May the Farce Be With You Roger Foss, 2012-06-27 It seems a long way from Moliere to Ray Cooney There are immense distances between the worlds of Aristophanes Plautus Georges Feydeau Ben Travers Joe Orton and Basil Fawlty But as one of the oldest genres in the history of the theatre farce bridges the gaps by generating gales of helpless belly laughter across the generations Inspired by John Mortimer's observation that farce is tragedy played at a thousand revolutions a minute theatre critic Roger Foss embarks on a lightning tour of the rib tickling world of confused characters absurd situations ruined reputations sexual innuendo and bravura comic acting and finds out if farce really is a force to be reckoned with in the 21st century The latest addition to the Oberon Masters series May The Farce Be With You celebrates the great creators and performers of farce notably master farceur Ray Cooney who celebrates his 80th birthday in 2012 in essays that will inform and entertain both the aficionado and anyone with a sense of humour Reel Men at War Ralph Donald, Karen MacDonald, 2011-04-18 As they transition into adulthood many American boys and young men spend a considerable amount of time engaging in physical sports playing violent video games and watching action movies including war films In many cases boys spend more time exposed to media models than they do with their fathers If as social learning theorists say masculinity is learned directly through a system of positive and negative reinforcement what manly behaviors do war films clearly define and reinforce And what unmanly behaviors do war films clearly prohibit In Reel Men at War Masculinity and the American War Film authors Ralph Donald and Karen MacDonald consider the influence that war films bring to bear on the socialization of young boys in America Analyzing nearly 150 American war films and television programs this book considers such issues as major male stereotypes both positive and negative in film the influence of sports as an alternate to mortal combat why men admire war and value winning so highly and how war films define manly courage Throughout the book the authors comment on the depiction of post traumatic stress disorder the stages of grief and suicide in war films as well as applying Jungian and Freudian theories to war and soldiering Reel Men at War will be of interest not only to professors and students of cinema and mass communications but also to scholars of history gender studies and sociology

Michael Bay Lutz Koepnick,2018-02-05 If size counts for anything Michael Bay towers over his contemporaries His summer defining event films involve extraordinary production costs and churn enormous box office returns His ability to mastermind breathtaking spectacles of action mayhem and special effects continually push the movie industry as much as the medium of film toward new frontiers Lutz Koepnick engages the bigness of works like Armageddon and the Transformers movies to explore essential questions of contemporary filmmaking and culture Combining close analysis and theoretical reflection Koepnick shows how Bay s films knowingly or not address profound issues about what it means to live in the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries According to Koepnick s astute readings no one eager to understand the state of cinema today can ignore Bay s work Bay s cinema of world making and transnational reach not only exemplifies interlocking processes of cultural and economic globalization It urges us to contemplate the future of moving images of memory matter community and experience amid a time of rampant political populism and ever accelerating technological change An eye opening look at one of Hollywood s most polarizing directors Michael Bay illuminates what energizes the films of this cinematic and cultural force

The Power of Equivocation Amy Kalmanofsky, 2022 The Power of Equivocation reveals the complexity inherent in biblical narratives particularly those featuring female characters and models a way of reading that enables critical religious interpreters to straddle their dual identities and loyalties and read the Bible critically generously and honestly

Jeff Lemire Dale Jacobs, 2022-04-19 In a 2019 interview with the webzine DC in the 80s Jeff Lemire b 1976 discusses the comics he read as a child growing up in Essex County Ontario his early exposure to reprints of Silver Age DC material how influential Crisis on Infinite Earths and DC's Who's Who were on him as a developing comics fan his first reading of Watchmen and The Dark Knight Returns and his transition to reading the first wave of Vertigo titles when he was sixteen In other interviews he describes discovering independent comics when he moved to Toronto days of browsing comics at the Beguiling and coming to understand what was possible in the medium of comics lessons he would take to heart as he began to establish himself as a cartoonist Many cartoonists deflect from questions about their history with comics and the influences of other artists while others indulge the interviewer briefly before attempting to steer the questions in another direction But Lemire creator of Essex County Trilogy Sweet Tooth The Nobody and Trillium seems to bask in these discussions Before he was ever a comics professional he was a fan What can be traced in these interviews is the story of the movement from comics fan to comics professional In the twenty nine interviews collected in Jeff Lemire Conversations readers see Lemire come to understand the process of collaboration the balancing act involved in working for different kinds of comics publishers like DC and Marvel the responsibilities involved in representing characters outside his own culture and the possibilities that exist in the comics medium We see him embrace a variety of genres using each of them to explore the issues and themes most important to him And we see a cartoonist and writer growing in confidence a working professional coming into his own

Good Nights Out Aleks Sierz, 2019-12-12 London's West End is a global success story staging phenomenal hit shows that have delighted millions of spectators and generated billions of pounds in revenue In Good Nights Out Aleks Sierz provides a thematic survey of such popular theatre shows that were enormous commercial successes over the past 75 years He argues that these outstanding hits have a lot to say about the collective cultural social and political attitudes and aspirations of the country and about how our national identity and theatre's role in creating it has evolved over the decades The book spans a range of work from almost forgotten plays such as R F Delderfield's Worm's Eye View and Hugh Hastings's Seagulls Over Sorrento to well known mega hits such as The Mousetrap and The Phantom of the Opera Such popular work has tended to be undervalued by some critics and commentators mainly because it has not been thought to be a suitable subject for inclusion in the canon of English Literature By contrast Sierz demonstrates that genres such as the British musical light comedy sex farce or murder mystery are worth appreciating not only for their intrinsic theatrical qualities but also as examples of the dream life of the British people The book challenges the idea that mega hits are merely escapist entertainments and instead shows how they contribute to the creation of powerful myths about our national life The analysis of such shows also points towards the possibility of creating an alternative history of postwar British theatre

Curse the Bells Douglas Andrew Wakeling, 2013-12-24 This story chronicles the life of John Joseph Layburn from his humble beginnings in the small market town of Otley where in his youth he was apprenticed to the famous Chippendale furniture makers to his death in the new continent sixty years later A family tragedy causes him to leave his wife and children in England and set off on a remarkable journey His adventures take him to the magnificent mighty Niagara Falls of British North America the historical island of St Helena in the South Atlantic where Napoleon Bonaparte was interned and buried and finally to New South Wales On the way our traveller is shipwrecked on Flinders Island near Van Diemen's land now called Tasmania John finally settles in the picturesque mid west town of Carcoar which was to be his home for twenty years Although John does not allow the morality of the day stop him from having what he wanted he leaves a legacy of being a loving father whose indomitable spirit meant he was not afraid to take risks When tragedy strikes he demonstrates his courage in overcoming adversity and living life to the fullest

Some Joe You Don't Know Anthony Slide, 1996-01-23 Americans have been watching and enjoying British television programming since the mid 1950s but the information on the personalities involved is difficult if not impossible to find in the United States This guide provides biographical essays complete with bibliographies on 100 of the best known and loved actors and actresses from Richard Greene Robin Hood and William Russell Sir Lancelot in the 1950s through stars of Masterpiece Theatre including Robin Ellis and Jean Marsh to the new generation of British comedy performers such as Alexei Sayle and Jennifer Saunders Not only are serious dramatic

Korean War Filmography Robert J. Lentz, 2016-05-01 The Korean experience changed the way Americans viewed war The lack of a clear cut victory inspired filmmakers to try to make sense of fighting another country's civil war and risking American lives for an unpopular cause This filmography details more than 90 English language films Each entry includes complete cast and credit listings a plot synopsis evaluation review snippets and notice of video availability This book places each film in its historical context assesses the essential truthfulness of each film and evaluates its entertainment value and discusses how and why Korean War films differ from other Hollywood war genres Four appendices list the films by chronology production company and studio level of historical accuracy and subject and theme Additional appendices list films with incidental references to the Korean War documentaries on the Korean War and South Korean films about the war Photographs a bibliography and an index are included

Life Between The Lines John Izbicki, 2012-07-01 John Izbicki has an exciting story to tell Berlin born he lived through the horrors of Nazi persecution and on the day after his eighth birthday he witnessed the Kristallnacht and the smashing of his parents' shop windows On the day Germany invaded Poland and Berlin experienced its first wartime blackout the Izbickis escaped to Holland and from there on to England The author describes what it feels like to have been a refugee unable to speak or understand a single word of English and how he was persuaded by a kind policeman to change his name from Horst to John He also leads the reader along the remarkable journey he travelled from school to university the first of his family to enter higher education and through his adventurous time as a commissioned army officer during two years of national service spent in Egypt and Libya But the best part of his life was yet to come when this young refugee decided to make journalism his profession The boy who not that many years earlier could speak not a word of English became the distinguished education correspondent of the country's leading quality newspaper the Daily Telegraph After eighteen years in that responsible position he was sent to Paris to head the Telegraph's office there When he left the newspaper to join the Committee of Directors of Polytechnics he played a leading part in transforming the country's polytechnics into its new universities

Antifascism After Hitler Catherine Plum, 2015-02-20 Antifascism After Hitler investigates the antifascist stories memory sites and youth reception that were critical to the success of political education in East German schools and extracurricular activities As the German Democratic Republic GDR promoted national identity and socialist consciousness two of the most potent historical narratives to permeate youth education became tales of communist resisters who fought against fascism and the heroic deeds of the Red Army in World War II. These stories and iconic images illustrate the message that was presented to school age children and adolescents in stages as they advanced through school and participated in the official communist youth organizations and other activities. This text delivers the first comprehensive study of youth antifascism in the GDR extending scholarship beyond the level of the state to consider the everyday contributions of local institutions and youth mentors responsible for conveying stories and commemorative practices to generations born during WWII and after the defeat of fascism. While the government sought to use educators and former resistance fighters as ideological shock troops it could not completely dictate how these stories would be told with memory intermediaries altering at times the narrative and message. Using a variety of primary sources including oral history interviews the author also assesses how students viewed antifascism with reactions ranging from strong identification to indifference and dissent. Antifascist education and commemoration were never simply state prescribed and were not as participation less as some scholars and contemporary observers claim even as educators fought a losing battle to maintain enthusiasm.
