Making Of Modern Iraq 1st Edition:

Sonic Icons Sarah Bakker Kellogg, 2024-11-05 A vivid artfully crafted and deeply hopeful account of one community's struggle to rediscover and reinvent itself after a century of genocidal loss dispossession and displacement To the extent that Middle Eastern Christians register in Euro American political imaginaries they are usually invoked to justify Western military intervention into countries like Iraq or Syria or as an exemption to anti Islamic immigration policies because of an assumption that their Christianity makes them easily assimilable in the so called Judeo Christian West Using the tools of multisensory ethnography Sonic Icons uncovers how these views work against the very communities they are meant to benefit Through long term fieldwork in the Netherlands among Syriac Orthodox Christians also known as Assyrians Aramaeans and Syriacs Bakker Kellogg reveals how they intertwine religious practice with political activism to save Syriac Christianity from the twin threats of political violence in the Middle East and cultural assimilation in Europe In a historical moment when much of their tradition has been forgotten or destroyed their story of self discovery is one of survival and reinvention By reviving the late antique Syriac liturgical tradition known as the Daughters and Sons of the Covenant they seek a complex form of recognition for what they understand to be the ethical core of Christian kinship in an ethnic as well as in a religious sense despite living in societies that do not recognize this unhyphenated form of ethnoreligiosity as a politically legitimate mode of public identity Drawing on both theological and linguistic understandings of the icon Sonic Icons rethinks foundational theoretical accounts of ethnicization racialization and secularization by examining how kinship gets made claimed and named in the global politics of minority recognition The icon as a site of communicative and reproductive power illuminates how these processes are shaped by religious histories of struggle for sovereignty over the reproductive future

The Making of Modern Muslim Selves through Architecture Farhan S. Karim, Patricia Blessing, 2023-10-20 This collection seeks to explore alternative definitions of bounded identities facilitating new approaches to spatial and architectural forms Taking as its starting point the emergence of a new sense of boundary emerged from the post 19th century dissolution of large heterogeneous empires into a mosaic of nation states in the Islamic world This new sense of boundaries has not only determined the ways in which we imagine and construct the idea of modern citizenship but also redefines relationships between the nation citizenship cities and architecture It brings critical perspectives to our understanding of the interrelation between the accumulated flows and the evolving concepts of boundary in predominantly Muslim societies and within the global Muslim diaspora Essays in this book seek to investigate how architecture mediates the creation and deployment of boundaries and boundedness that have been devised to define enable obstruct accumulate and or control flows able to disrupt bounded territories or identities More generally the book explores how architecture might be considered as a means to understand the relationship between flows and boundaries and its implication of defining modern self The essays in this volume collectively address how the construction of self is primarily a spatial event and

Malovany analyzes Iraqi participation in the 1948 1967 and 1973 Arab wars against Israel as well as Iraq's wars with the Kurds during the twentieth century. His primary focus however is the era of Saddam Hussein 1979 2003 who implemented rapid and significant military growth and fought three major wars against Iran from 1980 to 1988 and against coalition forces led by the United States in 1991 and 2003. He examines the Iraqi military at the strategic operative and tactical levels, explains its forces and branches and investigates its use of both conventional and unconventional weapons. The first study to offer a portrait of an Arab army from its own point of view, Wars of Modern Babylon features interviews with and personal accounts from officers at various levels as well as press accounts covering the politics and conflicts of the period. Malovany also analyzes books written by key figures in the Iraqi government and the army high command. His definitive chronicle offers English speakers new and overlooked perspectives on critical developments in twentieth century history. The book won the Israel Yitzhak Sade Award for Military Literature in 2010. Antiquarian Bookman, 1966
