Geography of Marketing and Commercial Activities in India Ram Swaroop Dixit, 1990      Spatial Planning and Urban Development in the New EU Member States Uwe Altröck, Simon Güntner, 2017-03-02 Accession to the EU in May 2004 was a historic milestone for the spatial and urban development of the new member states. Meanwhile the social and economic transition during the pre accession phase already brought about radical changes in national urban systems and new challenges for regional development. In this edited volume a carefully selected and specially commissioned set of articles written by experts from both the new and the old EU member states presents a comprehensive assessment of emerging political and planning solutions at local, regional, national and EU levels. Topics include brownfield redevelopment in the Czech Republic, urban sprawl in Hungary, the upgrading and integration of marginalized Roma settlements in Eastern Slovakia and sustainable coastal management in Cyprus.

Urban Development in the Greater Mekong Subregion Florian Steinberg, Januar Hakim, 2016-06-01 This publication about the urban agenda in the Greater Mekong Subregion (GMS) is timely as the world economy embraces the region with accelerated growth. An important element of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations Economic Community, the GMS is expected to catch up with the rest of Asia by 2050. With urbanization levels still averaging about 30%, gross domestic product contributions of towns and cities have moved ahead to 50%–60%. By 2050 when urban areas in the GMS reach 64%–74%, urban gross domestic product will grow to an estimated 70%–80%. The challenge lies in consolidating and deepening development along the existing corridors and improving the environmental conditions to prepare for future green growth developments.

Thought provoking insights into lessons to be learnt are provided alongside arguments for further planned expansion of smaller towns today.

Development Digest, 1980      Urban Development in China under the Institution of Land Rights Jieming Zhu, 2019-09-17 How have the development and redevelopment of China's cities since the early 1950s transformed the settlements and fortunes of a fifth of the world's population? Rapid urbanization since the 1980s has changed the nation from a rural society to an urban one, marking it as one of the most significant transformations in history. As a country with severe land scarcity, land resources are intensively contested for during urbanization under the new regime of marketization This book focuses on the impact of the institution of land rights that have transitioned from private ownership to socialist state ownership and subsequently to public land leasing in the urban domain and to collective ownership in rural areas In the context of defining the relationship between the state and the market the gradualist transition of land rights gives rise to intriguing processes of place making The elaboration of these processes will engage several revealing conceptual notions land as a means of production land commodification ambiguous land rights incomplete land rights trading land use rights for land development rights institutional uncertainty land rent seeking and dissipating local developmental state danwei enterprises and more The newly created landed interests are embedded intricately within the urban spatial structure This book would especially be of interest to scholars interested in developmental economics urban planning geography public policies public management and sociology and also practitioners focusing on development and planning

Temporary urban uses innovative ways to transform cities or new means to old ends The scale and variety of temporary or meanwhile or interim urban uses and spaces has grown rapidly in response to the dramatic increase in vacant and derelict land and buildings particularly in post industrial cities To some this indicates that a paradigm shift in city making is underway To others alternative urbanism is little more than a distraction that temporarily cloaks some of the negative outcomes of conventional urban development However rigorous theoretically informed criticism of temporary uses has been limited The book draws on international experience to address this shortcoming from the perspectives of the law sociology human geography urban studies planning and real estate It considers how time and the way that it is experienced informs alternative perspectives on transience It emphasises the importance for analysis of the structural position of a temporary use in an urban system in spatial temporal and socio cultural terms It illustrates how this position is contingent upon circumstances What may be deemed a helpful and acceptable use to established institutions in one context may be seen as a problematic unacceptable use in another What may be a challenging and fulfilling alternative use to its proponents may lose its allure if it becomes successful in conventional terms Conceptualisations of temporary uses are therefore mutable and the use of fixed or insufficiently differentiated frames of reference within which to study them should be avoided It then identifies the major challenges of transforming a temporary use into a long term use These include the demands of regulatory compliance financial requirements levels of expertise and so on Finally the potential impacts of policy on temporary uses both inadvertent and intended are considered The first substantive critical review of temporary urban uses Transience and Permanence in Urban Development is essential reading for academics policy makers practitioners and students of cities worldwide
