Criminality and Power in the Postcolonial City Maria Ridda, 2022-11-21 This book investigates the literary imaginings of the postcolonial city through the lens of crime in texts set in Naples and Mumbai from the 1990s to the present. Employing the analogy of a black hole, it posits the discourse on criminality as a way to investigate the contemporary spatial manifestations of coloniality and global capitalist urbanity. Despite their different histories, Mumbai and Naples have remarkable similarities. Both are port cities, gateways to their countries and regional trade networks, and both are marked by extreme wealth and poverty. They are also the sites and symbolic battlegrounds for a wider struggle in which the North exploits the South and the South fights back. As one of the characters of the novel The Neapolitan Book of the Dead puts it, a narrativisation of the underworld allows for a discovery of a different city from its forgotten corners. Crime provides a means to understand the relationship between space and society/culture in a number of cities across the Global South by tracing a narrative of postcolonial urbanity that exposes the connections between exploitation and the ongoing coloniality of power.

Born in Flames Ben Ansfield, 2025-08-19 Revelatory. Deeply researched and masterfully told. Brian Goldstone, New York Times Book Review. The explosive account of the arson wave that hit the Bronx and other American cities in the 1970s and its legacy today. Ladies and gentlemen, the Bronx is burning. That legendary and apocryphal phrase allegedly uttered by announcers during the 1977 World Series as flames rose above Yankee Stadium seemed to encapsulate an entire era in this nation's urban history. Across that decade, a wave of arson coursed through American cities, destroying entire neighborhoods home to poor communities of color. Yet as historian Ben Ansfield demonstrates in Born in Flames, the most destructive of the fires were not set by residents as is commonly assumed, but by landlords looking to collect insurance payouts. Driven by perverse incentives, new government-sponsored insurance combined with tanking property values; landlords hired torches, mostly Black and Brown youth, to set fires in the buildings, sometimes with people still living in them. Tens of thousands of families lost their homes to these blazes, yet for much of the 1970s, tenant vandalism and welfare fraud stood as the prevailing explanations for the arson wave, effectively indemnifying landlords. Ansfield's book, based on a decade of research, introduces the term brownlining for the destructive insurance practices imposed on poor communities of color under the guise of racial redress. Ansfield shows that as the FIRE industries (finance, insurance, and real estate) eclipsed manufacturing in the 1970s, they began profoundly reshaping Black and Brown neighborhoods, seeing them as easy sources of profit. At every step, Ansfield charts the tenant-led resistance movements that sprung up in the Bronx and elsewhere, as well as the explosion of popular culture around the fires, from iconic movies like The Towering Inferno to hit songs such as Disco Inferno. Ultimately, they show how similarly pernicious dynamics around insurance and race are still at play in our own era, especially in regions most at risk of climate shocks.
