Prescription TV Joy V. Fuqua,2012-06-19 Tracing the history of television as a therapeutic device Joy V Fuqua describes how TVs came to make hospitals seem more like home and later medicalized the modern home She examines the introduction of television into the private hospital room in the late 1940s and 1950s and then moves forward several decades to consider the direct to consumer prescription drug commercials legalized in 1997 Fuqua explains how as hospital administrators and designers sought ways of making the hospital a more inviting personalized space TV sets came to figure in the architecture and layout of health care facilities Television manufacturers seized on the idea of therapeutic TV specifying in their promotional materials how TVs should be used in the hospital and positioned in relation to the viewer With the debut of direct to consumer prescription drug advertising in the late 1990s television assumed a much larger role in the medical marketplace Taking a case study approach Fuqua uses her analysis of an ad campaign promoting Pfizer s Viagra to illustrate how television and later the Internet turned the modern home into a clearinghouse for medical information redefined and redistributed medical expertise and authority and in the process created the contemporary consumer patient
