Williams, 2022-08-12 Establishing an intersection between the fields of traditional music studies English folk music history and the philosophy of Gilles Deleuze and Félix Guattari this book responds to the problematic emphasis on cultural identity in the way traditional music is understood and valued Williams locates the roots of contemporary definitions of traditional music including UNESCO designated intangible cultural heritage in the theory of English folk music developed in 1907 by Cecil Sharp Through a combination of Deleuzian philosophical analysis and historical revision of England's folk revival of the Victorian and Edwardian eras Williams makes a compelling argument that identity is a restrictive ideology that runs counter to the material processes of traditional music's production Williams reimagines Sharp's appropriation of Darwinian evolutionary concepts asking what it would mean today to say that traditional music evolves in light of recent advances in evolutionary theory The book ultimately advances a concept of traditional music that eschews the term's long standing ontological and axiological foundations in the principle of identity For scholars and graduate students in musicology cultural studies and ethnomusicology the book is an ambitious and provocative challenge to entrenched habits of thought in the study of traditional music and the historiography of England's folk revival The Shipping Forecast Meg Clothier, 2024-10-24

The Comic Turn in Contemporary English Fiction Huw Marsh, 2020-07-09

The Comic Turn in Contemporary English Fiction explores the importance of comedy in contemporary literature and culture In an era largely defined by a mood of crisis bleakness cruelty melancholia environmental catastrophe and collapse Huw Marsh argues that contemporary fiction is as likely to treat these subjects comically as it is to treat them gravely and that the recognition and proper analysis of this humour opens up new ways to think about literature Structured around readings of authors including Martin Amis Nicola Barker Julian Barnes Jonathan Coe Howard Jacobson Magnus Mills and Zadie Smith this book suggests not only that much of the most interesting contemporary writing is funny and that there is a comic tendency in contemporary fiction but also that this humour this comic licence allows writers of contemporary fiction to do peculiar and interesting things things that are funny in the sense of odd or strange and that may in turn inspire a funny turn in readers Marsh offers a series of original critical and theoretical frameworks for discussing questions of literary genre style affect and politics demonstrating that comedy is an often neglected mode that plays a generative role in much of the most interesting contemporary writing creating sites of rich political stylistic cognitive and ethical contestation whose analysis offers a new perspective on the present assumption that merchant ship technology in the British Atlantic during the two centuries of its development was static for all intents and purposes and that whatever incremental changes took place in it were inconsequential to the development of the British Empire and its offshoots Drawing on a unique combination of evidence from both traditional and unconventional sources Phillip Reid shows how merchants shipwrights and mariners used both proven principles and adaptive innovations in hulls rigs and steering systems to manage high physical and financial risks Listen also to the podcast where the author is interviewed about the book for New Books Network and the podcast with Liz Covart for Ben Franklin s World by clicking here

England and the Spanish Armada James McDermott,2005-01-01 The Armada campaign pitted Europe s mightiest military power against Christendom s most powerful navy in a battle for different ideals of civilisation Both protagonists expected the clash to be decisive neither as it soon became apparent knew how to fight a battle whose scale and character were beyond the experience of anyone in the two fleets What ensued was not the heroic encounter of legend but an inconclusive affair redeemed for England by atrocious weather and poor Spanish understanding of the coastlines of western Scotland and Ireland
