Oros,2025-09-09 Major demographic transitions are underway in Asia and the Pacific The populations of China Japan Taiwan South Korea and Russia are aging and shrinking while India the Philippines Vietnam and Australia among others continue to grow How will these striking changes affect regional security dynamics and the United States led alliance structure in the Indo Pacific Andrew L Oros offers an expert analysis of how rapid aging and population shifts are transforming the military strategies and capabilities of regional powers in Asia Examining sixteen states he provides a comparative view of the developing landscape and explores ways to address the consequences Oros demonstrates that contrary to what many have claimed states with shrinking populations will continue to be formidable military powers He develops a novel theoretical and empirical argument for why rapid aging does not necessarily dampen security competition Nonetheless demographic shifts in the coming decades will fundamentally alter the security challenges facing the United States and its allies Oros considers how technological change and health care advances are mitigating the drawbacks of aging populations as well as how factors such as autonomous defense systems and artificial intelligence present new challenges Rigorous and timely Asia s Aging Security makes a forceful case that adjustment to demographic change is a necessity for twenty first century foreign policy Propelling India from Socialist Stagnation to Global Power: Growth

The International Politics of the Asia Pacific Michael Yahuda, 2012-12-06 This second edition of Michael Yahuda's extremely successful textbook introduces students to the international politics of the Asia Pacific region since 1945. Chinese-Japanese Competition and the East Asian Security Complex Jeffrey Reeves, Jeffrey Hornung, Kerry Lynn Nankivell, 2017-07-14 This volume examines contemporary diplomatic, economic and security competition between China and Japan in the Asia Pacific region. The book outlines the role that Sino-Japanese competition plays in East Asian security, an area of study largely overlooked in contemporary writing on Asian security which tends to focus on US-China relations and/or US hegemony in Asia. The volume focuses on Chinese and Japanese foreign policy under President Xi Jinping and Prime Minister Shinzo Abe and regional security dynamics within and between Asian states/institutions since 2012. It employs regional security complex theory as a theoretical framework to view Chinese and Japanese competition in the Asian region. In doing so, the volume draws on a levels of analysis approach to demonstrate the value in looking at security in the Asia Pacific from a regional rather than global perspective. The vast majority of existing research on the region's security tends to focus on great power relations and treats Asia as a sub-region within the larger global security architecture. In contrast, this volume shows how competition between the two largest Asian economies shapes East Asia's security environment and drives security priorities across Asia's sub-regions. As such, this collection provides an important contribution to discussion on security in Asia, one with potential to influence both political and military policy makers, security practitioners and scholars. This book will be of much interest to students of Asian politics, regional security, diplomacy and international relations.

Asia-Pacific Security Cooperation: National Interests and Regional Order See Seng Tan, 2014-12-18 New developments in the Asia Pacific are forcing regional officials to rethink the way they manage security issues. The contributors to this work explore why some forms of security cooperation and institutionalisation in the region have proven more feasible than others. This work describes the emergence of the professions in late tsarist Russia and their struggle for autonomy from the aristocratic state. It also examines the ways in which the Russian professions both resembled and differed from their Western counterparts.
