Waves of Prosperity Greg Clydesdale, 2016-09-16 When the Venetian merchant Marco Polo first arrived in Dynastic China he was faced with a society far advanced of anything he had encountered in Europe The ports were filled with commodities from all over the eastern world while new technology was driving the economy forward It would take another 400 years before European trade in the Atlantic eclipsed the Pacific markets From China's phenomenally successful Sung dynasty c AD 960 1279 Cargoes reveals the power of the Mughals merchants of Gujarat who built an empire so powerful that even in the 17th century the richest man in the world was a Gujarat trader It was not until the opening up of the spice routes and the discovery of South American gold that medieval Iberia came to the fore It was only then that the Atlantic Empire of the west came to dominate world trade first the Dutch Republic in the seventeenth century then the British Empire in the age of the Industrial Revolution American supremacy in the twentieth century and the development of post war Japan Along the way Greg Clydesdale looks at the parallel lives and ideas of merchants and explorers missionaries kings bankers and emperors He shows how great trading nations rise on a wave of technological and financial innovation and how in that success lies the cause of their inevitable decline

A Cultural History of the Sea in the Early Modern Age Steve Mentz, 2023-02-09 For the first time during the Early Modern period ships regularly traveled between and among all of basins that comprise the World Ocean During this period European mariners ventured into new waters where they encountered new trading partners new environments and new opportunities In the Caribbean and Atlantic coast of the Americas European mariners sought everything from pearls to gold to codfish and in pursuing these resources they fractured Indigenous communities Entering into the ancient monsoon routes of the Indian Ocean brought European ships in touch with the powerful states and maritime cultures of East Africa and Asia Converging on the vast Pacific basin both from the Americas and from Asia brought these mariners into contact with ancient cultures dangerous passages and newly global trade routes During this period of globalization and cultural encounters the ocean provided a means of transportation a site of environmental hostility and a poetic metaphor for both connection and alienation In material and cultural ways the global sea routes traveled during this period laid down structures of global exchange and conflict that the world still follows today

The Sea and Civilization Lincoln Paine, 2015-10-27 A monumental retelling of world history through the lens of the sea revealing in breathtaking depth how people first came into contact with one another by ocean and river lake and stream and how goods languages religions and entire cultures spread across and along the world's waterways bringing together civilizations and defining what makes us most human The Sea and Civilization is a mesmerizing rhapsodic narrative of maritime enterprise from the origins of long distance migration to the great seafaring cultures of antiquity from Song Dynasty human powered paddle boats to aircraft carriers and container ships Lincoln Paine takes the reader on an intellectual adventure casting the world in a new light in which the sea reigns supreme Above all Paine makes clear how the rise and fall of civilizations can be linked to the sea An accomplishment of both great sweep and illuminating detail The Sea and Civilization is a stunning work of history Maritime History: The eighteenth century and the classic age of sail John B. Hattendorf, 1996 A selection of 17 lectures from a summer institute in Providence Rhode Island in August 1992 provide a textbook for an undergraduate course in maritime history material for historians of Europe and her explorations up to the 17th century and an accessible survey for interested lay readers They cover the late medieval background Portuguese expansion Spain and the Atlantic conquests and the far corners of the world back when it had corners No indication is given as to the number of volumes projected for the series c Book News Inc Talking about Naval History John B. McManamon, 2016-12-09 Sometime around 1446 A D Cardinal Prospero Colonna commissioned engineer Battista Alberti to raise two immense Roman vessels from the bottom of the lago di Nemi just south of Rome By that time local fishermen had been fouling their nets and occasionally recovering stray objects from the sunken ships for 800 years Having no idea of the size of the objects he was attempting to recover Alberti failed For most of the next 500 years various attempts were made to recover the vessels Finally in 1928 Mussolini ordered the draining of the lake to remove the vessels and place them on the lake shore In 1944 the ships burned in a fire that was generally blamed on the Germans John M McManamon connects these attempts at underwater archaeology with the Renaissance interest in reconstructing the past in order to affect the present Nautical and marine archaeologists as well as students and scholars of Renaissance history and historiography will appreciate this masterfully researched and gracefully written work

Roles of the Sea in Medieval England Richard Gorski, 2012 A fresh assessment of seaborne activity around England in the later middle ages offering a fresh perspective on its rich maritime heritage England's relationship with the sea in the later Middle Ages has been unjustly neglected a gap which this volume seeks to fill The physical fact of the kingdom's insularity made the seas around England fundamentally important to its development within the British Isles and in relation to mainland Europe At times they acted as barriers but they also and more often served as highways of exchange transport and communication and it is this aspect which the essays collected here emphasise Mindful that the exploitation of the sea required specialist technology and personnel and that England's maritime frontiers raised serious issues of jurisdiction security and international diplomacy the chapters explore several key roles performed by the sea during the period c 1200 c 1500 Foremost among them is war the infrastructure logistics politics and personnel of English seaborne expeditions are assessed most notably for the period of the Hundred Years War What emerges from this is a demonstration of the sophisticated but not infallible methods of raising and using ships men and material for war in a period before England possessed a permanent navy The second major facet of England's relationship with the sea was the generation of wealth this is addressed in its own right and as an intrinsic aspect of warfare and piracy RICHARD GORSKI is Philip Nicholas Memorial Lecturer in Maritime History at the University of Hull Contributors Richard Gorski Richard W Unger Susan Rose Craig Lambert David Simpkin Tony K Moore Marcus Pitcaithly Tim Bowly Ian Friel

Portuguese Oceanic Expansion, 1400-1800 Francisco Bethencourt, Diogo Ramada Curto, 2007-04-30 A unique overview of Portuguese oceanic expansion between 1400 and 1800 the essays in this volume treat a wide range of subjects economy and society politics and institutions cultural configurations and comparative dimensions and radically update data and interpretations on the economic and financial trends of the Portuguese Empire Interregional networks are analysed in a substantial way Patterns of settlement political configurations ecclesiastical structures and local powers are put in global context Language and literature the arts and science and technology are revisited with refreshing and innovative approaches The interaction between Portuguese and local people is studied in different contexts while the entire imperial and colonial culture of the Portuguese world is looked at synthetically for the first time In short this book provides a broad understanding of the Portuguese Empire in its first four centuries as a factor in world history and as a major component of European expansion The Petrine Revolution in

Russian Culture James Cracraft,2009-07-01 The reforms initiated by Peter the Great transformed Russia not only into a European power but into a European culture a shift argues Cracraft that was nothing less than revolutionary The author of seminal works on visual culture in the Petrine era Cracraft now turns his attention to the changes that occurred in Russian verbal culture The Cambridge History of the Pacific Ocean: Volume 1, The Pacific Ocean to 1800 Ryan Tucker Jones,Matt

K. Matsuda,2023-01-05 Volume I of The Cambridge History of the Pacific Ocean provides a wide ranging survey of Pacific history to 1800 It focuses on varied concepts of the Pacific environment and its impact on human history as well as tracing the early exploration and colonization of the Pacific the evolution of Indigenous maritime cultures after colonization and the disruptive arrival of Europeans Bringing together a diversity of subjects and viewpoints this volume introduces a broad variety of topics engaging fully with emerging environmental and political conflicts over Pacific Ocean spaces These essays emphasize the impact of the deep history of interactions on and across the Pacific to the present day Sea Changes

Bernhard Klein,Gesa Mackenthun,2012-08-21 The sea has been the site of radical changes in human lives and national histories It has been an agent of colonial oppression but also of indigenous resistance a site of loss dispersal and enforced migration but also of new forms of solidarity and affective kinship SeaChanges re evaluates the view that history happens mainly on dry land and makes the case for a creative reinterpretation of the role of the sea not merely as a passage from one country to the next but a historical site deserving close study The Sea Voyage Narrative Robert Foulke,2013-10-11 From

The Odyssey to Moby Dick to The Old Man and the Sea the long tradition of sea voyage narratives is comprehensively explained here supported by discussions of key texts Atlantic History Jack P. Greene,Philip D. Morgan,2008-12-31 Atlantic history with its emphasis on inter regional developments that transcend national borders has risen to prominence as a fruitful perspective through which to study the interconnections among Europe North America Latin America and Africa These original essays present a comprehensive and incisive look at how Atlantic history has been interpreted across time and through a variety of lenses from the fifteenth through the early nineteenth century Editors Jack P Greene and Philip D Morgan have assembled a stellar cast of thirteen international scholars to discuss key areas of Atlantic history including the British Spanish Portuguese Dutch French African and indigenous worlds as well as the movement of ideas peoples and goods Other contributors assess contemporary understandings of the ocean and present alternatives to the concept itself juxtaposing Atlantic history with global hemispheric and Continental history      World Military History Bibliography Barton Hacker, 2003-06-01 Preclassical and indigenous nonwestern military institutions and methods of warfare are the chief subjects of this annotated bibliography of work published 1967-1997. Classical antiquity, post-Roman Europe, and the westernized armed forces of the 20th century, although covered, receive less systematic attention. Emphasis is on historical studies of military organization and the relationships between military and other social institutions rather than wars and battles. Especially rich in references to the periodical literature, the bibliography is divided into eight parts: 1. general and comparative topics; 2. the ancient world; 3. Eurasia since antiquity; 4. sub-Saharan Africa and Oceania; 5. pre-Columbian America; 6. postcontact America; 7. the contemporary nonwestern world; and 8. philosophical, social, scientific, natural scientific, and other works not primarily historical.

Newfoundland and Labrador Sean Cadigan, 2009-04-11 Published to coincide with the sixtieth anniversary of Newfoundland and Labrador joining Canada, Sean T. Cadigan has written the book that will surely become the definitive history of one of North America's most distinct and beautiful regions. The site of the first European settlement by Vikings one thousand years ago, a former colony of England and known at various times as Terra Nova and Newfoundland until its official name change to Newfoundland and Labrador in 2001, this easternmost point of the continent has had a fascinating history in part because of its long-held position as the gateway between North America and Europe. Examining the region from prehistoric times to the present, Newfoundland and Labrador is not only a comprehensive history of the province but an illuminating portrait of the Atlantic world and European colonisation of the Americas. Cadigan comprehensively details everything from the first European settlements, the displacement and extinction of the indigenous Beothuk by European settlers, the conflicts between settlers and imperial governance, to the Royal Newfoundland Regiment's near annihilation at the Battle of the Somme, the rise of Newfoundland nationalism, Joey Smallwood's case for confederation, and the modernization and economic disappointments instigated by joining Canada. Paying particular attention to the ways in which Newfoundland and Labrador's history has been shaped by its environment, this study considers how natural resources such as the Grand Banks, the disappearance of cod, and offshore oil have affected the region and its inhabitants. Richly detailed, compelling, and written in an engaging and accessible style, Newfoundland and Labrador brings the rich and vibrant history of this remarkably interesting region to life.

Civilizations Felipe Fernandez-Armesto, 2001-09-14 In Civilizations, Felipe Fernandez-Armesto once again proves himself a brilliantly original historian capable of large-minded and comprehensive works; here he redefines the subject that has fascinated historians from Thucydides to Gibbon to Spengler to Fernand Braudel: the nature of civilization. To Fernandez-Armesto, a civilization is civilized in direct proportion to its distance, its difference from the unmodified natural environment by its taming and warping of climate, geography, and ecology. The same impersonal forces that put an ocean between Africa and India, a river delta in Mesopotamia, or a 2,000-mile-long mountain range in South America have created the mold from which humanity has fashioned its own wildly differing cultures.

In a grand tradition that is certain to evoke comparisons to the great historical taxonomies each chapter of Civilizations connects the world of the ecologist and geographer to a panorama of cultural history In Civilizations the medieval poem Sir Gawain and the Green Knight is not merely a Christian allegory but a testament to the thousand year long deforestation of the trees that once covered 90 percent of the European mainland The Indian Ocean has served as the world's greatest trading highway for millennia not merely because of cultural imperatives but because the regular monsoon winds blow one way in the summer and the other in the winter In the words of the author Unlike previous attempts to write the comparative history of civilizations it is arranged environment by environment rather than period by period or society by society Thus seventeen distinct habitats serve as jumping off points for a series of brilliant set piece comparisons thus tundra civilizations from Ice Age Europe are linked with the Inuit of the Pacific Northwest and the Mississippi mound builders and the deforesters of eleventh century Europe are both understood as civilizations built on woodlands Here of course are the familiar riverine civilizations of Mesopotamia and China of the Indus and the Nile but also highland civilizations from the Inca to New Guinea island cultures from Minoan Crete to Polynesia to Renaissance Venice maritime civilizations of the Indian Ocean and South China Sea even the Bushmen of Southern Africa are seen through a lens provided by the desert civilizations of Chaco Canyon More here are fascinating stories brilliantly told of the voyages of Chinese admiral Chen Ho and Portuguese commodore Vasco da Gama of the Great Khan and the Great Zimbabwe Here are Hesiod's tract on maritime trade in the early Aegean and the most up to date genetics of seed crops Erudite wide ranging a work of dazzling scholarship written with extraordinary flair Civilizations is a remarkable achievement a tour de force by a brilliant scholar

The Merchant Ship in the British Atlantic, 1600-1800 Phillip Reid, 2020-04-14 In The Merchant Ship in the British Atlantic 1600-1800 Phillip Reid refutes the long held assumption that merchant ship technology in the British Atlantic during the two centuries of its development was static for all intents and purposes and that whatever incremental changes took place in it were inconsequential to the development of the British Empire and its offshoots Drawing on a unique combination of evidence from both traditional and unconventional sources Phillip Reid shows how merchants shipwrights and mariners used both proven principles and adaptive innovations in hulls rigs and steering systems to manage high physical and financial risks Listen also to the podcast where the author is interviewed about the book for New Books Network and the podcast with Liz Covart for Ben Franklin's World by clicking here

Straits Felipe Fernandez-Armesto, 2022-03-29 An uncompromising study of the fictions the failures and the real man behind the myth of Magellan With Straits celebrated historian Felipe Fernandez Armesto subjects the surviving sources to the most meticulous scrutiny ever providing a timely and engrossing biography of the real Ferdinand Magellan The truth that Fernandez Armesto uncovers about Magellan's life his character and the events of his ill fated voyage offers up a stranger darker and even more compelling narrative than the fictional version that has been celebrated for half a millennium Magellan did not attempt much less accomplish a journey around the globe In his lifetime he was abhorred as a traitor reviled as a tyrant self condemned to destruction and dismissed as a failure Straits untangles the myths that made Magellan a hero and discloses the reality of the man probing the passions and tensions that drove him to adventure and drew him to disaster We see the mutations of his character pride that became arrogance daring that became recklessness determination that became ruthlessness romanticism that became irresponsibility and superficial piety that became in adversity irrational exaltation As the real Magellan emerges so do his real ambitions focused less on circumnavigating the world or cornering the global spice market than on exploiting Filipino gold Straits is a study in failure and the paradox of Magellan's career showing that renown is not always a reflection of merit but often a gift and accident of circumstance

A Great and Rising Nation Michael A. Verney, 2022-07-27 A Great and Rising Nation illuminates the unexplored early decades of the United States imperialist naval aspirations Conventional wisdom holds that until the Spanish American War of 1898 the United States was a feeble player on the world stage with an international presence rooted in commerce rather than military might Michael A Verney's A Great and Rising Nation flips this notion on its head arguing that early US naval expeditions often characterized as merely scientific were in fact deeply imperialist Circling the globe from the Mediterranean to South America and the Arctic these voyages reflected the diverse imperial aspirations of the new republic including commercial dominance in the Pacific World religious empire in the Holy Land proslavery expansion in South America and diplomatic prestige in Europe As Verney makes clear the United States had global imperial aspirations far earlier than is commonly thought
