The Digest of Justinian, Volume 1 Alan Watson, 2011-06-25 When Justinian became sole ruler of the Byzantine Empire in A D 527 he ordered the preparation of three compilations of Roman law that together formed the Corpus Juris Civilis. These works have become known individually as the Code which collected the legal pronouncements of the Roman emperors, the Institutes an elementary student's textbook and the Digest by far the largest and most highly prized of the three compilations. The Digest was assembled by a team of sixteen academic lawyers commissioned by Justinian in 533 to cull everything of value from earlier Roman law. It was for centuries the focal point of legal education in the West and remains today an unprecedented collection of the commentaries of Roman jurists on the civil law. Commissioned by the Commonwealth Fund in 1978 Alan Watson assembled a team of thirty specialists to produce this magisterial translation which was first completed and published in 1985 with Theodor Mommsen's Latin text of 1878 on facing pages. This paperback edition presents a corrected English language text alone with an introduction by Alan Watson. Bilateral and Regional Trade Agreements: Volume 1 Simon Lester, Bryan Mercurio, Lorand Bartels, 2016-01-07 The stalling of the Doha Development Round trade negotiations has resulted in bilateral and regional free trade agreements (BRTAs) becoming an important alternative. These agreements have proliferated in recent years and now all of the major trading countries are engaging in serious bilateral trade negotiations with multiple trading partners. This second edition provides updated and comprehensive analysis of the contents and trends of recent BRTAs. It is unique in that it situates these agreements in their economic, international law and international relations contexts. It also comprehensively reviews the recent agreements in relation to each substantive topic covered e.g. intellectual property, investment services and social policy so as to provide an overview of the law being created in these areas.

Passing Wealth on Death Alexandra Braun, Anne Röthel, 2016-07-28 Wealth can be transferred on death in a number of different ways most commonly by will. Yet a person can also use a variety of other means to benefit someone on death. Examples include donations mortis causa, joint tenancies, trusts, life insurance contracts and nominations in pension and retirement plans. In the US these modes of transfer are grouped under the category of will.

substitutes and are generally treated as testamentary dispositions Much has been written about the effect of the use of will substitutes in the US but little is generally known about developments in other jurisdictions For the first time this collection of contributions looks at will substitutes from a comparative perspective It examines mechanisms that pass wealth on death across a number of common law civil law and mixed legal jurisdictions and explores the rationale behind their use It analyses them from different viewpoints including those of owners of businesses investors as well as creditors family members and dependants The aims of the volume are to show the complexity and dynamics of wealth transfers on death across jurisdictions to identify patterns between jurisdictions and to report the attitudes towards the different modes of transfer in light of their utility and the potential frictions they give rise to with policies and principles underpinning current laws

House of Commons, 1925 The future of economic governance in the EU Great Britain: Parliament: House of Lords: European Union Committee, 2011-03-28 The banking crisis in 2008 triggered a crisis of confidence in the financial health of Member States of the euro area The effect of the crisis across the EU demonstrated the interconnection between the banking sector and public finances In response the European Commission has put forward a series of legislative proposals that would monitor and coordinate more closely economic policies between Member States The proposals focus on two elements fiscal discipline and macroeconomic stability This report says that attempts to keep the euro area stable will fail unless EU Member States stick to the rules The Committee is sceptical that Member States will sustain the necessary political will to do so It says that controversial proposals for a Pact for the Euro risk developing a two speed Europe creating a significant distinction in the single market between those states inside the pact and those outside It warns that reassurances by the UK and several other Member States that the private sector would sustain no losses on sovereign debt issued before 2013 might prove too heavy a burden for taxpayers in countries such as Greece and Ireland to sustain The Committee recommends that the private sector share
