Marine Pollution Sebastian A. Gerlach,1981      Marine Pollution Sebastian A. Gerlach,2013-11-11 When in 1966 the Gennan Research Society directed the attention of oceanographers in the Federal Republic of Ger many to problems of marine pollution I was not enthusiastic Emphasis on this problem area meant that other important research plans had to be postponed But the lectures at the Third International Oceanographic Congress September 1970 in Tokyo and at the FAO Conference on Marine Pollution and its Effects on Living Resources and Fishing December 1970 in Rome convinced me that research on problems of marine pollution is a social obligation and that the oceanographer has to take a stand I issued public warnings about the continuing use of pesticides and had to defend myself against protests by the fishing industry and many colleagues who were in Novem ber 1970 unaware of the extent of the threat Thus I was required by my profession to acquire an overview of the prob lems of ocean pollution In 1971 I only needed to familiarize myself with some one hundred bibliographical items In the interim the flood of data has risen dramatically and in the year 1975 no fewer than 868 publications under the heading of Marine Pollution were reported Table 1 It is therefore more and more diffi cult to distinguish new results of scientific research from the many repetitions and variations and I fear that from year to year my efforts to illustrate the actual status of the problem at a given moment will be subject to more gaps      Marine Pollution

Sebastian A. Gerlach,1981      Marine Eutrophication in Perspective Folkert de Jong,2007-04-21 Is ecological knowledge relevant for environmental policy and if so to what extent and in what way These are some of the basic questions addressed in this book Triggered by a series of oxygen depletion events in German Danish and Swedish coastal waters at the beginning of the 1980s international policies to reduce inputs of nitrogen and phosphorus to the North Sea were agreed upon by the North Sea states The book provides a critical analysis of the role scientists and scientific information as well as civil servants have played in the formulation and implementation of these decisions      Marine Pollution Mary A. Pollution - Monitoring, Management and Mitigation Amanda Reichelt-Brushett,2023-05-11 The study of marine environments inevitably involves considering the problem of marine pollution which includes questions that focus on the essential need to ensure the long term health of these exceptional ecosystems and the lives and livelihoods they support The open access textbook Marine Pollution monitoring management and mitigation approaches these questions in a practical and highly readable format It gives newcomers to the field background and perspective through the first comprehensive multidisciplinary exploration of the topic The topic is indeed complex requiring the integration of the natural sciences and chemistry with management policymakers industry and all of us who are users of the marine environment The textbook was written by leading experts to especially prepare graduates for a career in marine pollution studies At the same time it is relevant for anyone invested in the marine environment with a will to reduce their impacts The chapters can easily be used independently and are also connected through the cross referencing of related content The introductory chapter provides a historical account of marine pollution and explores the fundamental physicochemical conditions of seawater Two full chapters cover the requisite resources for ensuring success in field and laboratory studies Then chapter by chapter the book dives into to the various types of marine pollutants In closing it discusses the challenges of understanding multiple stressors and presents mitigation and restoration practices along with a global overview of marine pollution legislation We envisioned this textbook as being open access for the very reason we created it this topic calls for global contributions and champions and financial restraints should not limit access to this knowledge

Ecology of Marine Ports of the Black and Azov Sea Basin A. K. Vinogradov, Yu. I. Bogatova, I. A. Synegub, 2017-08-18 This work examines the waters of marine ports as unique integrated aquatic ecosystems It regards marine ports as entities comprising components of natural and anthropogenic origin including pelagic periphytal and benthal subsystems Using selected Black and Azov Sea ports as examples the book discusses the hydrodynamics and water exchange which are weakened in ports compared with open coastal zones It reflects consequences of the presence of hydrobionts and the accumulation of organic matter which are promoted by the variety of hard substrata and the absence of fishery The book is divided into five main chapters The first chapter describes the general characteristics of the marine ports at the northern coast of the Black and Azov Seas and their shipping channels Chapters 2 to 4 discuss the main abiotic and biotic peculiarities of the pelagial periphytal and benthal subsystems of those marine ports and chapter 5 deals with tropho dynamic processes in their ecosystems A concluding section reflects recommendations how the ecosystems of ports in non tidal seas may be ameliorated
