Royal Marines Commandos John Parker, 2013-02-28 The Royal Marines were originally formed under the auspices of the Royal Navy to guard its sailing ships from harm They are proud of their history and origins but the Navy heritage is fading John Parker charts how the units have moved away from their nautical beginnings to develop over time into the most versatile force in the British military containing one of their most elite brigades The Royal Marines Commandos have over the past few years developed into the premier fighting organisation on land sea and air This history deals with events associated with the Royal Marines and subsequently in their commando role starring in all major conflicts including Italy Malaysia the Borneo confrontation with Indonesia and more recently Afghanistan

Royal Marines in the First World War Matthew Richardson, 2024-12-31 The Royal Marines had the distinction of serving in every major land campaign of the First World War as well as participating in most minor ones They also served afloat as an element of the Royal Navy For the greater part the morale and esprit de corps of the formation was second to none wherever its men found themselves and whatever challenges they faced This new history examines the participation of the corps in actions such as the defense of Antwerp the Gallipoli landings the Battle of the Somme the Zeebrugge Raid and the Allied intervention in North Russia It covers the Marines in action aboard ship at the Dardanelles and Jutland and throws a spotlight on the little known Royal Marines presence in the West Indies Flying Marines operated with the Royal Naval Air Service and Royal Flying Corps often with noted bravery Wherever possible the words used are those of the men who were there and these eye witness accounts some never before published offer an immediacy and freshness to this story
