early Christian understandings of history, revelation, and identity. The book explores this interaction through detailed analysis of appeals to mystery in the Pauline letter collection and then the discourse of previously hidden but newly revealed mysteries in various second-century thinkers. T. J. Lang argues that the historical coordination of the concealed/revealed binary, the mystery previously hidden but presently revealed, enabled these early Christian authors to ground Christian claims, particularly key ecclesial, hermeneutical, and christological claims, in Israel's history and in the eternal design of God, while at the same time accounting for their revelatory newness. This particular Christian conception of time gives birth to a new and totalizing historical consciousness and one that has significant implications for the construction of Christian identity particularly vis vis Judaism
