neuromuscular system lets our bodies move and is made up of the brain many nerves and muscles Things that we do every day like breathing walking running lifting stuff and even reaching for a glass of water are all controlled by the neuromuscular system Over time ALS causes the motor neurons in the brain and spinal cord to shrink and disappear so that the muscles no longer receive signals to move So the muscles get smaller and weaker Gradually the body becomes paralyzed which means that the muscles no longer work However someone with ALS even at an advanced stage can still see hear smell and feel touch The nerves that carry feelings of hot cold pain pressure or even being tickled are not affected by Lou Gehrig s disease In some people with ALS the parts of the brain that allow us to think remember and learn also are affected by the disease
