Making Lesbians Visible In The Substance Use Field:

Making Lesbians Visible in the Substance Use Field Elizabeth Ettorre, 2005 Making Lesbians Visible in the Substance Use Field marks an important step in the creation of an environment to heal the hurt of invisibility felt by lesbian substance users This unique book works to develop an understanding of the complex relationship between sexual orientation and substance use by challenging the traditional stereotypes about the behavior identity and culture of sexual minority women Contributors draw on ethnographic work grounded theory and personal accounts to present quantitative and qualitative data on depression race ethnicity social identity self esteem recovery addiction counselors and treatment programs and HIV risk and infection

Women and Alcohol Patsy Staddon, 2015-06-03 This research and practice based book considers the social meaning of women s alcohol use and its treatment raising concerns about the political role of treatment in making women behave or to be well It challenges current policy and practice in the field and aims to develop a new approach to women s drinking

Heterosexism in Health and Social Care J. Fish, 2006-10-31 This interdisciplinary text develops a theory of heterosexism and provides everyday examples from health and social care environments It engages with current debates including intersecting identities and presents a coherent analysis of the health and social care needs of lesbian gay bisexual and transgender people

Autoethnography as Feminist Method Elizabeth Ettorre, 2016-11-25 Autoethnography is an ideal method to study the feminist I Through personal stories the author reflects on how feminists negotiate agency and the effect this has on one s political sensibilities Speaking about oneself transforms into stories of political responsibility a key issue for feminists who function as cultural mediators

Health and Wellness Concerns for Racial, Ethnic, and Sexual Minorities Joshua C. Collins, Tonette S. Rocco, Lawrence O. Bryant, 2014-06-13 Minority status in the United States often accompanies diminished access to education employment and subsequently health care This volume explores factors that have contributed to health disparities among racial ethnic and sexual minorities Focused on developing strategies for understanding these disparities and promoting wellness in minority communities the authors highlight social forces such as racism ethnocentrism sexism and homophobia which continue to influence not only access to and quality of care but also perception and trust of health care professionals The authors identify several common themes including the importance of communication intentional and unintentional discriminatory structures and perhaps most significantly the role of culturally relevant learning sites This is the 142nd volume of the Jossey Bass series New Directions for Adult and Continuing Education Noted for its depth of coverage it explores issues of common interest to instructors administrators counselors and policymakers in a broad range of education settings such as colleges and universities extension programs businesses libraries and museums

Mental Health Service Users in Research Patsy Staddon, 2015-01-14 In examining how our identity shapes the knowledge we produce Mental health service users in research considers ways of doing research which bring multiple understandings together effectively and explains the sociological use of autobiography and its relevance
