Tourism Management Stephen Page, 2007 Tourism Management is a complete synthesis of tourism from its beginnings through to the major impacts it has on today's global community the environment and economy Automatic Architecture Sean Keller, 2018-02-12 In the 1960s and 70s architects influenced by recent developments in computing and the rise of structuralist and poststructuralist thinking began to radically rethink how architecture could be created Though various new approaches gained favor they had one thing in common they advocated moving away from the traditional reliance on an individual architect's knowledge and instincts and toward the use of external tools and processes that were considered objective logical or natural Automatic architecture was born The quixotic attempts to formulate such design processes extended modernist principles and tried to draw architecture closer to mathematics and the sciences By focusing on design methods and by examining evidence at a range of scales from institutions to individual buildings Automatic Architecture offers an alternative to narratives of this period that have presented postmodernism as a question of style as the methods and techniques traced here have been more deeply consequential than the many stylistic shifts of the past half century Sean Keller closes the book with an analysis of the contemporary condition suggesting future paths for architectural practice that work through but also beyond the merely automatic Great City Parks Alan Tate, 2013-05-13 Great City Parks is a celebration of some of the finest achievements of landscape architecture in the public realm It is a comparative study of twenty significant public parks in fourteen major cities across Western Europe and North America Collectively they give a clear picture of why parks have been created how they have been designed how they are managed and what plans are being made for them at the beginning of the twenty first century Based on unique research including extensive site visits and interviews with the managing organisations this book is illustrated throughout with clear plans and professional photographs for each park This book reflects a belief that well planned well designed and well managed parks remain invaluable components of liveable and hospitable cities Contemporary Architects Muriel Emanuel, 2016-01-23 Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office United States. Patent and Trademark Office, 1983 Chinese Urban Design Fei Chen, Kevin Thwaites, 2018-01-12 The traditional Chinese city is undergoing an identity crisis With the rapid development taking place there is growing conflict between this new building and the existing urban heritage An appropriate approach both in design and in legislation is urgently needed to deal with this problem Furthermore although Chinese cities have a remarkably long history existing methods of urban form study in China are either descriptive or loosely structured whereas a comprehensive methodology is necessary to read Chinese urban forms in a consistent way and thus inform designers and policy makers Chinese Urban Design targets these problems and offers an analytic and conceptual framework for both urban investigation and consequent design Firstly summarising traditional urban design principles and how Chinese cities have transformed over time it then introduces and offers a theoretic ground and scientific methodology for understanding the evolution of urban forms initially developed in western countries It demonstrates the theoretic model via real cases from the city of Nanjing and establishes a direct link between understanding of urban forms and design development By providing a cross cultural investigation on the theories and methods of urban typology and morphology this book aims to suggest best future practice for urban design in China It explores how urban designers and local policy makers can produce culturally responsive designs and how they might better understand the formation and transformation of the built environment in which their creations sit It also looks at how local residents lifestyle culture and demands might be reflected and respected in design process

Analogical Thinking in Architecture Jean-Pierre Chupin, 2023-07-27 This book provides an in depth exploration of the rich and persistent use of analogical thinking in the built environment Since the turn of the 21st century design thinking has permeated many fields outside of the design disciplines It is expected to succeed whenever disciplinary boundaries need to be transcended in order to think outside the box This book argues that these qualities have long been supported by analogical thinking an agile way of reasoning in which think the unknown through the familiar The book is organized into four case studies the first reviews analogical models that have been at the heart of design thinking representations from the 1960s to the present day the second investigates the staying power of biological analogies the third explores the paradoxical imaginary of analogous cities as a means of integrating contemporary architecture with heritage contexts while the fourth unpacks the critical and theoretical potential of linguistic metaphors and visual comparisons in architectural discourse Comparing views on the role of analogies and metaphors by prominent voices in architecture and related disciplines from the 17th century to the present the book shows how the analogical world of the project is revealed as a wide open field of creative and cognitive interactions These visual and textual operations are explained through 36 analogical plates which can be read as an inter text demonstrating how analogy has the power to reconcile design and theories

Toyo Ito Toyoo Itō,2002-07-04 The Architectural Documents series sees the publication of the first monograph on one of the most extraordinary figures on the contemporary architectural scene Toyo Ito of Japan b 1941 Since the 1970s Ito has been carrying out research into building materials light and space research which has led him to design buildings that he himself has defined as non material aerial structures fluid and permeable spaces which avoid rigid compositional geometries Over the years Ito has gradually simplified his language and his work the structure of which has increasingly lost importance can be studied as a series of variations on the layering of the facade His obsession with lightness and transparency are expressed to the full in the most important work of his creative career the Sendai Mediatheque 1995 2001 This book with an exceptional body of illustrations presents the Japanese architects most significant projects starting with the Aluminium House of 1970 1 through to the most recent project for the Mahler 4 office block in Amsterdam 2000 1 The appendix includes a complete list of Toyo Ito s works a selection of his writings as well as a biographical summary and up to date bibliography

Constructing Gardens, Cultivating the City Amanda Shoaf Vincent,2023-05-16 Constructing Gardens Cultivating the City is the first cultural history of major new parks developed in Paris in the late twentieth century as part of the city s program of adaptive reuse of industrial spaces Thanks to laws that gave the city more political autonomy Paris s local government launched a campaign of park creation in the late 1970s that continued to the turn of the millennium The parks in this book represent this campaign and illustrate different facets of their cultural and historical context Archival research interviews and analyses of the parks reveal how postmodern debates about urban planning the historic city public space and nature s presence in an urban setting influenced their designs In sum the city adopted the garden as a model for public parks investing in complex richly symbolic and representational spaces These parks were intended to represent contemporary twists on traditional designs and serve local residents as much as they would contribute to Paris s role as a world city The parks development process often included points of conflict pointing to differing views on what Parisian space should represent and fundamental contradictions between the characteristics of public space and the garden as it is traditionally defined These parks demonstrate the ongoing cultivation of the city over time in which transformed sites not only fulfil new functions but also engage with history and their surroundings to create new meaning They stand for landscape as a form of signifying cultural production that directly engages with other art forms and ways of knowing Just as the Luxembourg Gardens the Tuileries and the Buttes Chaumont parks exemplify their eras cultural dynamics such parks as the Jardin Atlantique Parc Andr Citro n and the Jardin des Halles express contemporary French culture within the archetypal space of their era the city Finally they point the way to current trends in landscape architecture such as citizen gardening and ecological initiatives

Emerging Concepts in Urban Space Design Professor Geoffrey Broadbent, Geoffrey Broadbent, 2003-09-06 This important work now available in paperback from Professor Geoffrey Broadbent provides a clear analysis of the nature of many of today s design problems identifying their causes in history and suggesting a basis for co ordinated solutions The author discusses picturesque and formal tendencies in modern architecture relating them to parallels between philosophic thought and design theory through the ages Using a wealth of international examples from around the world including America UK Italy Germany and France and with over 250 photographs and illustrations Emerging Concepts in Space Design offers a fascinating insight into the history and likely future directions of urban design

Consuming Architecture Daniel Maudlin, Marcel Vellinga, 2014-03-05 Projecting forward in time from the processes of design and construction that are so often the focus of architectural discourse Consuming Architecture examines the variety of ways in which buildings are consumed after they have been produced focusing in particular on processes of occupation appropriation and interpretation Drawing on contributions by architects historians anthropologists literary critics artists film makers photographers and journalists it shows how the consumption of architecture is a dynamic and creative act that involves the creation and negotiation of meanings and values by different stakeholders and that can be expressed in different voices In so doing it challenges ideas of what constitutes architecture architectural discourse and architectural education how we understand and think about it and who can claim ownership of it Consuming Architecture is aimed at students in architectural education and will also be of interest to students and researchers from disciplines that deal with architecture in terms of consumption and material culture
