Cultural Moment in Tourism Laurajane Smith, Emma Waterton, Steve Watson, 2012-07-26 This book is a response to the burgeoning interest in cultural tourism and the associated need for a coherently theorized approach for understanding the practices that such an interest creates Cultural tourism has become an important and popular aspect of contemporary tourism studies as well as providing a rich seam of upscale product development opportunities in the industry as a whole Much of the related literature however focuses upon describing and categorizing cultural tourism from a supply side perspective This has prompted the taxonomizing of cultural tourists on the basis of their level of involvement and interest in cultural tourism products and or their economic worth as a sought after market segment There have been few recent attempts at a rigorous re theorization of the issues beyond conventional representational theories this book aims to fill that void This groundbreaking volume provides a theoretical and empirical account of what it means to be a cultural or heritage tourist It achieves this by exploring the interactions of people with places spaces intangible heritage and ways of life not as linear alignments but as seductive moments of encounter engagement performance and meaning making which are constitutive of cultural experience in its broadest sense The book further explores encounters in cultural tourism as events that capture and constitute important social relations involving power and authority self consciousness and social position gender and space history and the present It also explores the consequences these insights have for our understanding of culture and heritage and its management in the context of tourist activity In capturing the cultural moment this book provides a better understanding of the motivations on site activities meaning constructions and other cultural work done by both tourists and tourist operators The volume confronts and explores the cultural political and economical interrelations between culture heritage and the tourism industry In so doing it also investigates how this co mingling of identity representation and social life may be better apprehended with the wider shift in critical thought towards notions of affect and performativity The book is a fundamental and influential contribution to research in this field It will be of significant value to students academics and researchers interested in this broad topic area

Real Tourism

Claudio Minca, Tim Oakes, 2012 Over the past decade tourism studies has broken out of its traditional institutional affiliation with business and management programs to take its legitimate place as an interdisciplinary social science field of cutting edge scholarship The field has emerged as central to ongoing debates in social theory concerning such diverse topics as postcolonialism mobility and postmodernism to name just a few While there has been a diverse body of empirical research on this transformation the theoretical discussions in tourism studies remain largely attached to theories of modernity and Anglo-centric assumptions about tourism There is a need for the field to come to terms theoretically with the contemporary and future realities of tourism as a truly global phenomenon Real Tourism is a significant volume which sets this new theoretical agenda engaging directly with what tourism does in practice and in place and demonstrates the need for a theoretical intervention that moves tourism scholarship beyond the province of Anglophone thinking The volume achieves this by explicitly bridging the western and the non western scholarship on tourism reframing theoretical discussions around the real practices instead of abstract typologies and radically delinking tourism theory from the grand narratives of modernity and assumptions about authenticity identity tradition and development The book brings together leading academics in the field and provides provocative multidisciplinary and multi contextual reflection on the future of tourism This original timely and compelling volume puts forward new post modernist ideas and arguments about tourism today and in the future It is essential reading for students researchers and academics interested in Tourism

Shelley's Textual Seductions Samuel Lyndon

Gladden,2016-01-08 First published in 2002 This book surveys how and to what effect Shelley uses erotic narratives to mask political rhetoric within his attempts to describe and bring forth utopia Posing erotic relationships as both an exemplar of the inequities of power and a paradigm for alternative social orders that dismantle oppressive structures it argues Shelley s work imagines a space where the rigidity of tyranny succumbs to the liberation of ecstatic union From the Romantics to the Aesthetes it argues that this model contributed to a counter tradition in British literature which situates the erotic as a trope for political discourse This work will be of interest to students of literature      The dying faith, by Lara George Chetwynd Griffith,1884      New Developments in Film Theory Patrick Fuery,2017-05-08 This book examines some of the most significant recent developments in film and critical theory The book is divided into four sections each dealing with established and alternative critical concepts and approaches These four are The Gaze and Subjectivity Film and Discourse Film and Culture Film and Meaning Each of these topics is explored using concepts from post structuralism and postmodernism working towards the idea that the relationship between film studies and critical theory is a vital and diverse interplay of rich and exciting ideas      Routledge Library Editions: History of Sexuality Various Authors,2021-02-12 Reissuing seven works originally published between 1977 and 1992 this collection offers a varied selection of surveys of historical practices and attitudes to sexuality from complete reviews of changing attitudes through time to individual studies of France in the 19th and 20th Centuries and England in the 17th This set will be of interest in sociology gender studies cultural studies and history
