have established links between Zhuangzi and dandyism and Wilde wrote one of the first reviews of Herbert Giles's English translation of the Zhuangzi. Like Daoism, dandyism does not engage in a Confucian correction of language; instead, preferring aimless roaming and rambling. The Daoist carefree wanderer is a flâneur, and both Daoist and dandy deconstruct the puritanism and correctness sought by Confucianism, Victorianism, and our contemporary neoliberal culture. Instead of seeking to induce correct opinions, they seek to liberate the mind.

The Routledge Companion to Transmedia Studies Matthew Freeman, Renira Rampazzo Gambarato, 2018-10-09. Around the globe, people now engage with media content across multiple platforms, following stories, characters, worlds, brands, and other information across a spectrum of media channels. This transmedia phenomenon has led to the burgeoning of transmedia studies in media, cultural studies, and communication departments across the academy. The Routledge Companion to Transmedia Studies is the definitive volume for scholars and students interested in comprehending all the various aspects of transmediality. This collection, which gathers together original articles by a global roster of contributors from a variety of disciplines, sets out to contextualize, problematize, and scrutinize the current status and future directions of transmediality, exploring the industries, arts, practices, cultures, and methodologies of studying convergent media across multiple platforms.

The Routledge Companion to Fashion Studies Eugenia Paulicelli, Veronica Manlow, Elizabeth Wissinger, 2021-09-22. This collection of original essays interrogates disciplinary boundaries in fashion, gathering fashion studies research across disciplines and from around the globe. Fashion and clothing are part of material and visual culture, cultural memory, and heritage; they contribute to shaping the way people see themselves, interact, and consume. For each of the volume's eight parts, scholars from across the world and a variety of disciplines offer analytical tools for further research. Never neglecting the interconnectedness of disciplines and domains, these original contributions survey specific topics and critically discuss the leading views in their areas. They include discursive and reflective pieces as well as discussions of original empirical work, and contributors include established leaders in the field, rising stars, and new voices, including practitioner and industry voices. This is a comprehensive overview of the field, ideal not only for undergraduate and postgraduate fashion studies students but also for researchers and students in communication studies, the humanities, gender, and critical race studies, social sciences, and fashion design and business.

Spectacular Posthumanism Drew Ayers, 2019-04-18. Spectacular Posthumanism examines the ways in which VFX imagery fantasizes about digital disembodiment while simultaneously reasserting the importance of the lived body. Analyzing a wide range of case studies, including the films of David Cronenberg and Stanley Kubrick, image technologies such as performance capture and crowd simulation, Game of Thrones, Terminator, Genisys, Planet Earth, and 300, Ayers builds on Miriam Hansen's concept of vernacular modernism to argue that the vernacular posthumanism of these media objects has a phenomenological impact on viewers. As classical Hollywood cinema initiated viewers into the experience of modernism, so too does the VFX image initiate viewers into digital posthuman modes of thinking and being. Ayers's innovative close reading of popular mass market media objects reveals the complex ways that these popular media struggle to make sense of humanity's place within the contemporary world. Spectacular Posthumanism argues that special and visual effects images produce a digital posthuman vernacular one which generates competing fantasies about the utopian and dystopian potential of a nonhuman future. As humanity grapples with such heady issues as catastrophic climate change threats of anonymous cyber warfare an increasing reliance on autonomous computing systems genetic manipulation of both humans and nonhumans and the promise of technologically enhanced bodies the anxieties related to these issues register in popular culture. Through the process of compositing humans and nonhumans into a seemingly seamless whole digital images visualize a utopian fantasy in which flesh and information might easily coexist and cohabitate with each other. These images however also exhibit the dystopic anxieties that develop around this fantasy. Relevant to our contemporary moment Spectacular Posthumanism both diagnoses and offers a critique of this fantasy arguing that this posthuman imagination overlooks the importance of embodiment and lived experience.
