Mark As Composer New Gospel Studies 1:

The Making of Mark Harold Riley, 1989 Mark's Other Gospel Scott G. Brown, 2006-01-01 Did the evangelist Mark write two versions of his gospel According to a letter ascribed to Clement of Alexandria Mark created a second more spiritual edition of his gospel for theologically advanced Christians in Alexandria Clement's letter contains two excerpts from this lost gospel including a remarkably different account of the raising of Lazarus Forty five years of cursory investigation have yielded five mutually exclusive paradigms abundant confusion and rumours of forgery Strangely one of the few things upon which most investigators agree is that the letter's own explanation of the origin and purpose of this longer gospel need not be taken seriously Mark's Other Gospel Rethinking Morton Smith's Controversial Discovery calls this pervasive bias into question After thoroughly critiquing the five main paradigms Scott G Brown demonstrates that the gospel excerpts not only sound like Mark but also employ Mark's distinctive literary techniques deepening this gospel's theology and elucidating puzzling aspects of its narrative This mystic gospel represents Mark's own response to the Alexandrian predilection to discover the essential truths of a philosophy beneath the literal level of revered texts A History and Critique of the Origin of the Marcan Hypothesis, 1835-1866 Hajo Uden Meyboom, 1993 The Disciples According to Mark C. Clifton Black, 2012-12-13 Redaction criticism attempts to identify biblical authors' theological interests by examining their adaptation of sources Focusing on representative studies of Jesus' disciples in the Gospel of Mark this pioneering book by C Clifton Black has become the standard evaluation of that method's exegetical reliability Comprehensively reviewing recent scholarship Black identifies three distinctive types of redaction criticism in Markan interpretation He demonstrates that diverse redaction critical interpretations of the disciples in Mark have bolstered rather than controlled scholarly presuppositions to a degree that impugns the method's reliability for interpreting Mark The book concludes by assessing redaction criticism's usefulness and offering a more balanced approach to Mark's interpretation This second edition includes a substantial detailed afterword that revisits the book's primary issues converses with its critics and provides an update of Markan scholarship over the past twenty five years Orality and Literacy in Early Christianity Pieter Botha, 2012-11-01 The history of the Jesus movement and earliest Christianity requires careful attention to the characteristics and peculiarities of oral and literate traditions Understanding the distinctive elements of Greco Roman literacy potentially has profound implications for the historical understanding of the documents and events involved Concepts such as media criticism orality manuscript culture scribal writing and performative reading are explored in these chapters The scene of Greco Roman literacy is analyzed by investigating writing and reading practices These aspects are then related to early Christian texts such as the Gospel of Mark and sections from Paul's letters Synoptic Gospels John K. Riches, William Telford, Christopher M. Tuckett, 2001-05-01 The highly popular Sheffield New Testament Guides are being reissued in a new format grouped together and prefaced by leading North American scholars This new format is designed to ensure that these authoritative introductions remain up to date and accessible to seminary and university students of the New Testament while offering a broader theological and literary context for their study In this volume Scot McKnight writes an introduction to the Synoptic Gospels as a whole illuminating their distinctive historical and theological features and their importance within the New Testament canon

Criteria for Authenticity in Historical-Jesus Research Stanley E. Porter, 2004-12-10 Historical Jesus research continues to captivate the interests of scholars Recently there has been renewed discussion of the criteria for authenticity This study traces the history of this type of research especially in terms of authenticity criteria

Divorce in the New Testament Raymond F. Collins, 2017-04-07 Few New Testament texts have had their meaning debated so vigorously as those in which Jesus discusses divorce Matthew 5 32 Matthew 19 6 9 Mark 10 9 12 Luke 16 18 and 1 Cor 7 11 From the early Church through their formation and into the present day they have continued to rouse debate within the Churches and among believers This work focuses on one aspect of that debate namely what Jesus has to say regarding divorce when his sayings are interpreted in their literary and historical context To aid in this contextual understanding the sayings are studied in the order in which they were written down in ancient times Not every aspect of the debate therefore is addressed nor could it be on an issue of such personal and pastoral complexity Yet it is the challenge of biblical scholars to study the Word of God in all its complexity and to try to make that Word understandable This work is offered to scholars and believers alike in the hope of adding to that understanding

Luke among the Ancient Historians John J. Peters, 2022-05-24 For centuries scholars have analyzed the composition of Luke Acts presupposing that the reference to many accounts in Luke's Preface indicates the written texts which served as the author's primary sources of information To justify this portrait of Luke as a text based author scholars have appealed to analogies with the text based authors Dionysius of Halicarnassus Diodorus Siculus Plutarch and Arrian Luke among the Ancient Historians challenges this portrait of Luke's method through surveying the origins and development of ancient Greek historiography in chapters on Herodotus Thucydides Polybius Josephus and Luke By focusing on the values and practices of ancient historians Peters demonstrates not only that ancient authors following the model of Thucydides regarded the testimony of eyewitnesses as opposed to texts as the proper sources for historians but that Luke emulated the values practices and craft terminology of the contemporary historiographical tradition Taking seriously the self presentation of Luke as a reporter of contemporary events who claims to write on the basis of eyewitnesses from the beginning and personal investigation this book argues against analogies with text based historians who wrote about non contemporary events and instead situates Luke within a portrait of the values and practices of historians of contemporary events

The Tenants in the Vineyard John S. Kloppenborg, 2006 John S Kloppenborg gives a detailed analysis of one of the most difficult of Jesus parables the parable of the Tenants Mark 12 1-12 Gospel of Thomas 65 He examines the ways in which Christians have typically read and mis read the parable and places the parable firmly in the context of the practices of ancient viticulture The author models a new approach to the interpretation of the parables of Jesus First he critically engages the history of interpretation of the text inquiring into the ideological interests that the parable has engaged during the history of its use in Christian churches and in political discourse Second he reconstructs the social world in which the parable was first told in particular the economic social and legal aspects of ancient viticulture He demonstrates that the parable of the Tenants has mostly been interpreted from the standpoint of those who wield social and political power a strange irony considering the social status of the Jesus of history and the literary uses of the parable All of the features common to the parable as it is told by Mark and the Gospel of Thomas make it a perfectly realistic story It is only Mark s editing of the story that takes it beyond the realistic idiom characteristic of Jesus other parables The book concludes with a dossier of 58 papyrus documents relating to various aspects of viticulture and agrarian conflict It was awarded the 2007 Francis W Beare Book Award by the Canadian Society of Biblical Studies
