Margins Of Insecurity Minorities International Security:

Margins of Insecurity Sam C. Nolutshungu, 1996 A number of crises since the end of the Cold War have demonstrated the insecurity of ordinary people in circumstances where states are either unable to provide protection or are themselves the principle sources of violence Public opinion has provoked international politicians to recognise a problem in which they should intervene but it is rare for effective policies to be implemented Emerging from a series of workshops on the International Security of Marginal Populations the essays seek solutions which go beyond the traditional emphasis on the interests of the state and give due weight to the needs of minority populations SAM C NOLUTSHUNGU was Professor of Political Science in the Frederick Douglass Institute of African and African American studies at the University of Rochester Contributors DAVID LAITIN KIM HOPPER ZOLTAN BARANY JONATHAN BOYARIN REMY LEVEAU ALFRED DARNELL CHARLES R HALE ANTHONY ASIWAJU SAM NOLUTSHUNGU Security and Sustainable Development in Myanmar Helen James, 2006-09-27 Helen James considers security in Myanmar Burma She uses the ideas put forward in the United Nations Development Programme's 1994 report of human as opposed to state and security going on to argue that freedom from want and freedom from fear of the regime are in fact mutually supportive ideas and that the security of the people and the security of the state are in fact in a symbiotic relationship with each other Presenting new and significant information of the security concept of Myanmar Burma James original work considers economic development health education environmental issues the drugs trade human rights minority peoples and political social and economic reforms arguing that improved governance the development of civil society and economic development would both strengthen the state and ensure the security and well being of its citizens Haunted by History Cyril Buffet, Beatrice Heuser, 1998 Europe is a continent weighed down by the shadows of its past its wars the traditional enmities the suspicions of neighbours fuelled by historical memories This has immediate consequences for the understanding and representation of the past journalists politicians historians often apply simplistic pre conceived patterns i e myths to current events resulting in distorted and misleading analyses This volume exposes the way some historical myths such as Balance of Power Rapallo the Special Relationship the Franco German Couple the Peril of Islam are used to blur not to clarify our understanding of international affairs even to manipulate contemporary politics I William Zartman: A Pioneer in Conflict Management and Area Studies I. William Zartman, 2019-05-13 The work draws on wide ranging area analysis to develop inductively new concepts and approaches for further use in explanation and application Divided into two parts it begins with analysis of revolution and socio political unrest followed by models of ethnic conflict and elite circulation in developing societies It presents the cultural dialectic present in Islam It then lays out the patterns of mediation and negotiation in managing and resolving conflict culminating with an analysis of intractables Part two on governance lays out the nature of world order cooperation and conciliation It then turns to the challenges of identity ideology and interest with some specific attention to the nature of borders and borderlands and focuses on governance as conflict management and as negotiation This book encompasses a new analysis of a neglected part of International Relation the prevention and management of conflict The book confronts sources and patterns of contentious politics with systems and methods of governance The book lays out a comprehensive conceptualization of the process of conflict management and negotiation including questions of when as well as how

Those Who Stayed, 1922 Angelos Dalachanis,Alexis Rappas,2025-09-30 The year 1922 marks a major turning point in Eastern Mediterranean history with the abolition of the Ottoman Sultanate concluding a long period of upheaval known as the Eastern Question As the empire gave way to European colonization and the nation state model its once multicultural societies were homogenized through violence population transfers and treaties The liberal principle of national self determination often led to devastating human costs as populations were either massacred forcibly exchanged or reduced to minorities within new political entities While scholarship has thoroughly documented the demographic changes that accompanied the post Ottoman transition this volume focuses on a less explored dimension the agency of those labeled as minorities It examines how these communities navigated their new reality within emerging nation states or League of Nations mandates Adopting a broad and situational understanding of minority it includes both legally defined groups and those marginalized in practice such as Muslims in Western Thrace Christians in Istanbul Armenians in Jerusalem Muslims in Serbia and Jews in Salonica The volume uses diverse methodologies archival research network analysis microhistory and translocal perspectives to investigate the lived experiences of entrenched minorities It offers new insights into both lesser known and familiar minority groups while engaging critically with existing literature By emphasizing these groups strategies and resilience the volume challenges narratives dominated by violence and nostalgia offering a more nuanced understanding of post 1922 Eastern Mediterranean history It will appeal not only to scholars of minority studies but to anyone interested in the region s modern past

Fragments of Democracy Gavin Williams,2003 Originally presented as a lecture this occasional paper argues that definitions of democracy are incomplete and their meanings dependent on their historical context

The Frontiers of Europe Malcolm Anderson,Eberhard Bort,1998-01-01 The political geography of Europe and consequentially the issues confronting the European Union have changed radically since 1989 Understanding the complex nature of international frontiers in Europe is essential in contemporary politics

Women and Gender in Central and Eastern Europe, Russia, and Eurasia Mary Zirin,Irina Livezeanu,Christine D. Worobec,June Pachuta Farris,2015-03-26 This is the first comprehensive multidisciplinary and multilingual bibliography on Women and Gender in East Central Europe and the Balkans Vol 1 and The Lands of the Former Soviet Union Vol 2 over the past millennium The coverage encompasses the relevant territories of the Russian Hapsburg and Ottoman empires Germany and Greece and the Jewish and Roma diasporas Topics range from legal status and marital customs to economic participation and gender roles plus unparalleled documentation of women writers and artists and autobiographical works of all kinds The volumes include approximately 30

000 bibliographic entries on works published through the end of 2000 as well as web sites and unpublished dissertations. Many of the individual entries are annotated with brief descriptions of major works and the tables of contents for collections and anthologies. The entries are cross referenced and each volume includes indexes.

European Integration and the Postmodern Condition Peter Van Ham, 2013-02-01. This is the first book to look at the process of European integration by drawing on both established and new trends in postmodern thinking and analysis. The book asks how we can study the process of European integration in the current climate and maps out the central elements of the academic debate dealing with the future of integration and Europe in general. The author stimulates fresh readings of the European issue encouraging the development of new analytical horizons. This is a significant cutting edge contribution to debates in politics, comparative politics and European studies.

Frontiers of the European Union M. Anderson, E. Bort, 2001-03-30. Based on original research, this book is a unique attempt at a general assessment of EU frontiers. Internal frontiers are losing some of their key functions but there are many responses to the new situation as a case study of French frontiers abundantly illustrates. An examination of the EU external frontier shows that the EU is acquiring some state-like features but the eastern frontier provides abundant evidence of the external frontier's complexity. The authors conclude that the increasing openness of national frontiers will continue but their effective abolition, whether by European integration or through globalization, is improbable.

Eastern Europe Sabrina P. Ramet, 1998. Eastern Europe addresses the emergence of uncertain pluralism in the region following the disintegration of the communist regimes in 1989. Taking a broad historical approach, the volume considers issues and challenges that have marked Eastern Europe from 1939 through World War II and the era of socialism up to the present. Eight comprehensive country studies are augmented by detailed assessments of economic developments, security issues, religious currents, cultural policies, and gender relations in the region.

Controlling Frontiers Elspeth Guild, 2017-05-15. Focusing in particular on the European borders, this volume brings together an interdisciplinary group of academics to consider questions of immigration and the free movement of people, linking control within the state to the role of the police and internal security. The contributors all take as the point of departure the significance of European governmentality within the Foucauldian meaning as opposed to the European governance perspective, which is already well represented in the literature. They discuss the relation between control of borders, introduction of biometrics, and freedom. The book makes available in English an analysis of an important and politically highly charged field from a major French critical perspective. It draws on different disciplines including law, politics, international relations, and philosophy.

Raimo Väyrynen: A Pioneer in International Relations, Scholarship and Policy-Making Raimo Väyrynen, 2023-01-03. This book provides a broad overview of Professor Raimo Väyrynen's academic work, his role in international research organizations, and his contributions to policy debates. It offers an interesting review of important political issues during the time span of half a century, from disarmament in Europe to the changing relationship between state sovereignty and transnational forces.

yrynen has dealt with the changing agenda of peace and international relations security and the arms race and the world economy This book provides comprehensive analyses of the regional and systemic structure of international relations with the emphasis on conflicts and warfare between nations It argues that while states even smaller ones still matter transnational issues are increasingly important Taking a historical perspective the articles suggest that large scale violence and arms races have been recurrent and cyclical phenomena in international relations These events reflect the deep seated inequalities in the political and economic systems which moreover vary considerably between regions The publication is important reading for any researcher as well as students policy makers and the science oriented public at large Traces the changing agenda of international relations from disarmament and the world economy to the changing relationship between state sovereignty and transnational forces Provides analyses of the regional and systemic structure in international relations with the emphasis on conflicts and warfare Argues that large scale violence and the arms race have been recurrent and cyclical phenomena in international relations Reviews important political issues from peace and conflict in Europe to the changing power relationship in the world Africa Development ,2005 A quarterly journal of the Council for the Development of Economic and Social Research in Africa Revue trimestrielle du conseil pour le developpement de la recherche economique et sociale en Afrique Subtitle varies slightly Future Multilateralism Michael G. Schechter,2016-07-27 The aim of this volume is to discuss the kinds of multilateralism that would be required to pursue some of the alternative projects of society namely those which agree with some of the key normative commitments of the MUNS programme non violent means for dealing with conflict social equity protection of the biosphere diffusion of power among social groups and societies The strategies identified here are both top down ie relying on conventional international institutions and bottom up ie involving a new multilateralism grounded in civil society Comparative Kurdish Politics in the Middle East Emel Elif Tugdar,Serhun Al,2017-09-12 This edited volume introduces the political social and economic intra Kurdish dynamics in the Middle East by comparatively analyzing the main actors their ideas and political interests As an ethnic group and a nation in the making Kurds are not homogeneous and united but rather the Kurdish Middle East is home to various competing political groups leaderships ideologies and interests Although many existing studies focus on the Kurds and their relations with the nation states that they populate few studies analyze the Kurdish Middle East within its own debates conflicts and interests from a comparative perspective across Iran Iraq Turkey and Syria This book analyzes the intra Kurdish dynamics with historically grounded theoretically informed and conceptually relevant scholarship that prioritizes comparative politics over international relations Governance and Border Security in Africa Celestine Oyom Bassey,Oshita O. Oshita,2010 The need therefore for effective governance through border security regimes arises from the intractable challenges of conflict management as a core objective of multilateral institutions and non governmental agencies in global governance Thus governance along the Frontier has come to be marked by density and complexity This density and complexity in frontier relations under score the disciplinary concern for border governance Book Jacket Nordic Journal of African Studies ,2001 Manufacturing Terrorism in Africa Mohamed Natheem Hendricks,2020-07-03 This book uses Securitisation Theory to explore how Muslims have been constructed as a security issue in Africa after the 9 11 attacks in the United States These attacks became the rationale for the US s Global War on Terror GWOT The centrality of Africa as an arena to execute the GWOT is the focus of this book This book explores particularly how western centred security discourses around Muslims has permeated South African security discourse in the post apartheid period It claims that the popular press and the local think tank community were critical knowledge sites that imported rather than interrogated debates which have underpinned policy initiatives such as the GWOT Such theorisation seems contrary to the original architects of securitisation theory who maintain that issues become security concerns when institutional voices declare these as such However this book confirms that non institutional voices have securitised the African Muslims by equating them with terrorism This book illustrates that such securitisation reproduces partisan knowledge that promote Western interests International Relations Theory and the Politics of European Integration Morten Kelstrup,Michael Williams,2006-12-05 International Relations Theory and the Politics of European Integration focuses on the roles of community power and security within the European Union It features contributions from highly respected international scholars and covers subjects such as sovereignty and European integration the EU and the politics of migration the internationalisation of military security the EU as a security actor money finance and power the quest for legitimacy with regards to EU enlargement
