Market Rules Economic Union Reform And Intergovernmental Policy Making In Australia And Canada:

Market Rules Douglas Brown, 2003 Federalism is about dividing and sharing government often in complex ways that involve some tasks being done jointly Are federal systems capable of effective joint policy making Is this possible in the fast moving context of globalization In Market Rules Douglas Brown examines these questions through a comparative study of Australia and Canada looking at recent major reforms to the economic union in the two federations and comparing them with the evolving European Union EU Brown argues that internal barriers to trade and competition in these countries were significant obstacles to competition in the global economy and shows that the old market rules were rooted in longstanding political and regional compromises He describes the process of detailed and difficult intergovernmental collaboration required for the EU and now Canada and Australia to produce new market rules The resulting reforms created new regimes that provide deeper and broader national economic integration in Canada and Australia than in the EU The new rules entrench neo liberal values retaining some room for diversity and flexibility for equity goals Built on a careful analysis of the differences and similarities in political economy constitutional design federal culture and history of intergovernmental relations in Canada and Australia Market Rules provides fresh evidence that federal states can be strong and autonomous in the global society while underscoring the conditions for effective collaboration that make this sustainable Rich in detail broad in scope Market Rules makes a significant contribution to knowledge about federalism and economic policy making in the era of globalization

Intergovernmental Cooperation Nicole Bolleyer, 2009-08-27 This text argues that governments choices in favour or against strong intergovernmental institutions are not primarily driven by considerations of efficiency but by internal political dynamics within their own boundaries It applies the argument to Canada Switzerland the United States and finally to the European Union

The Multilevel Politics of Trade Jorg Broschek, Patrica Goff, 2020-04-02 The Multilevel Politics of Trade presents a timely comparative analysis of eight federations plus the European Union to explore why some sub federal actors have become more active in trade politics in recent years As the contributing authors find there is considerable variation in the intensity and modes of sub federal participation This they attribute to three key factors the distinctive institutional features of federal systems the nature and scope of trade policy and trade agreements and the extent of social mobilization that accompanies a particular trade policy conversation As a whole The Multilevel Politics of Trade argues that sub federal actors interests jurisdictional political and economic are what motivate them to participate in trade debates However institutional configurations coupled with the influence of civil society actors political parties and others determine the nature and scope of that participation Informed by a deep knowledge of federal dynamics this volume provides extensive comparative analyses of all seven of the North American and European federations and represents a significant intervention into the study of both federalism and political economy

Canadian Politics James Bickerton, Alain Gagnon, 2009-01-01 The new fifth edition of Canadian Politics continues the work of earlier editions in offering a comprehensive introduction to Canadian government and politics by a widely recognized and highly respected group of political scientists writing about subjects on which they are acknowledged experts For this edition the editors have organized the book into four sections Part I Citizenship Identities and Values Part II Institutions Part III Democracy and Representation and Part IV Canada in the World The fourth section develops a focus on the diverse and increasingly important influences of globalization on the Canadian polity the environment and the role of Canada in the world Of the eighteen chapters nine are completely new and six new authors appear including Martin Papillon on Aboriginal governments Peter J Stoett on Canadian international environmental policy and Andrew F Cooper on Afghanistan and Canadian foreign policy The remaining chapters have been thoroughly revised and updated

Booze, Cigarettes, and Constitutional Dust-Ups Ryan

Manucha, 2022-10-15 Gerard Comeau a retiree living in rural New Brunswick never thought his booze run would turn him into a Canadian hero In 2012 after Comeau had driven to Quebec to purchase cheaper beer and crossed back into his home province police officers participating in a low stakes sting operation tailed and detained him confiscated his haul and levied a fine of less than 300 Countries routinely engage in trade wars and erect barriers to protect domestic industries from foreign competition Comeau however was detained by the full force of the law for engaging in commerce with a Canadian business on the other side of a domestic border With Comeau's story as its starting point Booze Cigarettes and Constitutional Dust-Ups tells the fascinating tale of Canadian interprovincial trade Ryan Manucha examines the historical political and legal forces that gave rise to the regulation of interprovincial commerce in Canada the trade offs that come with liberalized domestic free trade and Canada's enduring pursuit of economic union The pandemic laid bare the vulnerability of global supply chains the fickleness of foreign trading partners and the surprising slipperiness of domestic trade In a global climate of increasingly isolationist geopolitics the history and possibility of Canada's economic union quirks and all deserve careful attention

Racing to the Bottom? Kathryn Harrison, 2011-11-01 The spectre of a race to the bottom is increasingly prominent in debates about globalization and also within federal systems where the mobility of both capital and individuals prompts fears of interjurisdictional competition with respect to taxes and environmental and welfare standards While there has been no shortage of either political rhetoric or academic theorizing on this subject empirical studies have been in shorter supply This volume seeks to fill that gap by asking Are Canadian provinces engaged in a race to the bottom and if so what are the consequences The contributors apply insights from economics and political science to several policy fields What emerges is a theoretical and empirical picture of interprovincial competition that shows it to be more complex than the popular image of a race to the bottom and that also contradicts predictions of an inexorable downward spiral This timely practical volume will be of interest to public policy practitioners as well as to students and scholars of economics and political science

Federalism as Decision-Making Francesco Palermo, Elisabeth Alber, 2015-02-24 Accounting for participation separation of powers and democratic accountability federalism gains momentum in times when traditional democratic legitimacy of institutional decision making is challenged Its ability to include multiple interests makes federalism a means to ensure good governance Based on a multidisciplinary analysis the book tackles the question of whether federalism as a pragmatic governance tool provides answers to current challenges and what those answers are Thirty three leading experts critically examine to what extent federalism serves this purpose in compound states looking at different countries and policies The volume revolves around five sub themes federalism democracy and governance participation mechanisms and procedures policy areas compared institutional innovation and participatory democracy and federalism from theory to governance

Comparative Federalism and Intergovernmental Agreements Jeffrey Parker, 2014-08-27 Intergovernmental agreements are an important instrument in federal systems establishing new social programs regulating agricultural practices and even changing constitutions Despite their importance there have only been limited attempts to understand agreements in a comparative context or to provide a theoretical framework for their study This book addresses both of these deficiencies by comparing the use of agreements in six federations Australia Canada Germany South Africa Switzerland and the United States and considering why certain federations form more agreements than others Parker analyzes the data using an institutional framework that considers the effects of seven variables including the constitutional division of powers the system of intergovernmental transfers the size of the welfare state and the nature of governing institutions In addition the study provides the first ever comparative database of national intergovernmental agreements a new resource for future research This book will be of interest to students and scholars of Political Science Federalism Government Political Institutions Political Theory and Comparative Politics The Provinces and Canadian Foreign Trade Policy Christopher J.
