Maritime Archaeology:

Maritime Archaeology Lawrence E. Babits, Hans Van Tilburg, 2013-11-11 This volume initiates a new series of books on maritime or underwater archaeology and as the editor of the series I welcome its appearance with great excitement It is appropriate that the first book of the series is a collection of articles intended for graduate or undergraduate courses in underwater archaeology since the growth in academic opportunities for students is an important sign of the vitality of this subdiscipline The layman will enjoy the book as well Academic and public interest in shipwrecks and other submerged archaeological sites is indicated by a number of factors Every year there are 80 to 90 research papers presented at the Society for Historical Archaeology's Conference on Historical and Underwater Archaeology and the Proceedings are published Public interest is shown by extensive press coverage of shipwreck investigations One of the most important advances in recent years has been the passage of the Abandoned Shipwreck Act of 1987 for the first time providing national level law concerning underwater archaeological sites The legislation has withstood a number of legal challenges by commercial treasure salvors a very hopeful sign for the long term preservation of this nonrenewable type of cultural resource The underwater archaeological discoveries of 1995 were particularly noteworthy The Texas Historical Commission discovered the Belle one of La Salle's ships and the CSS Hunley was found by a joint project of South Carolina and a private nonprofit organization called NUMA

Maritime Archaeology Keith Muckelroy, 1978 Maritime archaeology the scientific investigation of the relics of past ships and seafaring has come into being as a distinctive sub discipline of archaeology only since the wartime invention of the aqualung Keith Muckleroy sets out to define maritime archaeology highlighting on the one hand factors that are unique to working under water and on the other problems of interpretation and method that are shared with its parent discipline archaeology

International Handbook of Underwater Archaeology Carol V. Ruppe, Jane F. Barstad, 2013-11-11 Although underwater archaeology has assumed its rightful place as an important subdiscipline in the field the published literature has not kept pace with the rapid increase in the number of both prehistoric and historic underwater sites The editors have assembled an internationally distinguished roster of contributors to fill this gap In addition to both geographical and topical approaches the chapters also focus on technology law public and private institutional roles and goals and the research and development of future technologies and public programs

The Oxford Handbook of Maritime Archaeology Alexis Catsambis, Ben Ford, Donny L. Hamilton, 2011-09-08 This title is a comprehensive survey of maritime archaeology as seen through the eyes of nearly fifty scholars at a time when maritime archaeology has established itself as a mature branch of archaeology

Encyclopaedia of Underwater and Maritime Archaeology James P. Delgado, 1997 The theory and practice of underwater archaeology includes nearly every archaeological discipline from prehistoric archaeology to the modern era

Our Blue Planet: An Introduction to Maritime and Underwater Archaeology Ben Ford, Jessi J. Halligan, Alexis Catsambis, 2020-04-07 Our Blue Planet is a comprehensive introduction to the field of maritime and underwater archaeology Situating the field within the broader study of history and archaeology this book advocates that an understanding of how our ancestors interacted with rivers lakes and oceans is integral to comprehending the human past

Citizen Science in Maritime Archaeology Della A. Scott-Ireton, Jennifer E. Jones, Jason T. Raupp, 2023-09-19 This volume addresses the ways maritime archaeologists have engaged citizen scientists presenting examples of projects and organizations that have involved volunteers in the important work of gathering and processing data Underwater and Maritime Archaeology in Latin America and the Caribbean Margaret E Leshikar-Denton, Pilar Luna Erreguerena, 2016-06-03 Case studies written primarily by Latin American and Caribbean archaeologists demonstrate exciting and cutting edge research conservation site preservation and interpretation of underwater and maritime archaeology in the region

Maritime Archaeology Mark Staniforth, Michael Nash, 2008-03-11 Subject areas discussed in this book include shipwrecks and abandoned vessels underwater site formation processes maritime infrastructure and industries such as whaling submerged aircraft and Australian Indigenous sites underwater The application of National and State legislation and management regimes to these underwater cultural heritage sites is also highlighted The contributors of this piece have set the standard for the practice in Australia from which others can learn The Archaeology of Maritime Landscapes Ben Ford, 2011-05-21 Maritime cultural landscapes are collections of submerged archaeological sites or combinations of terrestrial and submerged sites that reflect the relationship between humans and the water These landscapes can range in size from a single beach to an entire coastline and can include areas of terrestrial sites now inundated as well as underwater sites that are now desiccated However what binds all of these sites together is the premise that each aspect of the landscape cultural political environmental technological and physical is interrelated and can not be understood without reference to the others In this maritime cultural landscape approach individual sites are treated as features within the larger landscape and the interpretation of single sites add to a larger analysis of a region or culture This approach provides physical and theoretical links between terrestrial and underwater archaeology as well as prehistoric and historic archaeology consequently providing a framework for integrating such diverse topics as trade resource procurement habitation industrial production and warfare into a holistic study of the past Landscape studies foster broader perspectives and approaches extending the study of maritime cultures beyond the shoreline Despite this potential the archaeological study of maritime landscapes is a relatively untried approach with many questions regarding the methods and perspectives needed to effectively analyze these landscapes The chapters in this volume which include contributions from the United States the United Kingdom Norway and Australia address many of the theoretical and methodological questions surrounding maritime cultural landscapes The authors comprise established scholars as well as archaeologists at the beginning of their careers providing a healthy balance of experience and innovation The chapters also demonstrate parity between method and theory where the varying interpretations of culture and space are given equal weight with the challenges of investigating both wet and dry sites across large areas Bridging the Gap in Maritime Archaeology: Working with Professional and Public Communities Katy Bell, 2019-02-28 Proceedings of a conference session held at CIfA 2014 The session focused on ways in which it is possible to engage with a wider audience in the course of maritime archaeological work Papers offer a series of case studies exhibiting best practice with regard to individual maritime projects and examples of outreach to local communities Maritime archaeology Keith Muckelroy, 1978 The Oxford Handbook of Maritime Archaeology Alexis Catsambis, Ben Ford, Donny L. Hamilton, 2014-02 This title is a comprehensive survey of maritime archaeology as seen through the eyes of nearly fifty scholars at a time when maritime archaeology has established itself as a mature branch of archaeology Maritime Archaeology Jeremy N. Green, 1990 Maritime Archaeology Jeremy Green, 2016-12-05 Jeremy Green's systematic overview of maritime archaeology offers a step by step description of this fast growing field With new information about the use of computers and Global Positioning Systems the second edition of this handbook shows how to extract as much information as possible from a site how to record and document the data and how to act ethically and responsibly with the artifacts Treating underwater archaeology as a discipline the book demonstrates how archaeologists looters academics and governments interact and how the market for archaeological artifacts creates obstacles and opportunities for these groups Well illustrated and comprehensive in its approach to the subject this book provides an essential foundation for everybody interested in underwater environments submerged land structures and conditions created by sea level changes 3D Recording and Interpretation for Maritime Archaeology John K. McCarthy, Jonathan Benjamin, Trevor Winton, Wendy van Duivenvoorde, 2019-03-06 This open access peer reviewed volume was inspired by the UNESCO UNITWIN Network for Underwater Archaeology International Workshop held at Flinders University Adelaide Australia in November 2016 Content is based on but not limited to the work presented at the workshop which was dedicated to 3D recording and interpretation for maritime archaeology The volume consists of contributions from leading international experts as well as up and coming early career researchers from around the globe The content of the book includes recording and analysis of maritime archaeology through emerging technologies including both practical and theoretical contributions Topics include photogrammetric recording laser scanning marine geophysical 3D survey techniques virtual reality 3D modelling and reconstruction data integration and Geographic Information Systems The principal incentive for this publication is the ongoing rapid shift in the methodologies of maritime archaeology within recent years and a marked increase in the use of 3D and digital approaches This convergence of digital technologies such as underwater photography and photogrammetry 3D sonar 3D virtual reality and 3D printing has highlighted a pressing need for these new methodologies to be considered together both in terms of defining the state of the art and for consideration of future directions As a scholarly publication the audience for the book includes students and researchers as well as professionals working in various aspects of archaeology heritage management education museums and public policy It will be of special interest to those working in the field of coastal cultural resource management and underwater archaeology but will also be of broader interest to anyone interested in archaeology and to those in other disciplines who are now engaging with 3D recording and visualization Maritime Archaeology and Social Relations Virginia Dellino-Musgrave,2006-11-22 This book analyses British action in the Southern hemisphere in the late 18th century examining two Royal Navy ships one off the Argentinean coast and one off the Southeast Australian coast The author goes beyond a descriptive analysis of wrecks by treating them and their cargoes as embodiments of 18th century social relations The book challenges traditional approaches providing a perspective that emphasises the richness diversity and complexity of British action Submerged History

Jones,Della A. Scott-Ireton,Jason T. Raupp,2025-09-09 Exploring the changing meanings and future development of public engagement in maritime heritage research Building on the practical case studies presented in Citizen Science in Maritime Archaeology The Power of Public Engagement this second volume delves into evolving definitions and applications of citizen science offering fresh insights into community engagement research ethics and inclusivity Through new case studies Citizen Science in Maritime Archaeology Terminology Theory and Infrastructure demonstrates what citizen science means for communities it can foster a preservation ethic and enable community members to contribute to research that informs policy change on topics as diverse as climate change and maritime tourism These chapters also address the theoretical underpinnings and inclusive potential of citizen participation and suggest public focused research strategies for future projects Each chapter s thorough and actionable analysis of actual projects encourages readers to consider shortcomings in the ways citizen science is conducted and to reflect on how the practice can be adapted or updated within the field of maritime archaeology This volume is a valuable resource for professionals scholars students and volunteers interested in the transformative potential of citizen science Contributors Mark Stephens Nicole Bucchino Grinnan Massimiliano Secci Jay V Haigler John L Seidel Steven Anthony Chris Underwood Makanani Bell James Smailes Alan Williams Alexandra Tyas Jennifer E Jones Anne E Wright Nunn Jeneva Wright Hans Konrad Van Tilburg Caitlin Zant Della A Scott Ireton Jennifer McKinnon Ashley Lemke MS Stephanie Gandulla Jason T Raupp Maritime Archaeology Lawrence E. Babits,Hans Van

Tilburg,1998-01-31 This volume initiates a new series of books on maritime or underwater archaeology and as the editor of the series I welcome its appearance with great excitement It is appropriate that the first book of the series is a collection of articles intended for graduate or undergraduate courses in underwater archaeology since the growth in academic opportunities for students is an important sign of the vitality of this subdiscipline. The layman will enjoy the book as well. Academic and public interest in shipwrecks and other submerged archaeological sites is indicated by a number of factors. Every year there are 80 to 90 research papers presented at the Society for Historical Archaeology's Conference on Historical and Underwater Archaeology and the Proceedings are published. Public interest is shown by extensive press coverage of shipwreck investigations. One of the most important advances in recent years has been the passage of the Abandoned Shipwreck Act of 1987 for the first time providing national level law concerning underwater archaeological sites. The legislation has withstood a number of legal challenges by commercial treasure salvors, a very hopeful sign for the long-term preservation of this nonrenewable type of cultural resource. The underwater archaeological discoveries of 1995 were particularly noteworthy. The Texas Historical Commission discovered the Belle, one of La Salle's ships, and the CSS Hunley was found by a joint project of South Carolina and a private nonprofit organization called NUMA.
