Matter Matters Vol X On The Material Basis Of The Cognitive Activity Of Mind

Wolfgang Guggemos

Matter Matters Vol X On The Material Basis Of The Cognitive Activity Of Mind:

Matter Matters? Peter Arhem, 1997-06-19 Matter Matters addresses the very old problem of the mind brain relationship. Written by well known scientists the book addresses some general principles based on physics computer science and theoretical biology and explores the topic at different organizational levels from the microscopic to the macroscopic. The last part addresses the subjective level based on the findings of psychologists and neurophysiologists. This examination of the relationship between neural and mental processes proposes new sometimes radical approaches for a better understanding of this intriguing problem.

Neuro-informatics and Neural Modelling F. Moss, S. Gielen, 2001-06-26 How do sensory neurons transmit information about environmental stimuli to the central nervous system? How do networks of neurons in the CNS decode that information thus leading to perception and consciousness? These questions are among the oldest in neuroscience. Quite recently new approaches to exploration of these questions have arisen often from interdisciplinary approaches combining traditional computational neuroscience with dynamical systems theory including nonlinear dynamics and stochastic processes. In this volume in two sections a selection of contributions about these topics from a collection of well known authors is presented. One section focuses on computational aspects from single neurons to networks with a major emphasis on the latter. The second section highlights some insights that have recently developed out of the nonlinear systems approach.

Unsolved Problems of Noise and Fluctuations Sergey M. Bezuikov, 2003-06-02 All papers in this proceedings volume were peer reviewed. The purview of this third conference was shifted toward biology and medicine. Among the topics covered were the constructive role of noise in the central nervous system neuronal networks and sensory transduction hearing in humans photo and electroreception in marine animals encoding of information into nerve pulse trains single molecules and noise including single molecule detection and characterization by nanopores molecular Coulter counting concepts of noise in neurophysiology randomness and order in brain and heart electrical activities under normal conditions and in pathology the role of noise in genetic regulation and gene expression biosensors etc.

International Books in Print, 1997 Books in Print, 1991 Computing Anticipatory Systems: CASYS 2001 D. M. Dubois, 2002-09-05 These AIP Conference Proceedings contain the papers of the two invited speakers Systems with Emergent Dynamics by Ian Stewart UK who received the CHAOS AWARD and The Role of Anticipation in Intelligent Systems by George J. Klir USA who received the CASYS 01 AWARD. Second all the papers of the authors who received a Best Paper Award and third a selection of invited papers. The scope is the study research and development in the new frontier of science dealing with the paradigm of computing anticipatory systems. A computing anticipatory system is a system which computes its current states in taking into account its anticipatory states. Strong anticipation refers to an anticipation of events built by or embedded in a system. Weak anticipation refers to an anticipation of events predicted or forecast from a model of a system. Topics include Anticipatory Systems Cybernetics and Epistemology Mathematical System Chaos Anticipation and Incursion Relativity Quantum Physics.
