Handbook on Spices and Condiments (Cultivation, Processing and Extraction) H. Panda, 2010-10-01. The term Spice and Condiments applies to natural plant or vegetable products or mixtures in whole or ground form which are used for imparting flavour, aroma, and piquancy to the food items. Spices and condiments are a major commercial crop in India and earn a major part of foreign exchange annually. They have been the backbone of agricultural industry. The importance of spices and condiment in dietary, medicinal, and other uses and their commercial importance are immense. India is known the world over as the home of spices. Thus, spices are an important group of agricultural goods which are virtually indispensable in the culinary art. Spice processing includes different steps: spice cleaning, spice reconditioning, and spice grinding. Some spices were also used for preserving food like meat for a year or more without refrigeration. In the 16th century, cloves, for instance, were among the spices used to preserve food without refrigeration. Cloves contain a chemical called eugenol that inhibits the growth of bacteria. It is a natural antibiotic. It is still used to preserve food like Virginia Ham. Likewise, later, mustard and ground mustard were also found to have preservative qualities. India alone contributes 25-30% of the total world trade in spices. It may be interesting to note that nine spices, namely, pepper, ginger, clove, cinnamon, cassia, mace, nutmeg, pimento, allspice, and cardamom, alone contributed as much as 90% of the total world trade. Pepper is the most important spice in the world and so also of India. This book basically deals with brief history of spices, uses of spices, world
