Major Donors The Key To Successful Fundraising:

Major Donors Robert M. Zimmerman, 2006-09-01 A co publication of Zimmerman Lehman and Unlimited Publishing LLC this book shows that the greatest gap between potential and reality in nonprofit fundraising is in the area of major donor solicitation Every day organizations are sending letters to folks who could make contributions of 50 000 or 500 000 but only asking for 50 Every organization should be thankful for small contributions from donors of modest means but it is wise to keep in mind that 90 percent of donations to nonprofits come from 10 percent of the donors It is no exaggeration to state that the principal reason to do any sort of individual donor appeal is to locate the relatively small number of contributors who have the ability to make a large gift Major Donors Ted Hart, James M. Filled with insights, tips, lessons learned, and poignant stories, this book will help nonprofit executives, board members, and volunteers alike leave work at the end of each day knowing they made a difference in the lives of others. With nearly twenty-seven years in the nonprofit sector, John Bateson, executive director of a busy crisis center, has seen it all. Eager to share his knowledge, he explains what it takes to lead employees and volunteers as well as how to satisfy the other stakeholders: donors, government officials, board members, and of course, service recipients. As Bateson demonstrates so eloquently, the relationship between nonprofit organizations and all these stakeholders is built on trust, need, compassion, and above all else, hope. Building Hope tells from the trenches what it's like to lead and manage a nonprofit agency. Filled with insights, tips, lessons learned, and poignant stories, this book will help nonprofit executives, board members, and volunteers alike leave work at the end of each day knowing they made a difference in the lives of others. With nearly twenty-seven years in the nonprofit sector, John Bateson, executive director of a busy crisis center, has seen it all. Eager to share his knowledge, he explains what it takes to lead employees and volunteers as well as how to satisfy the other stakeholders: donors, government officials, board members, and of course, service recipients. As Bateson demonstrates so eloquently, the relationship between nonprofit organizations and all these stakeholders is built on trust, need, compassion, and above all else, hope. But stakeholders expect a lot in return: like competence and evidence that the organization is making a difference in the community and the lives of others. Leading nonprofits competently is what this book is all about. Each chapter focuses on a different facet of nonprofit leadership: how to build a strong and effective governing board, manage and inspire staff, develop efficient and effective programs, raise money, recruit and retain talented volunteers, market the agency, manage finances, and plan for the future. Best of all, each chapter is laced with stories that hammer home a point. What happens and what to do when a major gift solicitation goes horribly wrong, why cultural competency is critical, and what unusual interview questions can uncover the most promising potential employees. The workload can be crushing and the stress level high in the nonprofit world. Yet being able to look around a community and see tangible evidence of success makes it all worthwhile. This book will help provide the skills and the heart nonprofit managers need to make a difference and build the hope that will sustain others for years to come Face Time:
