History and Museums Division,1977 U.S. Marines In Vietnam: The Defining Year, 1968 Jack Shulimson,2015-11-06 The year 1968 was the year of the Tet Offensive including Khe Sanh and Hue City These were momentous events in the course of the war and they occurred in the first three months of the year This book however documents that 1968 was more than just the Tet Offensive The bloodiest month of the war for the U S forces was not January nor February 1968 but May 1968 when the Communists launched what was called their Mini Tet offensive This was followed by a second Mini Tet offensive during the late summer which also was repulsed at heavy cost to both sides By the end of the year the U S forces in South Vietnam s I Corps under the III Marine Amphibious Force III MAF had regained the offensive By December enemy initiated attacks had fallen to their lowest level in two years Still there was no talk of victory The Communist forces remained a formidable foe and a limit had been drawn on the level of American participation in the war Although largely written from the perspective of III MAF and the ground war in I Corps the volume also treats the activities of Marines with the Seventh Fleet Special Landing Force activities of Marine advisors to South Vietnamese forces and other Marine involvement in the war Separate chapters cover Marine aviation and the single manager controversy artillery logistics manpower and pacification E H SIMMONS Brigadier General U S Marine Corps Retired

U.S. Marines In Vietnam: The War That Would Not End, 1971-1973 Melson, Charles D.,2018-09-17 U S Marines In Vietnam The War That Would Not End 1971 1973Charles D Melson Curtis G Arnold United States Marine Corps History and Museums Division This is the eighth volume of a projected nine volume history of Marine Corps operations in the Vietnam War A separate functional series complements the operational histories This volume details the activities of Marine

Corps units after the departure from Vietnam in 1971 of III Marine Amphibious Force through to the 1973 ceasefire and includes the return of Marine prisoners of war from North Vietnam Written from diverse views and sources the common thread in this narrative is the continued resistance of the South Vietnamese Armed Forces in particular the Vietnamese Marine Corps to Communist aggression This book is written from the perspective of the American Marines who assisted them in their efforts Someday the former South Vietnamese Marines will be able to tell their own story US Marines in Vietnam Jack Shulimson,U.s. Marine Corps History and Museums Division,2013-11-27 This is the third volume in a planned 10 volume operational and chronological series covering the Marine Corps participation in the Vietnam War A separate topical series will complement the operational histories This particular volume details the continued buildup in 1966 of the III Marine Amphibious Force in South Vietnam's northernmost corps area I Corps and the accelerated tempo of fighting during the year The result was an expanding war The III Marine Amphibious Force had established three enclaves in I Corps during 1965 Employing what they believed was a balanced strategy base defense offensive operations and pacification the Marines planned to consolidate their base areas in 1966 At the beginning of 1966 the 1st Marine Division reinforced the 3d Marine Division and 1st Marine Aircraft Wing in Vietnam By the end of the year the III Marine Amphibious Force had nearly doubled in size Two separate events however were to dash the high hopes held by the Marines in 1966 An internal political crisis in the spring halted the Marine pacification campaign south of the large Da Nang Airbase In July the North Vietnamese Army launched an incursion through the Demilitarized Zone and Marines went north to counter the enemy thrust By December 1966 Marine units were stretched thin along the 265 mile length of I Corps As one Marine commander observed too much real estate do not have enough men Although written from the perspective of III MAF and the ground war in I Corps the volume treats the activities of Marine advisors to the South Vietnamese Armed Forces the Seventh Fleet Special Landing Force and Marines on the staff of the U S Military Assistance Command Vietnam in Saigon U.S. Marines in Vietnam Charles D. Melson,Curtis G. Arnold,1991 U.S. Marines in Vietnam High Mobility and Stand Down 1969 Charles R Smith,2020-05-25 This is the sixth volume in a planned nine volume operational and chronological series covering the Marine Corps participation in the Vietnam War A separate functional series will complement the operational histories This volume details the change in United States policy for the Vietnam War After a thorough review President Richard M Nixon adopted a policy of seeking to end United States military involvement in Vietnam either through negotiations or failing that turning the combat role over to the South Vietnamese It was this decision that began the Vietnamization of the war in the summer of 1969 and which would soon greatly reduce and then end the Marine Corps combat role in the war The Marines of III Marine Amphibious Force continued the full range of military and pacification activities within I Corps Tactical Zone during this period of transition Until withdrawn the 3d Marine Division employing highly mobile tactics successfully blunted North Vietnamese Army efforts to reintroduce troops and supplies into Quang Tri Province The 1st Marine Division concentrated in

Quang Nam Province continued both mobile offensive and pacification operations to protect the city of Da Nang and surrounding population centers. The 1st Marine Aircraft Wing provided air support to both divisions as well as other allied units in I Corps while Force Logistic Command served all major Marine commands. Although written from the perspective of III MAF and the Marine ground war in I Corps, an attempt has been made to place the Marine role in relation to the overall American effort. The volume also treats the Marine Corps participation in the advisory effort, the operations of the Seventh Fleet Special Landing Force and to a lesser extent the activities of the 101st Airborne Division Airmobile, 23d Infantry Americal Division and 1st Brigade 5th Infantry Division Mechanized. There are separate chapters on Marine air artillery, surveillance and logistics. The nature of the war facing III MAF during 1969 forced the author to concentrate on major operations. This focus in no way slights those Marines whose combat service involved innumerable patrols, wearying hours of perimeter defense and long days of providing logistical and administrative support for those in the field. III MAF's combat successes in 1969 came from the combined efforts of all Americans in I Corps. The author, Charles R. Smith, has been with the History and Museums Division since July 1971. He has published several articles on military history and is the author of Mariner in the Revolution: A History of the Continental Marines in the American Revolution 1775-1783 (Washington: Historical Museum Division, HQMC, 1975). He is a graduate of the University of California, Santa Barbara, and received his master's degree in history from San Diego State University. He served in Vietnam with the 101st Airborne Division Airmobile in 1968 and 1969, first as an artilleryman and then as a historian. 4th Lt. H. SIMMONS, Brigadier General, U.S. Marine Corps, Retired, Director of Marine Corps History and Museums.

The Twins Platoon Christy W. Sauro, 2006-03-20. In the evening of June 28, 1967, 150 young Americans were sworn into the Marine Corps as part of the pre-game ceremonies of a Minnesota Twins baseball game. Before the end of the fourth inning, these volunteers were being hustled on to buses on their way to boot camp. It was a journey that would take them from a boyhood of baseball in the American heartland to manhood on the killing fields of Vietnam. Christy Sauro was one of the Twins Platoon, and in this book, he tells what it was like from the pomp and ceremony of induction to the all-too-real initiation by fire that would shortly follow. In mere months, he and most of the Twins Platoon were on the ground in Vietnam and promptly faced with some of the toughest fighting of the war: the Siege of Khe Sanh and the Tet Offensive, including the brutal Battle for Hue. From baseball to boot camp to brutal combat, this is a firsthand story of American life being lived at the limits and changed forever.

U. S. Marines in Vietnam: High Mobility and Standdown 1969 Charles Smith, 2013-02-14. This is the sixth volume in a planned nine-volume operational and chronological series covering the Marine Corps participation in the Vietnam War. U.S. Marines in Vietnam Jack Shulimson, Leonard A. Blasiol, Charles R. Smith, David A. Dawson, U.S. Marine Corps History and Museums Division, 2013-11. This is the last volume, although published out of chronological sequence in the nine-volume operational history series.

covering the Marine Corps participation in the Vietnam War A separate functional series complements the operational histories This book is the capstone volume of the entire series in that 1968 as the title indicates was the defining year of the war While originally designed to be two volumes it was decided that unity and cohesion required one book The year 1968 was the year of the Tet Offensive including Khe Sanh and Hue City These were momentous events in the course of the war and they occurred in the first three months of the year This book however documents that 1968 was more than just the Tet Offensive The bloodiest month of the war for the U S forces was not January nor February 1968 but May 1968 when the Communists launched what was called their Mini Tet offensive This was followed by a second Mini Tet offensive during the late summer which also was repulsed at heavy cost to both sides By the end of the year the U S forces in South Vietnam's I Corps under the III Marine Amphibious Force III MAF had regained the offensive By December enemy initiated attacks had fallen to their lowest level in two years Still there was no talk of victory The Communist forces remained a formidable foe and a limit had been drawn on the level of American participation in the war Although largely written from the perspective of III MAF and the ground war in I Corps the volume also treats the activities of Marines with the Seventh Fleet Special Landing Force activities of Marine advisors to South Vietnamese forces and other Marine involvement in the war Separate chapters cover Marine aviation and the single manager controversy artillery logistics manpower and pacification Like most of the volumes in this series this has been a cumulative history
