Murphy, 2012-11-26 In Seizing the Means of Reproduction M Murphy's initial focus on the alternative health practices developed by radical feminists in the United States during the 1970s and 1980s opens into a sophisticated analysis of the transnational entanglements of American empire population control neoliberalism and late twentieth century feminisms. Murphy concentrates on the technoscientific means the technologies practices protocols and processes developed by feminist health activists. They argue that by politicizing the technical details of reproductive health alternative feminist practices aimed at empowering women were also integral to late twentieth century biopolitics. Murphy traces the transnational circulation of cheap do it yourself health interventions highlighting the uneasy links between economic logics new forms of racialized governance U S imperialism family planning and the rise of NGOs. In the twenty first century feminist health projects have followed complex and discomfiting itineraries. The practices and ideologies of alternative health projects have found their way into World Bank guidelines state policies and commodified research. While the particular moment of U S feminism in the shadow of Cold War and postcolonialism has passed its dynamics continue to inform the ways that health is governed and politicized today.

Seizing Your Divine Moment Erwin Raphael McManus, 2002-11-03 In this inspiring book Erwin McManus uses the biblical account of Israel's war with the Philistines 1 Samuel 13 and 14 and the characters of Saul and Jonathan to demonstrate the difference between living a life of purpose and adventure and living one of apathy and missed opportunity. In the midst of a less than hopeful battle Saul who should have been leading rested beneath a pomegranate tree as Jonathan seized the divine moment that would impact the future of Israel. Through this story McManus artfully illustrates the eight characteristics of an adventurer's heart what he calls the Jonathan factor. Using powerful examples from his own life and ministry along with fresh biblical teaching McManus asserts that God crafts divine moments specific to each of us priceless opportunities for us to actively engage in God's big picture plan. Apathy and apprehension prevent us from being all we are meant to be for God's kingdom. But by developing the characteristics McManus outlines Christians can move from mundane to miraculous living.

Theological Analyses of the Clinical Encounter G.P. McKenny, J.R. Sande, 2013-04-17 Efforts to evaluate the clinical encounter in terms of autonomous agents governed by rationally justified moral principles continue to be criticised. These essays written by physicians ethicists theologians and philosophers examine various models of the clinical encounter emerging out of these criticisms and explore the prospects they offer for theological and religious discourse. Individual essays focus on the reformulation of covenant models revisions of principles approaches and topics such as power authority narrative rhetoric dialogue and alterity. The essays display a range of conclusions about whether theology articulates generally accessible religious insights or is a tradition specific discipline. Hence the volume reflects current debates in theology while analysing current models of the clinical encounter. Students professionals and scholars who find themselves at the intersection of theology and medicine will welcome these voices in an ongoing conversation

Thinking Through the Skin Sara Ahmed, Jackie Stacey, 2003-09-02 This exciting collection of work from leading feminist scholars including Elspeth Probyn Penelope Deutscher and Chantal Nadeau engages with and extends the growing feminist literature on lived and imagined embodiment and argues for consideration of the skin as a site where bodies take form already written upon but open to endless re inscription Individual chapters consider such issues as the significance of piercing tattooing and tanning

the assault of self harm upon the skin the relation between body painting and the land among the indigenous people of Australia and the cultural economy of fur in Canada Pierced mutilated and marked mortified and glorified scarred by disease and stretched and enveloping the skin of another in pregnancy skin is seen here as both a boundary and a point of connection the place where one touches and is touched by others both the most private of experiences and the most public marker of a raced sexed and national history

Reproducing Narrative Michael Thomson, 2018-12-20 First published in 1998 Reproducing Narrative sets out to interrogate a number of medico legal reproductive discourses Recognizing that these dialogues are heavily imprecated in broader social political and economic discourses it is contended that responses to reproductive issues are influenced and possibly determined by non reproductive concerns both at a parochial and more general level Whilst a number of such influential narratives are recognized the book concentrates on the narratives of gender which appear implicit within the discourses and practices considered Given the productive nature of discourse and the traditional premising of gender on sexual difference it becomes apparent that the explicit figuring of the female reproductive body becomes a means of realizing the implicit gender narratives within these discourses Privileged medico legal discourses become understood as a technology of gender an important site at which gender is constituted
