The book examines the globalization of local policing through an ethnographic study of the Danish Police Where many studies are looking into how larger inter or transnational policing bodies and policies are changing the world of policing few have gauged how local public police forces are also globalizing This book provides some unique insights into this under researched process Specifically it describes the daily practices and perceptions of two Danish detective task forces tasked with the investigation of organized property crimes committed by foreign nationals In the book readers get to see how the detectives think and work including the many efforts they make in attuning their daily work to a more global reality More so readers get to see how the detectives fail and the many frustrations and concerns that such changes include One the one hand Danish detectives very much understand the need to de localize and develop their work On the other hand they feel that many of these changes are in conflict with what they find to be real and rewarding police work For people interested in contemporary issues of policing the book thus points to a puzzling paradox Globalization might be making for more mobile and even mobilised local forces more technologically driven and collaborating with international partners However these very processes are also making local officers feel more disarmed than ever Ultimately the book describes why that is its consequences as well as how to imagine a form of global policing more in tune with its local actors Forever Loved: Exposing the hidden Crisis of Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls in Canada Lavell Memee, D Harvard, 2016-05-01 The hidden crisis of missing and murdered Indigenous women and girls in Canada is both a national tragedy and a national shame In this ground breaking new volume as part of their larger efforts to draw attention to the shockingly high rates of violence against our sisters Jennifer Brant and D Memee Lavell Harvard have pulled together a variety of voices from the academic realms to the grassroots and front lines to speak on what has been identified by both the Inter American Commission on Human Rights and the United Nations as a grave violation of the basic human rights of Aboriginal women and girls Linking colonial practices with genocide through their exploration of the current statistics root causes and structural components of the issue including conversations on policing media and education the contributing authors illustrate the resilience strength courage and spirit of Indigenous women and girls as they struggle to survive in a society shaped by racism and sexism patriarchy and misogyny This book was created to honour our missing sisters their families their lives and their stories with the hope that it will offer lessons to non Indigenous allies and supporters so that we can all work together towards a nation that supports and promotes the safety and well being of all First Nation M tis and Inuit women and girls

International Prosecutors Luc Reydam, Jan Wouters, Cedric Ryngaert, 2012-05-31 This volume examines the prosecution as an institution and a function in a dozen international and hybrid criminal tribunals from Nuremberg to the International Criminal Court It is the result of a sustained collaborative effort among some twenty scholars and former tribunal staffers The starting point is that the prosecution shapes a tribunal s practice and legacy more than any other organ and that a systematic examination of international prosecutors is therefore warranted The chapters are organized chronologically according to the successive phases of the life of the institution and the various stages of the trials The analysis includes each institution s establishment mandate and jurisdiction as well as the prosecutorial framework and strategy the prosecutor s external relations and the completion of the institution s work The book also considers the prosecutors independence and impartiality and their accountability for their decisions The volume thus provides a comprehensive picture of the mandate organization and operation of the prosecution in international criminal trials As the first comprehensive study of an international legal actor whose decisions have widespread political repercussions this book will be essential reading for all with an interest in international criminal justice

The Persistent Prison? Maeve Winifred McMahon, 1992-01-01 The Prison system is widely believed to be an immutable element of contemporary society Many criminologists and sociologists of deviance believe that decarceration movements have failed to yield progressive reform and that feasible alternatives to the prison system do not exist Maeve McMahon challenges these views Reconstructing the emergence of critical perspectives on decarceration she examines analytical and empirical problems in the research She also points out how indicators of community programs and other penalties serving as alternatives to prison have typically been overshadowed through critical focus on their effects in widening the net of control McMahon presents a detailed analysis of decreasing imprisonment and of the part played by alternatives in this during the postwar period in Ontario Drawing from extensive documentary research and from interviews with former correctional officials she charts the changing climates of opinions and socio economic factors which facilitated decarceration By situating her analysis in the context of theoretical and political arguments about the possibility of decarceration McMahon provides in her work a stimulus to the development of progressive penal politics not just in Canada but in all western countries
